BREAD INQUIRY REPORT PROTESTED IN VANCOUVER

Police Round Up Bank Bandits at Cobourg, Ontario

Three Young Men Accused of Taking $3,100 from Dominion Bank Branch at 12.40 p.m. Behind Bars at 1.10 p.m.; Loot Recovered; Manager and Teller Locked in Room While Robbers at Work.

Canadian Press

Cobourg, Ont., Feb. 17. — Quick work on the part of Cobourg and Provincial Police aided by citizens resulted in the capture of three bandits who held up the local branch of the Dominion Bank of Canada at 12.40 p.m. to-day.

The hold-up men were reported to have locked the manager and teller in a room in the bank, scooped up $3,100 and run from the bank. Police and others gave chase. The men were captured and the loot recovered at 1.10 p.m.

The names given by the three young men to the police were Harold Blanchard, eighteen, of Montreal; Leonard Forest, twenty-one, of no fixed place of abode, but who said he had been hanging around Windsor lately, and Walter Clifford, twenty-one, a native of Cape Breton Island, who had recently been living in Ottawa.

TRAGIC DEATH NARRATED AT PORT ALBERNI

Coroner's Jury Told of Drowning of Samuel W. Fitzpatrick on Saturday

H. J. Fox and C. C. Barden Tell of Desperate Efforts to Save Companion

Port Alberni, Feb. 17.—How two young men strove desperately to save the life of Samuel Walter Fitzpatrick, supervisor of the Bamfield cable station, was narrated here yesterday afternoon before a coroner's jury, when Henry James Fox and Charles C. Barden told the circumstances whereby Mr. Fitzpatrick came to his death on Sunday evening in the chilly waters of Alberni Canal. The jury brought in a verdict of accidental death.

Harry Fox, electrician at the cable station, and little more than a boy in years, stated that the party had left Port Alberni early Saturday afternoon, traveling by launch. With him were the deceased and Charles Barden, operator of the cable station. At 6 o'clock, when only twenty minutes from Bamfield, the witness had come up from the engine-room and had seen the deceased overboard, clinging to the launch and calling for help. Barden was steering at the time.

After stopping the engine the two young men went to the aid of Fitzpatrick, but he was too heavy to be dragged aboard and was unable to aid, being thoroughly chilled.

HELPLESS MAN

"If Fitzpatrick could have given us only a little assistance," said Fox, "we could have got him aboard, but he was unable to do anything except to ask us to save him."

"It is impossible to say how long we worked, trying to get him into the launch," Fox continued. "Finally, finding that we could not get him aboard, we decided that the only thing we could do was to fasten him to the side of the boat with ropes, and make for the nearest shore."

This they did. With the incoming tide they had drifted a long way up the Alberni Canal, and it was now dark and cold. They could not see the shore clearly, but judged that it was about a mile away. They had hardly gone five minutes after starting the engines, when Fitzpatrick again called for help.

They stopped and once more tried to haul him in. Thinking they could do better if they had a rope around his legs and feet, Fox got one and dived into the water. He succeeded in fastening the rope, but even then they could not get Fitzpatrick aboard. The only thing to do was to continue on their way to shore. Eventually they arrived there, only to find that they were alongside a steep cliff with but a narrow ledge along the water, a ledge which would soon be flooded by the tide.

FOX DIVES AGAIN

When they cut the ropes holding Fitzpatrick, in order to get him on the ledge, he lost his hold and sank into the water. Fox again dived in the darkness, found Fitzpatrick, and he and Barden got him on the ledge. Fitzpatrick, though unconscious, was still breathing.

Struggling to get him high enough

CITY PLANS $20,000 GRANT TO HOSPITAL

Five Resolutions By Alderman R. T. Williams Fail to Get Support

Shades of Gilbert and Sullivan invaded the City Council Chamber yesterday evening and turned what started as a serious consideration of the tax rate question into a similarity of a farce or comic opera.

Four resolutions were introduced enthusiastically by Alderman R. T. Williams, and each of them was just as enthusiastically lost in oblivion when failing to secure a seconder. And Alderman Williams calmly admitted that he was not well acquainted with the subjects of most of them.

Out of a chaotic mass of motions, amendments, reports and cross-fire, the following items did develop, however:

Alderman Williams was appointed a committee of one to interview the Provincial Government and secure a refund on a proportion of money spent by the city in relieving unemployment during 1928, 1929 and the early part of 1930.

The special estimates committee reported that $16,409 had been pruned from the estimated expenditures, $1,750 added to estimated receipts and a grant of $20,000 to the Jubilee Hospital included in expenditures. Further consideration will be given these items.

The School Board informed the council they would not immediately seek an extraordinary estimate for a new auditorium at Oaklands School and that they would give additional thought to the ordinary expenditures.

PUBLICITY BUREAU GRANT

The Mayor intimated that with the hospital grant included, estimates still indicated a 48-mill tax rate without provision, however, for the amount claimed by the Victoria Cold Storage and Terminal Limited.

Things started in earnest after Aldermen James Adam and H. O. Litchfield had questioned certain reductions planned by the special estimates committee, and Alderman Litchfield had challenged the $25,000 Publicity Bureau grant when others were being cut.

With the question of the Jubilee Hospital grant, these matters were deferred for future discussion.

Clause five of the committee's report recommended the appointment of Alderman Williams as a committee to interview the government on getting a refund of unemployment relief money spent last year.

TOLMIE SCORES LAND SCHEMES FOR VETERANS

Dominion Government Would Have Handled Problem Of Ex-soldiers Without Cost to Provincial Government, Says Tolmie; Suggests Survey to Stimulate Production of Manufactures from British Columbia Resources and Creation of Markets; Defends New $30,000 Liquor Board and Alaska Highway.

Land schemes inaugurated by the Liberal administration as undertakings to help in the re-establishment of war veterans were blamed by Premier Tolmie yesterday for the financial condition in which the present government found itself in the course of his address on the Speech from the Throne in the Legislature. He criticized the schemes on the grounds that millions of acres of agricultural land available made reclamation schemes unnecessary and claimed the Liberal Government need not have embarked on such schemes as the Dominion Government was handling the problem and would have done so without cost to the province.

The Premier devoted a good portion of his address to a review of the previous administration. He touched upon the P.G.E. survey and the findings of commissions, the results of which, he claimed, justified the expenditures. Although the B.C.-Alaska highway had not advanced to the stage where means of constructing the road were being considered, he scoffed at the assertion of the leader of the opposition that it was only a dream, and said it would prove one of British Columbia's greatest assets. He defended the heavy expenditures of last year, claiming the government foresaw the unemployment problem and advocated a survey to discover products for manufacture in the province, to develop markets and build up interprovincial trade. He stoutly defended the three-man liquor board as necessary for a $15,000,000 a year business, and merely touched upon marketing problems to hope an agreement would be reached.

CALLS IT CAMOUFLAGE

Premier Tolmie accused the leader of the opposition with going about the country charging the government with extravagance as camouflage to cover up an extremely bad record of the previous administration. When attempting to blame the late Minister of Public Works for his large expenditures he was careful not to mention a few of the expenditures made by his government. As a matter of fact, when the government took charge, late in 1928, said Premier Tolmie, they found 84 per cent of all revenue was earmarked for expenditure and only 16 per cent was left to the government to carry on.

PHIPPS AND ROGERS ARE DISMISSED

Police Commission Makes Changes in Session This Afternoon

Detective Caldwell Goes to Uniformed Force; Jarvis and Woodburn New Detectives

On the recommendation of Chief Heatley, Detectives Marcus T. Phipps and Jack Rogers were dismissed with one month's pay in lieu of notice by the Police Commission this afternoon.

Detective Walter Calwell was transferred to the uniform branch as a first class constable.

Constables Henry Jarvis and F. Woodburn were promoted to the rank of detectives.

Mayor Anscomb voted against the resolution to adopt the chief's recommendation. The chief said the changes were necessary for the efficiency of the department.

NORTH VANCOUVER ALDERMEN DISCUSS SALARY REDUCTION

North Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 17.—Taxpayers of this city will soon know whether the mayor and aldermen are to serve through 1931 at their present salaries or reduced figures. The question will be settled when the estimates finally are put through.

A motion by Ald. Alfred Huggett that the salaries of the mayor and six aldermen be reduced twenty per cent brought all members of the council into action at yesterday evening's meeting, and motions and amendments were produced in rapid succession.

The twenty per cent reduction would have reduced the mayor's present salary of $1,500 to $1,200 and the aldermen's salaries would have been cut from $400 to $320. Ald. W. A. Brown suggested the motion call for reduction of the mayor's salary to $1,200 and aldermanic stipends to $300, that being the same scale in effect several years ago. Alderman Huggett agreed to incorporate the suggestion in his motion.

FREE SERVICE SUGGESTED

Ald. H. C. E. Anderson offered an amendment that action be deferred until the estimates were before the council. The amendment was seconded by Ald. Charles Cartwright.

"This reduction would not make two cents difference to any ratepayer so far as his taxes are concerned," asserted Ald. W. I. Wilson. "That twenty per cent cut makes us look like a bunch of five-cent aldermen. I move an amendment to the amendment that all members of the council work this year for nothing. That would result in a saving of at least half a mill and would be more worth while."

Alderman Wilson had no seconder to his amendment and later agreed to support Alderman Anderson's amendment that no action be taken until the estimates should come before the council

RESIGNATION OF SNOWDEN THREATENED

Reported He Demands Full Support of British Labor Party on Finances

Denies There Was Hint in His Speech Last Wednesday of Cut in Wages

GREAT BRITAIN'S DEFICIT PUT AT $250,000,000

London, Feb. 17.—Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, who recently warned of the necessity for "drastic disagreeable" measures to promote industrial recovery in England, to-day was unofficially reported to have told a meeting of the Parliamentary Labor Party the budget deficit for this fiscal year might reach $250,000,000.

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 17.—In parliamentary circles to-night it was reported Rt. Hon. Philip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer, had threatened to resign at a meeting this afternoon of the Parliamentary Labor Party.

The official report of the meeting showed Mr. Snowden had said:

"I have a difficult job. The full blast of the economic blizzard has come on my head. If every step one makes is to be treated with suspicion, or if one is charged with perfidy, one's position becomes intolerable."

NO WAGE CUTS

Referring to his speech in the House of Commons last Wednesday, in which he warned of "drastic and disagreeable measures", which must be taken in these times of economic stress, Mr. Snowden said his reference to temporary sacrifices implied no cut in wages and that what he had meant was that workers would have to undergo temporary suspension of plans for social development.

QUEBEC CASE OF BIGAMY IS COURT TEST

Judge Sentences Man Who Was Married After Church Said First Marriage Annulled

Canadian Press

Montreal, Feb. 17.—Finding the marriage of two Roman Catholics by a Protestant minister is valid and binding, Judge Lacroix, sitting in the court of sessions to-day, held that when Alphonse Simard, Three Rivers, Que., went through a second formality of marriage he committed bigamy even though the first union had been dissolved by an ecclesiastical court. Simard was sentenced to forty days in jail.

Simard's first venture into matrimony occurred in 1924 at Sudbury, Ont., where the ceremony was performed by a Presbyterian minister. A few years later Simard applied to the Roman Catholic Church for an annulment of his marriage, and it was granted by the ecclesiastical authorities.

GREAT INTESTS

The case aroused considerably interest because Quebec, being a Roman Catholic province, Judge Lacroix was asked to uphold the traditions of the French-speaking Roman Catholics of Quebec and recognize the ecclesiastical judgment.

"Whatever may be my sentiments in the matter," the court answered in rendering judgment, "I am faced with the decisions of the Privy Council, which holds the marriage of the two Catholic by a Protestant functionary is valid. It might be against Catholic doctrine to declare the accused guilty of bigamy, but it is conformity with the lawk and I must follow it."

DICTATOR MAY SEIZE REINS SOON IN SPAIN

Army Officers Busy While Alfonso Struggles to Find New Premier and Cabinet

Talk of Revolution Gains Strength; Long Range Guns Are Trained on Madrid

Madrid, Feb. 17.—(Telephoned via London)—As King Alfonso strove to-day to give Spain a responsible government all indications were that a new military dictatorship would be set up.

Supplementing the reports that General Saro would take power were additional ones to the effect that a military clique had recalled General Martinez Anido from the Balearic Islands. General Anido was one of the late Dictator Primo de Rivera's right hand men.

Those most closely acquainted with events said the situation was uncertain and fraught with grave possibilities.

The streets were thronged with men this evening and with the talk of a dictatorship was mingled that of a possible revolution.

GUERRA FAILS

Earlier in the day Sanchez Guerra, leader of the Constitutional movement and one of its strong men, had failed to find sufficient support to enable him to form a cabinet.

He gave up his efforts and the King summoned Melquiades Alvarez, leader of the Reformists, who likewise declined the premiership.

With the cabinet situation thus at a deadlock the possibilities of a dictatorship loomed large. At the same time it was declared some of the extreme left were contemplating another revolt unless a cabinet should be quickly formed.

ALFONSO BALKS

Gossip among politicians in the clubs had it that the real cause of the failure of Sanchez Guerra was the refusal of King Alfonso to sign a decree calling a constitutional convention. This had been demanded by all the groups of the left as an absolute condition for their support of a ministry.

While King Alfonso was struggling with one of the most grave crises of his reign, Queen Victoria was speeding toward Madrid to be at his side. She had been in London for a fortnight at the bedside of her mother, Princess Beatrice, who is ill there.

GUNS AIMED

Long-range guns were trained ominously on the city and machine guns had been placed strategically in preparation for any eventuality. Persistent reports gained credence that General Leopold Saro, former chief of the king's palace, would be the new dictator.

Censorship was again established this evening.

Machine guns were placed at all strategic points and troops were held in their barracks, in readiness for action if it should become necessary.

One report said a group of high army officers, reported to be disgusted because the king seemed to be yielding to the left, was taking the lead in preparing to seize power.

CLOSE CENSORSHIP

Bordeaux, France, Feb. 17.—Severe censorship of both telegrams and telephone calls was re-established throughout Spain this evening. It was announced all communications destined for foreign countries must be submitted to the Ministry of the Interior.

Further Flour And Wheat Price Inquiry Is Urged

Ald. W. Loat, Head of City Council Committee Which Prepared Vancouver's Case, Says Recent Federal Investigation Too Narrow; Declares Terminal City People Expected More Than Statement No Combine To Set Bread Prices Throughout Canada Exists.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 17.—Dissatisfaction with the government report, which states no combine exists to control bread prices in Canada, was expressed this forenoon by Alderman Warner Loat, who declared the only matter dealt with had been bread. The Vancouver City Council had asked an investigation into the price of all wheat products, and Alderman Loat declared he was prepared to recommend the matter be pushed further.

"It is as I feared," he said. "Bread prices were considered as secondary by us. What we were mostly interested in was the wide disparity in the price of flour compared with the price of wheat, and we submitted evidence to substantiate our claims.

ASKS COMMITTEE TO ACT

"It was with a view to giving some protection to independent bakers that we asked for the investigation," declared the alderman.

Alderman Loat said he would confer with the mayor and special committee to-day to discuss further action.

FINDINGS OF COMMISSION

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—Investigation into the bread-baking industry of Canada has not revealed the existence of a combine operating to the detriment of the public, according to the official report, made public this morning. It has disclosed the existence of a combination resulting from the entry of several large flour milling companies into the break-baking industry, but "no conclusive evidence has been adduced to show that this combination constitutes a combine within the meaning of the Combines Investigation Act." On the other hand the situation is declared to be such as to "warrant continued governmental interest" and, if necessary, further governmental action.

VANCOUVER COMPLAINED

The report on the investigation, issued by Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, was written by F. A. McGregor, registrar under the Combines Investigation Act, following complaints received from various Canadian cities, including Vancouver, Winnipeg and Halifax. The registrar states that from Winnipeg came a formal application charging the existence of a local combine, while the Vancouver complaint asked for an inquiry into other wheat products as well as bread. Only bread is dealt with in the present report.

GROWTH OF CONTROL

Four big flour milling companies in Canada have acquired control over ninety-six bakeries operating from Nova Scotia to British Columbia, the report states. These ninety-six bakeries "now produce over a third of the bread sold in the dominion and over ninety per cent of the bread sold in the localities in which they operate." The four milling companies which control these bakeries are: Lake of the Woods Milling Company Ltd., Maple Leaf Milling Company Ltd., Ogilvie Flour Mills Company Ltd., and Western Canada Flour Mills Co. Ltd. Of these, according to the report, the Maple Leaf Milling Company was the first to enter the bakery business on a large scale.

COMPETITION IN FIELD

There are factors in the present situation, according to the report, which are operating to prevent undue advantage being taken of the public in the matter of bread prices. One of these is chain store competition and another the competition of small, low-cost bakeries all over the country. These have made themselves felt. There are also the smaller flour mills, "and the possibility of bread being baked at home in the event of bakers' prices going beyond what are considered reasonable limits."

"Apparently the situation has been taking care of itself," the report finds, "and can continue to take care of itself so long as these factors, actual and potential, remain in existence. If they continue to be as effective as they have been (and there seems to be no reason to believe they will not) the public as well as the industry will be better off having such problems solved without the necessity of governmental intervention."

NO REQUESTS FOR CHANGED FARM TARIFF

Bennett's Hearing in Ottawa To-day Produced No Discussion By Agrarians

Announces Ministers Will Hear Textile Firms' Higher Tariff Request Thursday

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—The tariff hearing this forenoon lasted just five minutes. When Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister, called on any of those present to make representations with respect to the agricultural and fruit schedules in the tariff, there was no response. Mr. Bennett waited a few minutes and then said: "There being no one desirous of making such representations, the hearing is adjourned until Thursday, when the textile schedules will be under consideration."

There was but a scant dozen people gathered in the great railway committee room of the House of Commons at 10.30 a.m., when the hearing was scheduled to open. Shortly before the time set Mr. Bennett, accompanied by Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, entered the room and took his seat on the platform. He waited until the big clock in the main tower had struck the half hour. Then he declared the hearing open, remarking there would probably be some other members of the cabinet present a little later.

AIDED BY LATE BOARD

"There is a tariff at present," Mr. Bennett said in a brief opening speech, "and requests have been received for changes in it."

Some of the requests were for increases, others for decreases, he said. With the information the government

LIBERALS MAKE THEIR PLANS FOR OTTAWA SESSION

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—General plans to be followed by the Liberals in the House of Commons during the coming session will be drafted here to-day at a meeting of prominent members of the party. Rt. Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, leader of the party, will preside at the meeting, to be held this afternoon with former cabinet ministers, party whips and various private members in attendance.

ST. LAWRENCE COMMISSIONS EXPECTED SOON TO BE NAMED

"Plans are rapidly being matured in Washington and Ottawa for the appointment of the joint commission which is to negotiate a treaty between the British and the Canadian governments on the one hand and the United States government on the other, for the construction of a big ship waterway connecting the Great Lakes with the Atlantic Ocean.

Frank B. Kellogg, Minnesota, former Secretary of State and now a judge of the Permanent Court of International Justice at The Hague, will be offered the chairmanship of the United States treaty commission. Henry J. Allen, former Kansas Senator and Governor, has been chosen for a place on the United States commission, which probably will consist of three members. Mr. Allen has been president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association for eleven years, and, like President Hoover, has been a consistent advocate of the St. Lawrence waterway.

MAGRATH MENTIONED

"Information has been received in Washington that Charles A. Magrath, who recently tendered his resignation as chairman of the Ontario Hydro-electric Commission, will be chairman of the Canadian section of the treaty-making commission. Whether Mr. Kellogg will accept the position is not definitely known.

"President Hoover has desired to appoint Mr. Kellogg as Minister to Canada, with a view to having him retain that post until he could arrange with the Canadian Government for the negotiation of a treaty for the construction of the St. Lawrence waterway, but Mr. Kellogg declined. Should Mr. Kellogg feel he cannot serve as chairman of the United States section of the joint treaty commission, former Senator Allen will be appointed chairman."

VANCOUVER IS FOR REPEAL OF ITS MILK ACT

Vancouver, Feb. 17.—The Vancouver City Council is on record in favor of repeal of the Dairy Products Sales Adjustment Act, which regulates the sale and distribution of milk on the Lower Mainland.

A committee, consisting of Mayor L. D. Taylor, Alderman G. C. Miller and City Solicitor J. B. Williams was appointed at yesterday's session of the council to watch the progress of the bill and to go to Victoria to urge its repeal, if such action should be necessary.

The resolution for repeal was passed by a vote of 11 to 1, Alderman Walter Deptford being the only dissentient.

There was some fear in the aldermen's minds regarding what might happen if the Milk Act should suddenly be repealed. This fear was fostered by a statement of City Solicitor Williams, quoting C. H. Welch, chairman of the dairy sales adjustment committee, who said that unless the newly incorporated Associated Dairies, who now had charge of distribution in Vancouver, was willing to carry on, the producers might be thrown back on their own resources.

Mr. Welch had questioned whether the individual producers would be in a position to step into the breach and continue the supply of milk.

QUICK ACTION

These fears were set at rest by Mayor Taylor, who said any such hiatus would immediately see any number of milk-vending shops spring up in all parts of the city, and the question of supply would soon be taken care of.

Mr. Williams stated he believed the British Columbia Produce Marketing Act, which had just been ruled invalid by the Supreme Court of Canada, embodied many principles of the Milk Act. If that was the case the Milk Act would go by the boards sooner or later.

BROKER'S TORONTO TRIAL PRECEDES ACTION IN B.C.

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 17.—I. U. C. Solloway, former stock broker, now serving a sentence in Alberta, will likely be tried on further charges in Ontario at the spring assizes, it was learned at the Attorney-General's Department to-day. Charges are pending against Solloway both in Ontario and British Columbia, but as the Ontario charges were laid first and as there are a number of similar cases to be disposed of at the coming assizes, it is not anticipated the British Columbia authorities will oppose his trial in Ontario first.

An officer of the Ontario Provincial Police was expected to arrive to-day in Lethbridge, Alberta, to arrest Solloway, who is to complete his sentence at the jail there next Saturday.

SEARCH OF OFFICE TOLD OF IN BIG SUIT

Associated Press

Seattle, Feb. 17.—Attorneys for the plaintiffs in the $150,000 damage actions against Mrs. Sarah E. Smith, the former Mrs. George Francis Scollard, concluded presentation of their case in Superior Court here to-day.

Robert P. Oldham, counsel for Mrs. Smith, challenged the sufficiency of the evidence. The court took the challenge under advisement.

Ernest Foot and Roy Manzer, Victoria, B.C., lawyers, contend Mrs. Smith obtained a search warrant for their offices in the Bank of Nova Scotia Building, March 7, 1929, in the asserted belief the attorneys were secreting there about $500,000 worth of bonds, given into their care by her missing husband, Scollard.

NEWS SPED QUICKLY

They testified the news of the search, which they claimed was unwarranted, spread like wildfire through Victoria and Vancouver legal circles, and that they were subjected to considerable jesting over the incident and to serious criticism.

Apprehensive clients, fearing the police had delved into documents relating to their cases, visited their offices immediately afterward, the attorneys said.

Manzer declared that to his knowledge the search of his office was only the second time in the history of British Columbia law that an attorney's office was so entered.

Rees B. Brown, Seattle real estate man, said to be Mrs. Smith's adviser, was with her during the hearing yesterday and to-day.

Many Attended Aged Pioneer's Last Journey

Duncan, Feb. 17.—St. Peter's Church, Quamichan, was not large enough to hold the number of people who came to pay their last respects to the late William Penn Jaynes, whose funeral took place on Sunday at 2.30 o'clock. Archdeacon H. A. Collinson officiated, assisted by Rev. F. G. Christmas. The service was choral, with B. W. Clements at the organ. Two hymns were sung, "Our Blest Redeemer" and "Lead Kindly Light."

Honorary pallbearers were: J. Maitland-Dougal, J. N. Evans, A. R. Wilson, W. H. Elkington, H. Cullis (Victoria), G. H. Hadwin, F. S. Leather, W. M. Dwyer, D. Ford, T A Wood, F. H. Price and G. O. Day.

The pallbearers were three sons of the deceased, Percy, Jack and Phil, two sons-in-law, J. H. Whittome and Athelstan Day and one grandson, R. W. Whittome. Hundreds of floral tributes testified to the great esteem in which the old pioneer was held.

He was eighty-four years of age, over forty of which had been spent in Duncan. He was instrumental in getting the railway to have a station at Duncan and was the first station master He was one of the promoters of the Cowichan Agricultural Society, and of the Cowichan Creamery and founded the initial store of what is now the Cowichan Merchants Ltd.

Albany, N.Y., Feb. 17.—The assembly yesterday evening passed a bill petitioning for the calling of a national constitutional convention to be limited in scope to consideration of repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. BEATTY WILL BE HERE FOR GOLF WEEK

President of C.P.R. Is Expected to Arrive From the East on Sunday Next

Edward W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who is now touring the west en route to Victoria, is covering a lot of territory within a short time. Only the other day he was in New York to give his personal greetings to Herman Trelle, the wheat king, and his wife, on their departure as guests of the company on a Mediterranean cruise aboard the liner Empress of France.

Yesterday evening he spoke on "Agricultural Credits" before a packed audience of western growers and business leaders in the banqueting hall of the Royal Alexandra Hotel in Winnipeg, his speech being broadcast over the radio.

On Sunday next the dynamic president of the C.P.R. will be in Victoria to witness the Midwinter Golf Tournament get under way here on Monday. He donated the handsome cup which is being competed for on the Oak Bay course.

It is unusual for Mr. Beatty to visit the Pacific coast at this season of the year and the golfing fraternity here will be honored by the presence of the chief railway executive.

Mr. Beatty is traveling west from Winnipeg in company with D. C. Coleman, vice-president in charge of the C.P.R. western lines.

It is expected that N. R. DesBrisay, assistant passenger traffic manager of Winnipeg, will be among the party.

During the stay of Mr. Beatty in the city he will receive a number of delegations on various matters.

had on hand, notably that gathered by the late Tariff Commission, these requests were now being considered.

It was thought desirable, however, to give the public an opportunity to make representations in respect to the tariff, continued Mr. Bennett. "Is there anyone present who desires to say anything either for or against the present tariff items touching farm products?" he concluded.

No answer came from the few persons scattered about the room.

Mr. Bennett waited for a couple of minutes. Then he adjourned the hearing until Thursday.

HIGHER SUGAR DUTIES

W. F. Russell and B. R. McMullin of Lethbridge, Alta., were present on behalf of the sugar beet industry. "We have our briefs in," Mr. Russell stated in an interview after the hearing had concluded, "and we are here only to defend our request for higher duties on sugar in case anyone should object. However, as no one did, we did not need to make any further representations."

It is understood the government is viewing with favor the proposal of the sugar beet industry for higher duties on sugar.

The duties on this production were considerably increased in the May Day budget introduced by Hon. C. A. Dunning last year. The present rates range from sixty-eight cents to eighty-three cents per 100 pounds, British preference, and $1.25 to $1.50 general.

HIGHER MILK DUTIES

F. E. M. Robinson, president of the National Dairy Council, had briefs for submission asking for higher duties on casein and powdered milk, but as he did not arrive until after the hearing had concluded, it is probable he will submit them at some other time.

to be above the rising tide. Fox and Barden did not observe that the launch was drifting away in the darkness. When they did notice this they at once decided that it must be regained if they were to bring help. Fox again took to water and swam out to the boat. He got the engine going, he testified, but found the rudder was broken, so that the boat could not be steered, but went round in circles. As a result he lost his bearings and could not tell in what direction his friends were. He tried to anchor, but the water was too deep. He drifted all night, and on Sunday morning, at 10 o'clock, he was picked up by a fisherman. The fisherman set out with him to find the others, but on their way met another fisherman who had picked up Barden and Fitzpatrick's body. All then went in to Port Alberni.

FALLS UNCONSCIOUS

Charles Barden gave evidence as to what happened on the rock after Fox swam out to the launch. He said that when Fox did not return, he had climbed up the cliff and could make out the boat going round in a circle. After a while it disappeared. Barden was greatly weakened by the long and severe struggle and himself became unconscious for a time, he could not say for how long. When he recovered he climbed down the cliff to the ledge. The water had risen over it and Fitzpatrick was not to be seen.

Barden remained on the side of the cliff until daylight, and not long after a fisherman named Mortimer came down the canal in his boat and put ashore in response to Barden's call. Mortimer looked for Fitzpatrick's body and found it about 100 feet from where it had left the ledge.

H.M.C.S. Armentieres had joined the search for the missing men, which was made when they failed to turn up at Bamfield, and on being signaled from Mortimer's vessel, came alongside and brought Fitzpatrick's body and his companions to Port Alberni.

The late Mr. Fitzpatrick was aged forty-five years and was born in Queensland, Australia. He had been at the cable station about four years. He is survived by his widow, who resides at Bamfield.

A verdict of death by misadventure was returned by the jury.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 4 o'clock from Forrests Undertaking Parlors, Rev. A. McLean officiating.

FUNERAL TO-MORROW

The late Captain William Sheppard Barton, who passed away at the King's Daughters' Hospital, Duncan, yesterday morning. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at St. Andrew's Church, Cowichan Station.

U.B.C. EDITOR IS REINSTATED

President Klinck Accepts R. Grantham's Statement on College Paper Difficulty

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 17.—Ronald Grantham, suspended editor of Ubyssey, University of British Columbia student journal, will be reinstated tomorrow, having expressed to President L. S. Klinck regret for failure to follow orders given by the latter. The students' council made the announcement.

"In a letter to the president of the university Grantham made it clear his failure to carry out the president's orders was entirely due to a misunderstanding of the president's instructions, and not to any wilful desire to be disobedient. The president has accepted this explanation and apology and will reinstate Grantham accordingly.

"The action of the president in suspending Grantham had no relation to a recent editorial which appeared in the student publication criticizing the policy of the provincial government with regard to limitation of attendance."

POSITION OF BOARD

Status of the students' publications board will be considered immediately by the faculty council, which will receive reports from the students' council and the publications board on the relations of the latter to the Alma Mater Society and governing bodies of the university.

GOLD SEEKERS RUSH WORK AS SNOW MENACES

Canadian Press

Calgary, Feb. 17.—Swirling eddies of snow from the white peaks of the Rockies had brought shivering fear of hardships to-day to the gold-rush camps of Livingstone Valley. Tenderfoot prospectors in the rugged Porcupine Hills area of the southern Alberta foothills watched a grey sky, apprehensive lest a brief blizzard yesterday evening should be followed by a longer and more violent one.

Provisioned for only a day or two, most of the 400 gold-seekers hurried their claim-staking and planned to head back without delay to Nanton and Stavely, railway points some sixty miles to the east. A temporary detachment of Provincial Police stood guard against possible disorders or starvation resultant from food shortage or exposure. Until yesterday evening's snow, sunny weather had prevailed since the "strike" was made six days ago.

Definite assays of samples obtained on the banks of the Livingstone River, ninety miles southwest of Calgary, have not yet been received though quartz was rushed to Vancouver and Denver, Colo. Some of the more eager prospectors have started panning at Savannah Creek, up-river, but their dishes are reported to have shown no trace of color.

BIDDING FOR LABOR IN RUSSIA LEADS TO TRIALS

Moscow, Feb. 17.—Criminal suits are to be filed, the Commissariat of Labor has announced, against more than sixty government organizations whose directors failed to obey an order to discharge from their departments all former railway employees so the latter might be re-engaged for transportation service.

Efforts to get former railroad men back to transport jobs appear to be meeting with only partial success because there is an equally great demand for labor in every other line. Both workers and department directors convicted of disregarding the railway order are liable to fines or imprisonment.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hartley of Victoria are guests at the Forest Inn, Shawnigan Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Dalziel of Okanagan Lake are spending a few days at the Forest Inn, Shawnigan Lake.

Among those lunching at the Forest Inn on Sunday were noticed: Mrs. W. Sloan and party of six, Mrs. H. E. Ridewood and party of eight, Miss McWilliam of Seattle and guest, Major Taylor and guests, Mr. C. Forbes and guests, and others.

OPTIMISM IS VOICED TO-DAY BY GANDHI

Will Continue Conversation To-morrow, With New India Constitution as Topic

Canadian Press

New Delhi, India, Feb. 17.—Mahatma Gandhi, emerging from a four-hour conference with Lord Irwin, Viceroy, this afternoon, made the most cheerful pronouncement regarding the prospects for eventual agreement in India he has made in months.

"I am satisfied, even optimistic," he said, adding he would talk with the Viceroy to-morrow.

The Mahatma went back to the home of the friend with whom he is living while he is in the capital, waving his greetings to the great crowd which had assembled to salute him. He seemed in high spirits.

Sea Floor Off New Zealand Is Lifted By Quake

Wellington, N.Z., Feb. 17—The director of the geological survey to-day reported a great landslide south of Mohaka had lifted the floor of the sea in that city by seventy feet. The slide was a result of the recent earthquake.

Between Taumatu Island and the mainland near Gisborne, the quake raised the foreshore eight to ten feet for two miles, and on a reef which appeared out of the water is a great pool from which at low tide innumerable small geysers jet inflamable gas.

The whole area is covered with seaweed and mud, which appears literally to have been squeezed up from the ocean bed, and at low water the stumps of submerged forests are visible.

STORM RAGES OVER CITY DURING NIGHT

Southeast Wind Reached Velocity of Fifty Miles an Hour Just Before Midnight

Springing up with renewed vigor from the southeast, a howling wind yesterday evening raged over Victoria, after a comparatively quiet period earlier in the day, and reached a maximum velocity of fifty-two miles an hour between 11 and 12 o'clock.

An hour earlier it had been blowing at forty-eight miles an hour, having gained steadily since the afternoon.

The storm was general over the southern part of British Columbia and the west coast of Vancouver Island. It also extended into the Puget Sound region.

Considerably more rain fell yesterday than on Sunday the gauge at the Gonzales Hill Observatory registering .20 of an inch for the twenty-four hours ending at 5 o'clock this morning.

Speaking of the winds F. Napier Denison of the observatory stated they could be looked for at frequent intervals at this season.

SELLING COSTS RISE

The report draws attention to the fact that something other than flour cost is responsible for increases in bread prices. In 1913 the spread between the wholesale cost of flour and the retail price of bread was 2.3 cents and in 1930 it was 5.1 cents. "The outstanding development in the cost end of the bread-baking industry in recent years has been the rise in selling expenses," the report divulges.

The larger bakeries commenced use of high-pressure sales methods which boosted the distribution costs greatly. Selling expenses involved in gaining increased volume have been heavy, the report states, "and apparently have more than offset whatever may have been effected in the way of economies from large scale production."

VOLUME AND PRICES

In the bread-baking industry, the report declares, there is no evidence that increased volume means lower prices. The large bakeries are the high price bakeries. The report adds, however, that the "big bakery cannot be held solely responsible for the system." The demand of the public for something new to eat is another reason for the costly sales methods.

CHAIN STORES

The report, in referring to chain store competition, states:

"Such a practice (selling below cost), particularly on the part of a chain which carries many lines of goods and can afford to cut one for advertising purposes, undoubtedly works an injury to the baking trade, whose only or chief product is affected On the other hand, where costs of the large bakeries appear to become unduly high, this form of price cutting may serve a highly useful public purpose in forcing reductions in costs."

NO GUARANTEE

In a concluding note the report reveals that high price is not a guarantee of either high nutritive value or of a high percentage of fats in a loaf of bread. Comparison of high price loaves with the low price ones showed there was not "a great deal of difference in their nutritive value."

IS RECEIVED AT VATICAN

ARCHBISHOP T. O'DONNELL

Vatican City, Feb. 17.—The Pope this week gave a private audience to the Most Rev. Mgr. Thomas O'Donnell, co-adjutor bishop of Halifax and Titular Archbishop of Metymna. His Holiness imparted the Apostolic blessing to the Canadian archbishop.

Archbishop O'Donnell was formerly Roman Catholic Bishop of Vancouver Island, with headquarters at Victoria. He left about eighteen months ago for Halifax to take up his new position after being in office here for several years.

RELIEF SUMS TO JOBLESS VETERANS CUT

Payments By Federal Pensions Department Reduced; Protests From Toronto

Hon. M. MacLaren Says Cuts Are "Regarded as Somewhat Temporary"

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—Reduction in unemployment relief payments to pensioners by the Department of Pensions and National Health "is regarded as a somewhat temporary measure, and it is hoped an improvement in these rates will be effected before long." This announcement was made by Hon. Murray MacLaren, Minister of Pensions and National Health, in a statement issued to-day. "In no case," Dr. MacLaren declared, "will hardship result, for there will be such readjustment as will meet the circumstances."

DEMANDS INCREASE

"The issue of relief by the Department of Pensions and National Health was always regarded as an emergency and not a permanent addition to pensions. The relief issue through this department is restricted entirely to pensioners.

"This year the demands have greatly exceeded the appropriation passed by Parliament. The number of applications for relief has more than doubled as compared with previous years. At January 31 last the amount expended was something more than double the amount expended during a similar period last year.

INVESTIGATION IN PROGRESS

"Complaints have been made as regards the distribution of this relief, and the relief has been placed on the minimum scale pending investigation. Consequently, the administrative officers of the department were informed that, pending further instructions, a reduction would be made in the amounts issued. This reduction is regarded as a somewhat temporary measure, and it is hoped an improvement in these rates will be effected before long.

"In no case will hardship result, for there will be such readjustment as will meet the circumstances."

THE NEW RATES

Under the new regulations, which went into effect yesterday, the amount of relief an unemployed single pensioner may receive is set at $17.50 a month. The figure formerly was $30. Similarly, the maximum for married men without children has been reduced from $45 to $35; a married man with one dependent child, from $57 to $47, and a married man with two or more dependent children, from $67 to $57.

DESCRIBED AS ILL-ADVISED

Toronto, Feb. 17. — "An ill-advised, precipitate action," which would be adjusted when the proper inquiries and representations were instituted, was the comment of Col. J. Keiller Mackay, president of the Ontario command of the Canadian Legion, in referring to the reduction in relief payments to unemployed war veterans, which went into effect locally to-day.

A. J. Pitt, president of the Toronto central branch of the Legion, declared there was no justification for the cut. "This is the third time the government has tried it and I am sure that as before this attempt will end with a reversal of the action. On both the previous occasions vigorous opposition from both the veterans and the general public changed the government's mind.

"Despite the exhaustion of the appropriation, there is always a way of getting around these difficulties if they really want to, and if it is a case of economy that would work less hardship than this measure."

CONVICTIONS ON MARKET ACT QUASHED

Five Chinese on Lower B.C. Mainland Are to Recover $600 Paid in Fines

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 17.—Following the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada holding the B.C. Produce Marketing Act defective in its two main features, collection of levies and selling outside the province, Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in B.C. Supreme Court here to-day quashed convictions recorded against five Chinese vegetable dealers for alleged infractions of the statute.

Proceedings to upset the convictions, made by Magistrate C. L. Pillmore in district police court, were taken on behalf of the Orientals after Mr. Justice Gregory in the case of Harry Fong had decided the magistrate had no jurisdiction for the reason the alleged offence occurred in the city of Vancouver. The magistrate's powers, it was held, extended outside the city, within the County of Vancouver. An appeal was taken from that judgment and the Court of Appeal postponed consideration, pending determination of the question by the Supreme Court of Canada on the constitutionality of the Produce Marketing Act.

ABANDONED

If the judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada was as reported in the press, A. J. Cowan, appearing for the Attorney-General, conceded the appeal in the Harry Fong case would have to be abandoned.

Mr. Cowan requested an adjournment, and, although that was refused, Mr. Justice McDonald stated that while he made the order quashing the convictions, his judgment would not become effective until after the Harry Fong appeal had been disposed of by the Court of Appeal.

WILL RECOVER $600

The result is that the Chinese vegetable dealers recover in all about $600 in fines which they had paid. They were Chan On, Mah Bing, John Hing, Wing Yick and Wah Lee. They were convicted last fall of selling potatoes without a shipper's license from the interior tree fruit and vegetable committee of direction, or purchasing potatoes without a license, and of preventing an officer of the committee from inspecting their books.

In accordance with a previous order of Mr. Justice McDonald, the committee paid $200 into court to secure the appellants' costs.

An adjournment was opposed by H. S. Wood, K.C., counsel for the Chinese vegetable dealers. He demanded the fruits of victory and he expressed the fear there would be difficulty in collecting from the committee if the matter should be adjourned.

OPERATIONS SUSPENDED

Vancouver, Feb. 17.—Operations of the potato control board of the interior committee of direction have been temporarily suspended pending receipt of the written judgment of the Supreme Court of Canada declaring the B.C. Produce Marketing Act ultra vires, according to R. B. Homersham, local representative of the committee.

It is uncertain at the moment how far the ruling affects the operations of the board, in so far as it applies to produce consumed within the province

TEST CASE

Vancouver, Feb. 17.—Either the Milk Act must be repealed by the Legislature this year or a case will be taken to the Supreme Court of Canada to determine the validity of the act, declared Lawrence Fish, manager of Independent Farm Dairies, to-day.

"The city council of Vancouver is going to demand repeal of the act," said Mr. Fish, "and we expect the Legislature will agree."

"If the act is maintained, however, we will certainly move to test its constitutionality. The sales adjustment committee cannot be allowed to continue as it is going now."

DOCTOR MARRIES JAPANESE GIRL

New York, Feb. 17.—Miss Iroka Adachi, daughter of Adachi Kinnosuke, Japanese writer, became the bride of Dr. William Joseph Redmond at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church here yesterday. The bride is a graduate of Dana Hall and has attended the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

MRS. W. THOMAS DEAD

Nanaimo, Feb. 17.—The death occurred in the local hospital last night of Mrs. William Thomas, sixty, after a lengthy illness. She was a native of Keswick, Cumberland, England, and had resided here twenty-four years. She is survived by her husband and four sisters, Mrs. J. R. Crellin, Strickland Street, and three in England. The remains repose at Jenkins Limited Undertaking Parlors pending funeral arrangements.

OLDFIELD HEADS CEMETERY BOARD

H. C. Oldfield, reeve of Saanich for the latter part of last year, was appointed chairman of the Board of Cemetery Trustees of Greater Victoria, at a session of the board recently.

Members of the board expressed confidence in Mr. Oldfield's ability to direct its affairs for the year in unanimously electing him to the post.

Alderman J. A. Worthington was named vice-chairman and the following compose the finance committee for 1931: H. F. Simpson, Alderman H. O. Litchfield and Alderman Robert Smith. The building and grounds committee was named as follows: H. C. Oldfield, Alderman J. A. Worthington and Councilor Fred Borden of Saanich.

All ex-service men are invited to attend and are requested to wear decorations on the lapel of their outer coat.

ONE MISSING IN HOUSE FIRE

Ruins in North Vancouver Searched; Woman Not Seen Since Saturday

Canadian Press

North Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 17.—Fears are entertained that Mrs. W. Ralston, last seen on Saturday evening, may have been burned to death in the fire which destroyed an apartment at the corner of St. George and Second Streets at 3 o'clock this morning.

Mrs. Ralston occupied one of the suites in the two-story house, which had been converted into an apartment. Whether she was in the building when the fire broke out has not been determined. Firemen started a search of the ashes to see if they could find any traces of a human body.

The blaze swept the wooden apartment house quickly and by the time the fire department arrived the walls were about to collapse.

NARROW ESCAPE

Chief of Police W. Murphy and Fireman J. Groundwater had a narrow escape as the walls of the house fell. They were showered with debris.

Mrs. Ralston lived alone in her apartment and police have been unable to discover if she had returned to her home. All other occupants of the house were able to escape, though they lost most of their belongings.

NEW CHRYSLER SIX

STYLED LIKE THE SMART CHRYSLER EIGHTS

A BIG CAR—WITH BIG POWER

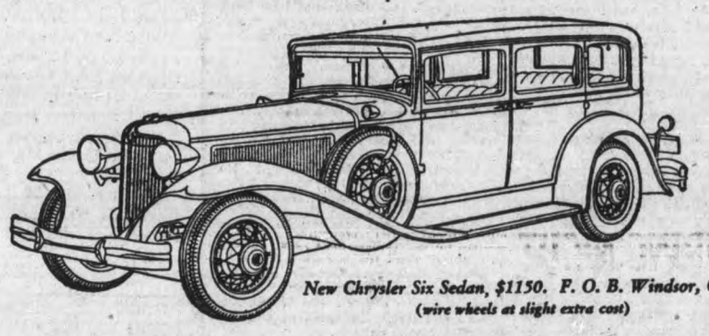
And up, f. o. b. Windsor, Ontario, including standard factory equipment (freight and taxes extra)



New Chrysler Six Sedan, $1150. F. O. B. Windsor, Ont. (wire wheels at slight extra cost)

CHRYSLER has news for you about a new sensation in the automobile industry.

In our showrooms, there is being shown for the first time a new Chrysler Six styled in that fine distinctive manner of the Chrysler Straight Eights.

A big new Chrysler Six expressly designed to stand forth as the smartest six-cylinder car ever available at a low price—and not only the smartest, but a new Six powered to make a clean sweep of its price field in every conceivable test of performance.

With its 116-inch wheelbase it is an extremely graceful car in size, length, lowness and in all its fine characteristics of design. Like its magnificent companion cars, the Chrysler Straight Eights, the new Chrysler Six has a double-drop frame permitting a very low center of gravity—which is an essential source of more attractive appearance, better balance, finer riding qualities and greater safety.

Chrysler has made this new Six as outstanding in performance as it is in appearance. Your first ride will quickly confirm this.

We proudly invite the entire industry as well as the public to inspect this new Chrysler Six.

FARLEY FILLS VEXED VACANT SCHOOL SEAT

By a special resolution, the Esquimalt School Board appointed A. T. Farley a trustee to fill the vacancy caused on the board when only one candidate stood for two seats at the last municipal election, Councillor A. Lockley, chairman of the board, informed the council of the municipality at its meeting yesterday evening.

The method of filling the vacancy in accordance with legal requirements had long vexed the council.

A special amendment would be made in the municipal act to care for a recurrence of the contingency, it was stated. The board had taken its steps on the advice of the municipal solicitor, Councillor Lockley added.

part of the country, he said. Roads were necessary to open up vast resources, and all the world was also building up good roads to cater to the profitable tourist trade. The sum of $3,830,000 was the net revenue from the gasoline tax to help towards the highway bill of $5,000,000.

The failure of the government to impose the fuel oil tax approved at the last session was dismissed briefly. After the House arose, the speaker said, doubts on the legality of the tax were raised. The coal inquiry was also instituted. There was soon to be held, however, a conference which might settle the conflict between the provinces and the dominion on taxation, and the provincial right to taxation might be cleared up.

MARKETING

The burning subject of marketing was touched upon lightly. The speaker referred to the Sanford Evans report and outlined the qualification of the commissioner. He hoped the farmers of the Okanagan would get together and decide upon a method that would be acceptable to them all. He did not care to go into the Supreme Court ruling on the Marketing Act until he had had an opportunity to examine it further.

LIQUOR BOARD

A stout defence was offered the three-man Liquor Control Board. Such a business amounting to $15,000,000 and with all its ramifications, was too big a task for one man, he said. Better supervision was possible with a three-man board. It was possible for one man to travel and to secure closer enforcement of the laws and regulations. He claimed a saving of $1,350 a month had been effected by a freight pooling system. It was hoped to make further savings by closer checks on breakages with claims on the railway companies. Efforts were being made to raise the standard of hotels where licenses were granted. It had been insisted upon that British Columbia woods must be used for boxes in which liquor was shipped to British Columbia. "We had no other object in view, and we were fortunate in securing the services of H. B. Thomson, than to place the liquor traffic on a sound, clean basis, and if we do this the expenditure of $30,000 a year will be a mere bagatelle compared with the result," the Premier said.

A SURVEY

To stimulate industry in the province the Premier thought a thorough survey should be made to study the things British Columbia could grow at home and manufacture, to study interprovincial trade and improvement of the export market, particularly the Orient. He quoted his familiar figures on the sheep, cattle and hogs British Columbia imported which she could raise at home, but complained there was little of the spirit of the pioneer left in the province. People should be more self-reliant, he thought, and stop running to the government for aspirin every time they got a dizzy head.

MORE CARAVANS

Referring again to tourist trade, the speaker said British Columbia should benefit from its proximity to the United States with her 125,000,000 people. If British Columbia were known better more tourists would come and more people would settle. The Canadian tourist trade last year was valued at $315,000,000, of which British Columbia's share was $73,000,000. Travel was coming westward, and British Columbia should be prepared for it. The Twilight Caravan of last summer had secured valuable publicity for the province. Moving pictures taken on the trip were being shown and lectures given in the United States. Other caravans had been planned. One had been planned from Wenatchee through the Okanagan Valley which would be the forerunner of many others. Investment of capital should follow the tourist, he said.

BRITISH COLUMBIA-ALASKA HIGHWAY

If the British Columbia-Yukon-Alaska Highway were only a dream, as the leader of the opposition stated, it was a very pleasant one, and many prominent men in Canada and the United States were dreaming too. He went back to pioneer days to show how dreams had been turned to realities and said when it was proposed the Canadian Pacific Railway should come to the coast in 1871 Liberals objected.

"And a very strong group of Conservatives," A. M. Manson, K.C., persisted until the Premier admitted Conservative opposition also.

"The line was completed, and the Canadian Pacific Railway is now the greatest transportation system in the world," the Premier continued. "I just wanted to illustrate you can't tell anything about the future of a country by what a Liberal thinks."

The proposed highway, he proceeded, would provide British Columbia with one of its greatest assets. It had 500 miles of territory from the Canadian National Railway terminus to the Yukon. There would be an outlet for the Yukon. One of the richest game countries in the world would be tapped and land and air surveys had shown there would be no great difficulties in road construction, which it was estimated would cost from $12,000 to $13,000 a mile. New life would be put into the north country.

The project had not reached the stage where there had been serious discussion on the means of building the road. Construction in return for concessions had been mentioned. Suggestions that the United States Government purchase British Columbia government bonds at a low rate of interest had been mentioned, but they were only suggestions.

PACIFIC GREAT EASTERN

Dealing with the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, the Premier said there had been a $37,000,000 increase in the debt during the Liberal administration. He charged that losses had been incurred through neglect of the road and claimed the present government was tackling the problem of population along the line of the road to bring freight business for it. Nothing had been done by the Liberals, he said, except to bluff before the last election that they were on the verge of completing a deal by which Sir Henry Thornton would pay $14,000,000 for the line, and the bluff blew away on election night. He took credit for his government for arranging the survey under which the C.P.R., the C.N.R. and the provincial government shared the cost equally, and said much valuable information had been secured as a result.

SURVEYS

To a question from Mr. Pattullo, he said he was unable to give reports on the surveys at the present stage. They were the joint property of the two railroads. As a result of the information secured valuable resources of pulpwood, placer, coal, limestone and water power had been discovered, and the government was now in a position to deal with the railroads or any other organization. The Peace River Block survey carried on at the same time had also disclosed resources far richer than anticipated.

The Premier in opening paid the usual compliments to the newly-elected Speaker, the Deputy Speaker and the new members. He said he was not surprised that Mr. Pattullo found nothing in the Speech from the Throne, he said, quoting a definition of the Speech fifty years old, which inferred that it was expected to contain nothing of importance.

TOLMIE SCORES LAND SCHEMES FOR VETERANS

AGENT-GENERAL

The Premier claimed there was nothing underhand in the change in the British Columbia Agent-General in London by which F. P. Burden took the place of F. A. Pauline. Mr. Pauline retired at his own request as he was approaching seventy years of age and a retirement allowance which was considered fair was agreed upon. Mr. Burden, he claimed, was well qualified for the post. He contrasted this with the case of R. Renwick, who, he said, was discharged from the office of Deputy Minister of Lands to make room for a man who had previously been identified with politics.

VETERANS' SCHEMES

Premier Tolmie reviewed land schemes undertaken by the previous government which, he said, were in a large measure responsible for the financial situation the province found itself in. A lot of money was spent for schemes to aid returned soldiers, he said, but the dominion government had the matter in hand at that time. The dominion government would have carried on and it would not have cost the province a cent, but the provincial government jumped in and it cost the province millions. Although there were millions of acres of unworked agricultural land in the province the government decided to drain Sumas Lake. The estimated cost was $1,800,000. It had cost over $5,000,000. The estimated cost of the Oliver scheme was $1,000,000. It had cost $4,892,000. The Creston scheme was estimated at $219,000 and had cost $555,847. The Merville scheme had been estimated at $69,000. The sum of $729,000 was now invested in it.

DEFICITS

Answering Mr. Pattullo on deficits, the speaker claimed that in twelve years the previous administration only showed a surplus in two years. They had a deficit as high as $4,500,000, and over the whole period of $17,000,000. The highest surplus had been $500,000, he claimed.

An active interest in the development of markets was being taken, the Premier declared, and the general policy of the government had been not to do it all, but to help those who helped themselves where practicable. The assistance given to the Saanich strawberry growers had helped them to market processed strawberries all over Canada, and the market was spreading to other countries. They had returned all the money advanced with interest. The government had helped to find a market for lumber in Australia and New Zealand, for fruit in Egypt, the Argentine and the Orient, and for eggs in London. The market letter system had been extended to three times a week.

BY-ELECTIONS

Great pride for Conservative successes at by-elections was taken by the Premier dealing on the subject at some length. He ridiculed reasons given by Liberals for not contesting them, stating they passed over the Okanagan contest because it was too hot, the Fort George election because it was too cold, and the Gulf Islands because it was surrounded by water and was too wet. Liberals tried to bribe the Conservative party on a P.G.E. issue with an offer not to contest North Vancouver, but the Conservative party was too big for such a "horse trade." He referred to Hon. Ian Mackenzie as the short distance cabinet minister of Canada. "I can't say we miss him. It is quieter now," he added.

The speaker touched briefly on the Watt inquiry. "We called for an investigation and we abided by the decision. It won't help Mr. Watt any to bandy his name through the province any more," he remarked.

ROAD POLICY

He declared an aggressive road policy was essential for the development of British Columbia, and expenditures last year had also been necessary to meet the unemployment situation. The government had departed from the old policy of the former administration, which appeared to be patch and mend, and highways had been constructed to keep pace with the rapidly developing traffic. New machinery had been purchased to cut the cost of operation, and dangerous curves had been eliminated and narrow roads widened. A progressive road policy was more essential in British Columbia than any other

A YEAR OF JUBILEES

THE SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF British Columbia's entrance into the Dominion of Canada, which will be celebrated this year, and the fiftieth anniversary of the incorporation of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which fell yesterday, have a unique relation to one another, for they represent a common chapter in the story of Canadian confederation. One, in fact, springs from the other, since the construction of Canada's first transcontinental was a main condition on which British Columbia became a province of the Dominion. The association between these two events therefore possesses a peculiar historical significance of which no doubt considerable will be heard this year.

The Canadian Pacific Railway was originally conceived as a government enterprise, and between 1871 and 1881 the administrations of Sir John A. Macdonald and Alexander Mackenzie proceeded with it on that basis. During Mackenzie's regime, from 1873 to 1878, contracts for two small sections on the prairies were awarded. When Macdonald returned to power in 1878 he continued this programme of fragmentary construction, letting contracts for sections from Winnipeg to Port Arthur, from Winnipeg westward, and from Yale towards Savona in British Columbia. The terms under which this province entered confederation required the completion of the transcontinental in those ten years, but in that period only 264 miles had been finished, and British Columbia was nourishing a very healthy grievance.

Finally the government decided to hand the road over to private parties. Sir John Macdonald enlisted the interest of Mr. George Stephen, merchant and banker of Montreal, who had been successful in promoting railroad enterprises in the United States. Stephen, afterward Lord Mount Stephen, eventually organized a syndicate which comprised himself, Duncan McIntyre, Montreal; James J. Hill, St. Paul; R. B. Angus, St. Paul; J. S. Kennedy, New York; Kohn, Reinach & Company, Paris; Morton, Rose & Company, London. To this group a contract was awarded on October 21, 1880. It will be noted that this syndicate included James J. Hill, the great Canadian-born railroad man who was then on the threshold of his remarkable career in the United States where, until his death, he was a dominating figure in transportation circles. Donald Smith, later Lord Strathcona, was not a member of the original syndicate, but nevertheless he was an important factor in the project behind the scenes. Smith, Stephen, Angus and Kennedy were associated with Hill in the group which promoted the Great Northern Railroad in the United States, although in later years a strong rivalry for transportation business developed between the two railroads. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company was incorporated on February 16, 1881, and next day, fifty years ago to-day, the following directors were elected: George Stephen, president; Duncan McIntyre, vice-president; J. S. Kennedy, R. B. Angus, James J. Hill, H. Stafford Northcote, Pasco du P. Grenfell, Charles D. Rose and Baron J. de Reinach.

The new company was required under its contract to complete the railroad in ten years. The job was finished in five years, largely owing to the indomitable energy and dynamic leadership of William C. Van Horne, who was appointed general manager in December, 1881, and who had as his assistant Thomas Shaughnessy, who later became Lord Shaughnessy. The first through train left Montreal on June 28, 1886, and arrived at Port Moody on Burrard Inlet on July 4, the trip taking five and a half days. Nowhere else in the world had so formidable an undertaking been attempted; nowhere else, in fact, was there anything in the nature of a railroad spanning an entire continent. The Canadian Pacific is not merely the first actual transcontinental railroad on this continent, it is the first of its kind in the world. More than that, its development, progress and the service it has rendered to the nation at large since that time have been entirely worthy of the record of vision, resolution, enterprise and skill shown by those who planned and constructed it.

When the Canadian Pacific Railway was launched the project was assailed both at home and abroad. In the House of Commons sceptics declared it would not pay for axle grease. But the prize onslaught upon it came from London Truth, then edited by Henry Labouchere, which endeavored to prevent the floating of a loan for the work in England. London Truth declared that people who put their money in such a mad scheme would "just as soon subscribe for the ultiziation of ice-bergs." British Columbia, it said, "was a barren, cold, mountain country that was not worth keeping, and fifty railroads would not galvanize it into prosperity." Truth wound up its diatribe by attacking Canada as a whole, declaring that the "Dominion was a fraud all through and is destined to burst up like any other fraud." Labouchere, like other critics, lived to see his jaundiced prophecies belied by events. No doubt they regarded the outcome of the project as a modern miracle.

The moral of the story of the C.P.R. is that in such a country as Canada has shown herself to be the day of miracles of achievements is still young, and history will record many more of them if our people continue to possess the faith, courage, industry and enterprise which characterized the builders and operators of the Canadian Pacific Railway in the last fifty years.

GANDHI IS OPTIMISTIC

FIVE WORDS OVER THE CABLES from India to-day convey a ray of hope for a peaceful termination of Britain's troubles in that part of the empire. They were from Mahatma Gandhi, after a four-hour conference with Lord Irwin, and here they are: "I am satisfied, even optimistic." The two will meet and talk again to-morrow.

It will probably be several days before the public knows what has transpired between India's viceroy and the Nationalist leader. They have a good deal to discuss, many conflicts of view to reconcile, and demands to dispose of. But it is evident that the initial conference passed off amicably.

There is every indication that Lord Irwin intends to implement Premier MacDonald's declaration to the Round-Table Conference in the fullest possible manner. The latest promise from the vice-regal residence was made public yesterday, and it included an assurance that the government of India is ready to grant general amnesty to political prisoners—there are about 50,000 of them—and to consider the withdrawal of the present laws against Congress party activities, if Gandhi will agree to call off his civil disobedience campaign. The viceroy even signified his willingness to order an inquiry into allegations of police brutality, provided a prima facie case is established. But there is no official disposition to condone any infraction of the salt laws, or to promise their change or repeal.

Whatever divergent views may exist as to Britain's policy in India, it is clear now that upon Mahatma Gandhi rests the responsibility for assisting his countrymen along the road to complete self-government, for if he and the party over which he exercises an almost uncanny influence shall pursue their hostile tactics, the day of full Dominion status for India will be indefinitely postponed. His statement to-day, however, suggests that he is considering the undisputed fact that half a loaf is better than no loaf at all.

AN IMPORTANT JUDGMENT

THE JUDGMENT OF THE SUPREME Court of Canada which declares British Columbia's Produce Marketing Act to be ultra vires of the Legislature, and therefore invalid, confirms the view of many—especially that of the late Premier Oliver—that the main principles embodied in the measure eventually would be proven unsound.

The document declares specifically that the committee of direction has no power to regulate or control the marketing of the product of any British Columbia producer beyond the boundaries of this province, since such a process interferes with interprovincial trade. This, of course, is the most important point cleared up by the judgment.

The judgment also declares that the committee of direction, the body set up by the Act, has no power to impose a compulsory levy upon any producer of fruit or vegetables in respect of the marketing of his goods, because such levy is the equivalent of indirect taxation.

Other legislation of this kind may be involved by the Supreme Court's judgment, while Saskatchewan no doubt has read it with interest in view of the fact that certain features of the proposed compulsory wheat pool, now under consideration in that province, may be affected by the decision.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

WANTED: SCOUT LEADERS
The Ottawa Journal

The plea for Scout leaders issued by the Ottawa Boy Scouts' Association is a challenge to the young men of the capital, as no organization in the Dominion, or perhaps in the world, affords greater scope for service in shaping and crystallizing the ideals of youth in its formative years.

Surely there are many young men in the capital of the right calibre sufficiently imbued with the spirit of unselfishness to devote a portion of their time and abilities to guiding the destinies of a Scout troop!

They are not called upon to blaze new trails. And as the principles of the great movement founded by the Hero of Mafeking are built on a solid foundation, the sole equipment of a Scout leader is, therefore, personality and the power of adequate interpretation.

The Scout organization is the only world-wide one for boys. It embraces forty-six nationalities and fifty-six different parts of the empire. There are two millions enrolled. They are represented in every country, from Yukon Territory, in Canada North, to Patagonia, in South America, and from British Columbia to Bombay, Abyssinia, Nigeria—wonderful bands making for universal peace. The Boy Scouts of Ottawa have a membership of 1,114 boys and eighty-seven Scout leaders. There is apparently no dearth of Scout material, but to maintain itself worthily more leaders are required. The appeal now launched is certainly worthy of an immediate response and there should be little doubt of its acceptance by the young men of the community.

AT THE AUTO SHOW
The Boston Transcript

A Scot received a complimentary ticket to the motor show. Stopping in front of a magnificent limousine, he casually inquired the price. It was $9,000. Sandy shuddered and moved on. The next car he came to was $6,500; he passed on and saw cars priced at $2,000, $1,000, $750 and $500. At the end of the row were a few of the "baby" type. Sandy looked at the salesman hopefully. "Are these your free samples?" he asked.

Across the Bay

By H. B. W.

THE LEGISLATURE spent Monday afternoon in a nice, quiet little visit with Premier Tolmie. You know the kind of thing. An old-fashioned talk from the Premier on complicated matters of state which, in his hands, seemed too simple and jolly to argue about; some kindly interjections from Mr. Pattullo; some reminiscences of the old Tolmie farm; some homely humor about recent by-elections; and some statistics on the importation of mutton. It was a typical Tolmie talk, without the slightest sensation in it, fashioned of honest homespun, and presented as if to a few neighbors gathered around the barns at Braefoot, where the green fields roll up to Mount Douglas.

* * *

IT WAS a typical Tolmie speech, one of those speeches which are easy to listen to but do not cause thrones to rock or empires to collapse. There was nothing in it that we did not know before, which was also true of the Speech from the Throne. As there is nothing to debate, you would expect the debate on the Speech from the Throne to end forthwith. You would expect it, that is, if you didn't know this Legislature. Knowing this Legislature, you will not be surprised to hear that the debate on nothing at all is likely to go on for at least a week. And unless the opposition starts to open fire in earnest, giving the government some reason to let itself go just a little, we shall probably be in the same state of profound ignorance in ten days as we are now.

* * *

MEANWHILE WE visited with Premier Tolmie. The Premier, immaculate as usual, with glasses on his nose as a special tribute to the importance of the occasion, starts in his best House of Commons, Privy Council manner—shoulders thrown back, head up, hands behind him and in front a vast expanse of gold watch chain. In such a mood the Premier has a natural, easy-fitting dignity which marks him in any company.

* * *

HE OPENS in the best of humor, says he has never heard such good speeches as those that have gone before (except, of course, any other speeches on which he has had to comment), and adds that he is not surprised Mr. Pattullo found nothing in the Speech from the Throne. You judge from the Premier's remarks, indeed, that the Speech from the Throne is not supposed to say anything and he is well proud of his latest effort on this account as he well may be. From an ancient newspaper clipping he reads that the leader of the opposition in this House fifty years ago complained that there was nothing in the Speech from the Throne then, so that Mr. Pattullo, as usual, is well up to date. This profundity in the kindliest fashion, with a friendly smile to his good friend across the aisle.

* * *

GRADUALLY THE House of Commons, Privy Council manner wears off, the Premier shoves his hands deep into his trouser pockets (old-fashioned pockets, cut horizontally, such as you associate somehow with a man who is fond of horses) and we get down to cases. First of all, we explode the myth of the man from Prince George, which you recall, of course. It was in the North Vancouver by-election that Mr. Pattullo is supposed to have objected to Mr. Burden being Agent-General because he came from Prince George and the Premier commenced to rub it in a bit. Mr. Pattullo promptly denied ever saying it. Unhappily the story will probably be widely believed anyway, for as the late Mr. Sloan used to say, a lie can be off and down the road a mile before the truth can get its boots on.

* * *

ANYWAY, THIS proving a dud, the Premier turns to the four recent by-elections and enjoys himself in the jolliest Tolmie manner. He says Mr. Pattullo wouldn't fight in North Okanagan because it was too hot. Mr. Pattullo wouldn't fight in Fort George because it was too cold. And in the Islands, being surrounded by water, he supposed Mr. Pattullo wouldn't fight because it was too wet. As for North Vancouver, there Mr. Pattullo had given battle with a peculiar strategy all his own, and spent the next few weeks claiming that someone else had planned the campaign. This is a very rough-and-ready record of events but it is amusing even if highly inaccurate. Even Mr. Pattullo, who has sat bolt upright looking the Premier squarely in the eye, has to relent and laugh at this.

* * *

FROM THERE the Premier trundles on to financial questions and blames everything on Mr. Pattullo. The financial difficulties of the province, he says, are all due to Mr. Pattullo; just as the old government used to say they were due to the government before him, and so on back through history to Sir James Douglas, who, no doubt, blamed the Indians. And the curious part of it is that, though we are always approaching the verge of collapse we never reach it. Though we are getting as bad as we can be every year, we are never so bad that we won't be still worse the next time the House meets. Our capacity for utter ruin is a great and inspiring thing.

* * *

PERHAPS THAT is why the entire Conservative delegation pounds its desk in wild acclaim when the Premier announces that the Liberals had total deficits of $16,500,000 in their time. Apparently that is just as satisfactory as if the present government could produce a surplus of $16,500,000. At least it is the next best thing. For, says the Premier, Mr. Pattullo is a thrifty Aberdonian when he sits in opposition but, in the government benches, he spent money like "an inebriated mariner," a parliamentary locution to which even Mr. Speaker Davie cannot object.

* * *

IT IS when he comes to the Alaska road that the Premier warms up for, yes, sir, that's his baby. On the subject of the Alaska road Mr. Pattullo says he was listening to his radio the other night and the announcer said the orchestra would next play the fox trot "Au Revoir, Pleasant Dreams," at the request of Premier Tolmie of British Columbia. Apparently, says Mr. Pattullo, the Premier was thinking of the Alaska road. To which the Premier replies that he made no such request, for when he foxtrots it is not by radio. He says he likes to hold his partner closer than that, the wicked old gentleman. But he is not surprised that Mr. Pattullo is skeptical about the Alaska road, for Liberals also opposed the C.P.R. and even the Tolmie Government, for that matter.

* * *

BUT IT is when he comes to figures on our importations of hogs, butter and mutton that the Premier is really at home, and as he tells of life out in Saanich in the old days—"when a drop in a cent a pound in the price of pork was a matter between us and the butcher and never went any further"—you wish life were as simple now as it was then when Dr. Tolmie was a red-haired boy, peddling apples about Victoria at twenty-five cents a box in a little wooden pushcart. And when "we didn't go to the government for an aspirin every time we had a headache."

After that Mr. Pattullo gets in one little dig before we call it a day. He produces a newspaper report to prove that Minister of Mines McKenzie promised, in effect, before the last election, to bring in the millenium forthwith, which Mr. McKenzie had denied. Now Mr. McKenzie explains that what he meant was that this proposal was not included in his written election platform, a curious oversight. Apparently it was intended only in the Pickwickian sense and Mr. Pattullo took it seriously. This great issue settled, we feel we have earned our indemnities for one more afternoon.

Chamber to Give Parliamentarians Dinner To-night

Members of the British Columbia Legislature will this evening gather in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium at a special banquet given under the auspices of the chamber.

Plans have been completed for the event which will see each member the guest of some chamber representative.

A short programme of speeches and other items will follow the dinner, which will commence at 7 o'clock.

INCREASE IN BRITISH DOLE FUND VOTED

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 17.—The MacDonald Government was sustained in the House of Commons yesterday evening in the matter of "the dole." The Conservative opposition moved that the government's request to borrow an extra $100,000,000 for the unemployment insurance fund be amended to include only $50,000,000. This amendment was defeated by a majority of thirty-one votes—220 to 251.

Then the original government resolution, involving $100,000,000, was moved by Rt. Hon. Margaret Bondfield, Minister of Labor, and was carried without a division.

Miss Bondfield told the House the extra amount would give protection for several months, pending publication of the report of the Royal Commission, which is inquiring into the best means of regularizing payments of the dole on a proper insurance basis.

The new bill raises the borrowing powers of the unemployment insurance fund from $350,000,000, which amount has almost been exhausted, to $450,000,000.

Miss Bondfield said she could give no assurance the peak of unemployment had been reached.

The latest figures on the registers gave 2,624,000 as out of work, February 2, and if the average remained at 2,600,000 the fund's borrowing powers would be exhausted in mid-July, said Miss Bondfield.

CITY PLANS $20,000 GRANT TO HOSPITAL

Alderman Williams bounded to his feet and objected to the clause, bringing a motion that the council ask for a refund of money spent in 1928 and 1929 as well as 1930.

The Mayor and Alderman W. T. Straith reminded Alderman Williams that he had attended the committee meeting and had registered no objection.

NO DETAILS

"We've heard enough from Alderman Williams about the council not getting what it should have got from the government, although he has been unable to detail just what we should have got. I thought we were dealing generously with him in appointing him to get the money. Neither the comptroller nor anyone else can discover to what sums he is referring, so he is the man to get the money," said Alderman Straith. "Apparently he wanted the authority. Now he has got it."

Alderman Williams charged the Mayor with not including 1928 and 1929 in his motion, and moved that this be done. It was amended accordingly.

"We'll all be tickled to death if Alderman Williams gets his money. We surely need it," the Mayor said.

The committee's report also informed the council that Alderman Williams had failed to explain the "borrowing plan" which he suggested at the last meeting of the council.

Alderman Williams was once more on his feet, this time to move that no salary over $175 be paid to Publicity bureau employees, that the railway companies be asked to make a grant of $5,000 to the bureau and that if this was not successful the city cut its grant by that amount anyway.

DOES NOT GET MORE

While the Mayor questioned the power of the council to regulate the publicity bureau, Alderman Straith carefully explained to Alderman Williams that no employee of the bureau received more than $175 a month.

Alderman Williams — Mr. Warren gets more.

Alderman Straith—No he doesn't. He gets $175.

The Mayor—It is rather curious Ald. Williams that you, who are one of the city's representatives on the bureau should not know the size of the salaries you are talking about.

Alderman Williams—You can't find anything out. They do everything secretly around here.

Alderman Straith—I find no difficulty in getting any information I want.

The motion was not seconded, but after the bump Alderman Williams was right back on his feet again to move that the mayor's salary be cut from $350 to $300 a month, the aldermen to $40 a month and any departmental heads receiving over $300 a month down to that figure.

WHY $350?

"The mayor has never received $350 a month as far as I know," remarked the Mayor.

"Why don't you separate your resolutions. There's three or four of them there," quoth Ald. J. A. Worthington.

After this motion failed to get a seconder, Alderman Williams came back with vigor to demand more careful consideration of the estimates with meetings every night in the week. He demanded more energy.

"I suggest we make Alderman Williams a committee of one to go over the estimates and report. He sat on the special committee for two hours the other morning and never offered a concrete suggestion," said the Mayor.

SAID NOTHING

"We gave him every opportunity to speak and as the report shows he offered nothing," said Alderman Straith.

Alderman Litchfield wanted to know where Alderman Williams got his talk about "secrecy."

Every alderman had the privilege of sitting at every committee meeting, although he did not always have the right to vote, he said.

"But I mean the populace," said Alderman Williams.

"Yes, we know you always like to have the public around you," commented the Mayor.

After this motion also was not seconded, Alderman Williams's face fell slightly but he came on again undaunted to move that the city submit a by-law to the ratepayers for authority to borrow money for capital expenditure on permanent road work, thus keeping the tax rate low.

ASKS FOR DETAIL

The Mayor asked him to quote one item in the estimates dealing with capital expenditure for roads. He challenged to him to show where there would be a saving, but Alderman Williams remained silent.

"I can assure the council there is not a single dollar in the estimates now for permanent construction or development purposes this year," His Worship said.

Ald. J. L. Mara briefly pointed out that the public works committee had decided on the policy two weeks ago and had struck out all money suggested for this purpose. A by-law for borrowing on this account would be submitted to the council next meeting, he said.

And there was no seconder to the resolution.

ALBERTA M.P.P. URGES NEW STEPS TO CURB REDS

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Feb. 17.—Steps to end too great freedom of seditious utterance within this province were suggested in the Alberta Legislature yesterday by Dr. W. A. Atkinson, Conservative, Edmonton.

Rising on a question of privilege which later was treated as notice of a question to be asked the government, the Edmonton member brought to the attention of the House certain recent occurrences. He would be one of the last to suggest suppression of free speech, he declared, but "when it comes to a question of sedition," this was perhaps a serious enough matter to receive attention of the government.

TWELVE YEARS SINCE DEATH OF LAURIER

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—Twelve years ago to-day Canada mourned the death of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Liberal Party from 1887, and Prime Minister of Canada from 1896 to 1911.

Sir Wilfrid died here February 17, 1919, before the signing of the Treaty of Versailles, the document which formally ended the Great War.

He was the last former Prime Minister to be removed by death. There have been eleven prime ministers since Confederation in 1867, and including the present one, Right Hon. R. B. Bennett, four are still alive. The other three are Sir Robert Borden and Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, former Conservative leaders who have retired from public life, and Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal Prime Minister from 1921 to 1930.

Winnipeg, Feb. 16.—Three motor cars were ruined when the building of the Canadian Body and Carriage Works here was gutted by fire yesterday. The loss was placed at $5,000.

"I HAVEN'T FELT SO STRONG AND WELL IN YEARS"

"When I started Sargon I was so weak I'd totter like a child and couldn't stay on my feet ten minutes at a time," declared Mrs. T. H. Lewis, 1732 12th Ave. E., who formerly lived in Nova Scotia. "I had a numb feeling in my feet and limbs, and my back ached like it was paralyzed. I became very nervous and irritable.

"What struck me so forcibly was that the very first dose of Sargon seemed to fill me with new life and energy. It was as though it was just what my system had been needing for a long time. And now, every trace of the pains and numbness is gone! I can step up in the car and go upstairs without becoming exhausted, and am not nervous at all.

"The Sargon Pills were equally as wonderful. I couldn't imagine a laxative more comfortable or thorough in action. Never in years have I felt so well and strong."

Sargon may be obtained in Victoria and Vancouver from all Owl Drug Stores; in New Westminster from the Bews Drug Co.; in Esquimalt from Fulmer's Drug Store; in Oak Bay from Charles Hudson; in Sidney, Vancouver Island, from Sidney Pharmacy, and in Nanaimo from Kennedy's Drug Co. (Advt.)

MYSTERY OF REPORTS TO BE CLEARED

Mr. Pattullo Is Puzzled Over Resources Document Sent to England

Premier Tolmie Adjourns the Debate to Make Explanation

Why the Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, who visited Canada as Minister of Unemployment and Lord Privy Seal told the British House of Commons he had not the report from the British Columbia Government that Premier Tolmie had told the Legislature had been sent to him weeks before will be further discussed in the Legislature.

T. D. Pattullo, leader of the opposition, raised the question. Premier Tolmie will speak to it later. Mr. Pattullo spoke to a motion asking for the report on B.C. resources mentioned in the King's Speech to be filed. When Premier Tolmie filed one last Thursday he gave the House the impression it was the one sent to the British cabinet minister, Mr. Pattullo said. If so, was it the same report which Premier Tolmie declined to file at the 1930 session on the grounds that it was confidential. If the recently filed report were the one sent to Mr. Thomas, Mr. Pattullo was at a loss to understand how its production could embarrass anyone. He though the Premier was a little mixed.

"It is just a report on British Columbia resources that any well-informed newspaperman might write," said Mr. Pattullo. His Honor's speech last year said the report had been forwarded. Several weeks later Mr. Thomas told the House of Commons he had not received it. Mr. Pattullo felt satisfied the report was not sent at the time. He classed the references to taking care of 200,000 wrokers from England in British Columbia if British capital were invested as merely passing the buck, as other countries were facing the same problems as British Columbia and Britain itself was crying for investment of capital in many of its own undertakings.

Special Meetings Planned to Draft Esquimalt Budget

In anticipation of possible difficulties in drawing up the municipal budget for 1931, the finance committee of the Esquimalt Council yesterday evening made plans for special meetings before submitting the draft on the estimates to the council proper.

The course was accepted upon the suggestion of Councillor A Lockley that the finance committee carry on its work with the clerk and municipal engineer to draw up drafts of the various expenditures Esquimalt would have to make during the year.

A report on the matter will be made at the next regular council meeting.

Alderman Adam Asks Leniency For Poor Pups

After the heart-rending case of a woman in police court last week who offered to go to jail for her dog, Ald. James Adam came to the defence of the doggies in City council yesterday evening. He pointed out that people had a hard time to keep their dogs tied up all the time and questioned whether it was good policy to summons a persons if they paid their dog tax and then paid the fees to the poundkeeper if the dog was picked up.

"Many citizens would sooner pay $2 or $3 to the pound than pay fifty cents in police court," he said. "I understand that no dogs may roam at large and I would like a full definition on the matter."

This was promised for next meeting.

AUDIT SYSTEM IS URGED FOR AID SOCIETY

Esquimalt Council Wants Financial Reports From Friendly Help in Future

A system of audited financing, with reports on expenditures being given to the council every month, was recommended by the finance committee of the Esquimalt municipal body if the Friendly Help Association of that district were to be made the official organ of relief. The recommendations were presented to the council yesterday evening, following a committee meeting with the Friendly Help earlier in the week.

The following resolutions were approved by the council to be forwarded to the society to assist it in its reorganization.

"That the Municipal auditors be employed for the purpose of creating a proper system of book-keeping and that their books be audited every three months and a copy of the said audit be sent to the council.

"That a monthly report of the secretary and treasurer be made re all cases attended to, the amount of money spent and received from all sources, and that a copy of this report be sent to the council each month.

MUST HAVE SOCIETY'S RATIFICATION

"That no appeal to the council for money be made, unless it is made by resolution of the society at a properly convened meeting, the amount required to be stated in the resolution, a certified copy of which will be sent to the council with the appeal.

"That all cheques of the society be signed by two persons, preferably the president and secretary.

"That a duplicate receipt system of all donations of money or material be used and a true record kept of all the assets of the society.

"We further suggest that the question of wood on the beaches or reverted property be surveyed so that if cut by the unemployed the society could pay for the hauling. This has become necessary on account of the heavy expenditure for the provision of fuel.

"Your committee is also of the opinion that the council should seriously consider the question of "direct relief" from the federal government.

"In conclusion the committee warns that the payment of rents and water accounts, by the municipality, be made only in extreme cases as the financial responsibility will soon to be too great a burden for the municipality to stand."

Fifth Coast Brigade Will Encourage Young Members; Lt.-Col. Monk President

Seventy-five members attended the annual general meeting of the Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade, C.A., Rifle Association under Lieut.-Col. T. B. Monk in the Armories.

Officers elected were: Hon. presidents, General Sir Arthur W. Currie, C. F. Todd, J. W. Spencer and R. P. Butchart; president, Lieut.-Col. T. B. Monk; vice-president, Capt. Burgess J. Gadsen; secretary-treasurer, Battery Q.M.S. H. Fretwell; auditors, Capt. R. E. A. Diespecker and Lieut G. Scott; committee, Sgt. O. B. Newman, Sergeant-Major W. J. Easson, Gunner F. Gale, Sgt. W. J. Sullivan, Bandsmen A. H. Stafford and W. Davis, Gunner W. Rabey, Bmdr. Chipper, Gunner C. Clarke, Gunner A. Wormald and Gunner G. Rosin.

It was announced that the following would present spoons to members who score a possible at the range distance opposite their names as follows: Gunner C. Clarke, 200 yards; Capt. McNaughton, 300 yards; Lieut.-Col. T. B. Monk, 500 yards; Sergeant-Major F. Hatcher, 600 yards; Major A. Kent 600 yards.

PRESENTS CUP

To further interest in shooting for younger members, Capt. Gadsen will present a miniature cup to the "B" class member with the highest average at the end of the season.

"Among the younger shots who showed promise at Heals were Lieut. Aylmer, Lieut. Monk, Sgt. Easson and Gunner Clarke," said Capt Gadsen in the annual report. "The older shots who were prominent in keeping up their end were Major Fred Richardson, R.S.M. Frank Hatcher, Sgt. S. S. Brown and Sgt. Fred Richardson. We must make mention of the fine work done at Toronto and Ottawa by Major Richardson. We are all justly proud of his record last summer for the reason that his entries are made under the name of the Fifth B.C. Coast Brigade."

Buy gloves with that $3 it saves

There are so many things you can buy with that $3 you save by using Listerine Tooth Paste at 25¢ instead of dentifrices in the 50¢ class. Gloves are merely a suggestion.

The makers of Listerine Tooth Paste recommend Pro-phy-lac-tic Tooth Brushes

Women with PERFECT TEETH entrust them only to this gentle dentifrice

THERE is a very definite reason why those with perfect teeth rely only on Listerine Tooth Paste for cleaning.

This modern thrift dentifrice contains remarkable cleansing and polishing agents—noted for their gentle action. We searched for years before discovering them. They are harder than tartar and, consequently, remove it. But they are softer than the precious tooth enamel and are, therefore, harmless to it.

If you are not already using this unusual tooth paste, get a tube today and try it. Compare it with any tooth paste at any price. And judge by results alone.

More than 3,000,000 men and women have made this comparison. Now they pronounce Listerine Tooth Paste their favorite. They like the quick but gentle way it gets rid of discoloration, stains and tartar. They like the thorough way it cleans. The beautiful brilliance it imparts to teeth.

And they welcome that wonderful feeling of freshness it leaves in the mouth—a sensation associated with Listerine itself.

Incidentally, at 25¢ the large tube, Listerine Tooth Paste saves you $3 a year over dentifrices in the 50¢ class, on the basis of a tube per month per person. Lambert Pharmacal Company, Toronto, Canada.

Large Pimples Over Body. Itched and Burned. Cuticura Healed.

"I was bothered with pimples that affected my face, neck, arms and limbs, and spread all over my body. They were very large, and the more I scratched the more they itched and burned. The irritation was almost unbearable, and my clothing aggravated the breaking out. I could not sleep night or day.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I got relief so purchased more, and after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and three and a half boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Joseph Polowy, Hilliard, Alberta.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address Canadian Depot: J. T. Wait Company Limited, Montreal.

HEAD NATIONAL COUNCIL WOMEN TO VISIT CITY

Mrs. J. A. Wilson of Ottawa, Former Victorian, Expected Here in March

Mrs. J. A. Wilson of Ottawa, president of the National Council of Women of Canada, will arrive in Victoria about March 4 in the course of a tour of the local councils of the Dominion, according to word received by Miss Crease, the local president. According to the tentative programme Mrs. Wilson expects to reach Vancouver on March 2, will be in Victoria on March 4, then will proceed to Nanaimo on March 5 or 6, and will again return to Victoria, finally leaving here on March 10. She will probably address the Local Council of Women and the Women's Canadian Club during her stay here.

The news of Mrs. Wilson's projected visit will be of interest not only to clubwomen but also to old-time residents who recall that she lived here with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Tuzo, as a child, residing at the family home on Fairfield Road. Dr. Tuzo's home subsequently became the official residence of the Bank of B.N.A., being in recent years occupied by the late David Doig, and has now been demolished.

Mrs. Wilson has been president of the National Council for four years and last year represented the National Council at the quinquennial meeting of the International Council of Women held in Vienna. She is also president of the Canadian Parks Association, an unusual honor for a woman, and in which office she has done yeoman service in helping to safeguard the national park areas.

Mrs. C. Conacher Returns to City After Highwav Jaunt to Montreal and Return

Savs Victoria Little Known in Middle States; Suogests More Propaganda

Claiming to be the first woman to have traveled from one end of the continent to the other and back by motor stage, Mrs. Connie Conacher returned to the city yesterday with a record of 5,800 miles behind her.

Mrs. Conacher left Victoria on December 14 for Toronto, to spend Christmas with her two daughters, Tony and Grace, who are among Toronto's best known all-round girl athletes.

Before setting out Mrs. Conacher armed herself with packages of literature supplied by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, and while on tour, broadcast the advantages of Victoria as a tourist resort and sportsman's paradise.

She spoke over the radio at Montreal, Omaha and Chevenne and told of the unusual attractions offered by the City of Victoria.

Taking the Gray Line route out of Seattle, Mrs. Conacher proceeded to Portland, where she transferred to the Union Pacific motor stage service. She then followed the "old Oregon Trail," featured in the production of the big film "The Big Trail," followed the Columbia River Highway, the Hood River Valley and over the mountain ranges to Pendleton and thence to Cheyenne, Wyoming.

THROUGH EIGHT STATES

The route taken carried the traveler through the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Wyoming, Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois and Michigan, and thence through the Canadian provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

From Seattle to Montreal the distance covered by road, traveling night and day with rest periods, was 2,900 miles. The same route was covered on the return journey.

Mrs. Conacher says Victoria is comparatively unknown in the states of Illinois and Iowa, with the exception of Chicago, where folders are available in some of the hotels.

ADVERTISE MORE

She is of the opinion that many of the people of these states, who are renowned travelers, would include Victoria and Vancouver Island in their itineraries if this section of the Pacific Coast was more extensively advertised by the placing of illustrated folders in the hotels of the smaller cities of the middle states.

After blazing the trail to the Atlantic Coast and back, Mrs. Conacher, as soon as she landed from Seattle yesterday, called upon Stephen Jones, of the Dominion Hotel, and told him of the advantages of traveling long distances by motor stage.

She was assured by officials of the Gray Line that she was the first woman to travel from coast to coast by stage.

DUCHESS OF ATHOLL REPLIES TO CRITICISMS

Did Not Imply That Settlers in Canada Were Left to Starve

London, Eng., Feb. 17.—The Duchess of Atholl, M.P., has written the editor of The London Times to correct a misapprehension which arose over the report in The Times of her address and that of Miss Eva Hasell, secretary of the Western Canadian Sunday School fund, at a meeting at Westminster School Thursday, February 12. The Duchess denied a suggestion that either she or Miss Hasell had said or implied that children of settlers in Western Canada received no religious instruction and that settlers were left to starve. The letter follows:

"May I correct misapprehensions which appear to have arisen from statements made last Thursday by Miss Eva Hasell and myself at a lecture given by her at which I presided. Neither Miss Hasell nor I stated people had starved in Western Canada. Miss Hasell told the meeting of necessitous cases she had personally met with, but made it clear she had put them in touch with either government, church or Red Cross agencies, which sent immediate relief. Nor did I say that children in Western Canada received no religious instruction at all. What I said on this subject referred only to the official curriculum in the day schools.

"Miss Hasell made clear she and her colleagues were working under the Canadian bishops to fill this gap and that those who desired it were put in touch by them with the church authorities so instruction could be continued by correspondence."

Memorial Day — Frances Willard Memorial Day will be observed at the home of Mrs. Wm. Grant, Bay Street, on Thursday at 3 o'clock. The affair will be held under the auspices of the Central W.C.T.U., and anyone interested will be cordially welcomed. Brief addresses will be given by Dr. Wellington Camp, Mrs. C. C. Spofford, and Mrs. Grant. Tea will be served.

AIMEE STARTS REVIVAL MEET IN SHANGHAI

Evangelist Seeks Permanent Property There For New Angeles Temple

Shanghai, Feb. 17.—Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, announced while leading a spirited revival meeting here to-day, that she was seeking a permanent property in Shanghai on which to erect a miniature Angelus Temple.

The tiny Four-Square Gospel mission in the Chinese quarter was packed with enthusiastic natives as Mrs. McPherson, who yesterday was reported ill in a local hotel, made her pulpit appearance. Only a fraction of her listeners understood English.

Shouting "hallelujah!" and singing her "Four-Square Battle Song," the evengelist captured the fancy of her listeners through an interpreter. She asserted it was one of her produest moments to be able to stand before her Chinese converts and call them "brothers and sisters."

The evangelist's appearance was rewarded with enthusiastic shouting and singing in Chinese from the audience.

A movie camera recorded the entire service, which lasted two hours. The local Four-Square Gospel mission is a small unheated stone building equipped only with wooden benches, a creaky pulpit and a small portable organ. Occasionally Mrs. McPherson took a Chinese baby in her arms as it toddled before the pulpit.

The evangelist said she would sail to-morrow to resume her round-the-world voyage.

CONSERVATIVES HOSTS AT BALL

Nearly 300 Guests at Sessional Dance Yesterday at Hotel

Wives of the cabinet ministers acted as hostesses at the sessional ball held at the Empress Hotel yesterday evening, when nearly 300 guests attended, including members of the Legislature who attended after the dinner at Government House, representatives of the Conservative and Women's Conservative Associations, and a number of civil servants.

In the absence of Premier Tolmie, Hon. R. H. Pooley represented the government. As he entered the ballroom with Mrs. Pooley, a spotlight was turned upon the Attorney-General and the orchestra played "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Among the other members of the government present were: Hon. J. W. Jones and Mrs. Jones, Hon. S. L. Howe and Mrs. Howe, Hon. W. Atkinson and Mrs. Atkinson, Hon. W. A. McKenzie and Mrs. McKenzie, Hon. C. F. Davie and Mrs. Davie, Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Hon. W. C. Shelly and Mrs. Shelly, Hon Nelson Lougheed and Mrs. Lougheed.

Capt. W. E. Tapley acted as master of ceremonies and the committee in charge of arrangements included F. G. Mulliner, chairman; Mrs. Crossan, Mrs Essler, Mrs. W. C. Moresby, R. Campbell, W. A. Clark, J. J. Bothwell, A. S Lock and W. G. Alder.

Among the many guests were Col. Fred Lister and Mrs. Lister, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Michell, Col. Nelson Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Walkem, Miss Bowron, Mr. and Mrs. W C. Moresby, Mr. Lindley Crease, Mr. and Mrs. R. Wootton, Mr. P. M. Linklater, Mayor and Mrs. Herbert Anscomb, Mr. and Mrs. W Dick, Mr. T. Boys' Band W.A. Entertain At Valentine Party

The W.A. of the Victoria Boys' Band entertained the band members, parents and their friends at a Valentine party at Temple Hall, North Park Street, on Saturday evening. About 100 sat down to a supper, during which Alderman James Adam made a very appropriate speech, which was followed by a yo-yo contest that was much enjoyed by all. Douglas Clarke was the winner of this contest, with Douglas Saunders second; Irene Johnson third and F. Johnson consolation. Another feature of the evening's enjoyment was an apple carving contest, won by Howard Parfitt; second, Douglas Clarke; consolation, Wallace Cavett. Frank Merryfield, the Cornish wizard, gave some clever sleight of hand tricks which greatly amused the gathering. A saxophone solo was rendered by Russell Stark; a cornet solo by Bandmaster G. Green; a cornet duet by G. Parrott and R. Taylor, and a cornet solo by W. Fletcher. Selections by the band brought this enjoyable evening to a close.

Frances Willard W.C.T.U. — The monthly meeting of the Frances Willard W.C.T.U. will be held on Thursday at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Rogers, Summit Avenue.

REGULAR PAINS ?

SOME women suffer more than others. Often, when there isn't any need! The pains peculiar to women may be relieved as readily as other pains for which Aspirin is intended. These tablets are always a big help at such times, and never the least bit harmful. (Aspirin does not depress the heart.)

Of course, you are familiar with the use of Aspirin for headache. It brings such prompt relief that sudden headaches needn't upset your plans. It will check a cold, or ease the sorest throat; and comfort the worst sufferer from neuritis and neuralgia.

When your head aches—from any cause—when a cold has settled in your joints or you feel those deep-down pains of rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, take Aspirin and you can count on real relief.

Charles Farrell and Virginia Valli Sail For Honeymoon in Italy

They were married shortly after midnight Saturday at Yonkers, N.Y., by Rev. Ralph Houston, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

They had planned originally to be married Friday and went to Yonkers late in the day where William Corbalis, marriage license clerk, kept his office open after hours awaiting them. After the license had been obtained, Miss Valli remembered that Friday was the thirteenth and demurred at being married on the proverbial day of bad luck, so the party returned to New York to await midnight, when they returned to Yonkers.

Farrell pledged all concerned to secrecy until he and his bride had departed for Italy to-day on the liner Augustus. They plan a three-months' tour.

This is Farrell's first marriage. Miss Valli has been married before and divorced.

MORMON PIONEER DIED IN UTAH

Brigham Young's Daughter Did Much For Town of Cardston, Alta.

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 16.—The death of Mrs. Charles Ora Card, widow of the founder of Cardston, Alta., in Salt Lake City recently, marks the passing of a woman who exercised a far-reaching influence in the life of Alberta, The Edmonton Journal points out in an editorial.

"She accompanied her husband to the site of that town in June, 1887, when there were only three settlers in the vicinity," the article continues. "They laid the foundations of the flourishing Mormon community there. It was a far cry from the little one-room log house which was their first home and around which the town grew, to the present Cardston, dominated as it is by the magnificent temple that typifies the progress achieved in the intervening years.

"To everyone in that part of the province, Mrs. Card was always known as 'Aunt Zina.' To appreciate what a remarkable personality she possessed and for how much her pioneer labor counted, it is necessary to hear what those among whom she lived and to whom she proved such a source of inspiration have to say of her character and her work. She was the daughter of Brigham Young and inherited much of her father's ability and energy. As a speaker she left a deep impression on whatever audience she addressed. She was always organizing dramatic and musical entertainments. In both these fields she displayed rare talent. Tree planting was another passion with her and the beauty of Cardston and its countryside has been greatly enhanced as a consequence."

YOUR BABY and MINE

by Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

HOW CAN BABY BE KEPT DRY AND COMFORTABLE?

Keeping baby comfortable and dry is not always as easy to accomplish as the uninitiated might think. Dozens of diapers daily are required to preserve baby's clothes from dampness. Because constant use of rubber diapers is universally condemned, one must manage in other ways.

Mrs. H. S. says she has always wanted to offer this suggestion through the department to mothers who are still diapering babies. She suggests the use of rubberized material, which has the advantage of not being closed at the legs and, therefore, of not encasing the baby in an air-tight garment.

APPROVED BY DOCTOR

Her letter follows: "I bought an inexpensive crib sheet and cut it into four pieces. When I was at home, I pinned this square to the back of baby's shirt right along with the diaper. Thus she lay on her back with the sheet protecting her clothes and the bed, and it went right along with her when she sat on anyone's lap. When she went out, I pinned it more neatly. My doctor approved this type of covering because it was not air-tight and therefore had no bad effects. The rubber I used was white and had a material base that was very soft and pliable."

As my readers perhaps know I am opposed to the use of rubber panties on babies. Some mothers use them night and day and then wonder why the skin of the baby's legs and buttocks is red and sore. Rubber is air-tight and the great disadvantage is that when there is no visible damage done by a wet diaper the mother may not hurry to change it.

USE SURGICAL GAUZE

My experience has shown that the average mother does not use enough diapering to keep her baby dry. Surgical gauze despite its apparent thinness can be used six layers thick and is soft and very absorbent. It washes easily and dries rapidly. With such a diapering rubber panties need to be used only when the baby is taken out where diapers cannot be changed immediately; the use of them at any other time is quite unnecessary.

At night we have the choice of changing the baby frequently, disturbing his sleep, and chilling him, or of managing some way to diaper him securely. One mother offered the rather unusual suggestion that an all-wool, flannel diaper placed over the ordinary white ones was both warm and absorbent, and prevented the baby from being uncomfortably wet. Flannel absorbs great quantities of water, does not become cold, and the water evaporates easily. When rubber panties are used at night there is no chance of absorption; if the dampness is excessive, it has to go somewhere so creeps up the baby's back, wetting the shirt and nightgown.

This suggestion is especially pertinent to the cold weather; I would not endorse it for warm weather.

MODES CATER TO SLENDER PURSES

Paris Shows Reversible Coats and Two-slip Evening Gowns

Paris, Feb. 17.—Economy for battered bank accounts was the final edict of dressmakers whose showings ended three weeks' exhibition of spring fashions.

DUAL COSTUMES

The showings closed with no change in the style silhouette except a lowering of skirts one or two inches for street wear. As models of practicality for reduced budgets the couturiers displayed half a dozen "dual personality" costumes, including reversible coats, six-blouse suits and wraps to be worn either as coats or dresses.

The suits are designed with seven-eighths length coats and skirts to match, to be worn with any of six different blouses varying from white cottons in hip-length or plaid taffetas to seven-eighths length dressy satin tunics.

The coats are light on one side and dark on the other, permitting interchange for different costumes, and there were short Eton jackets, suitable for wear with several dresses.

The evening mode made concessions to economy with scores of black chiffon lace dresses made with two slips, one black and the other flesh-colored in satin.

STYLISH STOUTS

Smart clothes for stylish stouts were another innovation this season. New clothes designed to flatter the figures of women who weigh had longer, straighter skirts, indefinitely defined waistlines and long coats hanging straight from the shoulder.

Costumes for slim figures retained the normal waistlines and dropped the skirts a few inches, making the hems eleven to thirteen inches from the ground.

Scarfs were used with every kind of costume from sports to evening gowns and novelty belts were outstanding notes in the collections. Sleeves are cut to half or three-quarters length, worn with long gloves. Coats are generally fitted with few fur trims, except on dressy models.

The materials offer a great variety with silks, wools and cottons in monotones, plaids, checks, prints, candy stripes and polka dots. The smartest colors are black, dark blue, brown, green, beige for street wear; reds, bright blues and grass greens for sports; chartreuse, shell pink, pastel blue, white and black for evening wear.

CHORAL SOCIETY ORGANIZED BY NANAIMO GROUP

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, Feb. 17.—A new musical society has been organized in the city and will be known as the Nanaimo Choral Society. Robert Covenay, organist and choirmaster of Haliburton Street United Church, has been appointed conductor. The choir will include some of the best local singers.

Practicing has commenced upon the test pieces for the musical festival to be held here in April. At present there is the likelihood that the major contest for choirs will rest between St. Andrew's United, who have held the shield for two years, and the new Choral Society owing to the decision of the Chemainus choir not to enter this year.

The Native Daughters were hostesses on Saturday afternoon at a well-attended Valentine tea in the Masonic Hall which realized over $50. The tea table was decorated with daffodils, pussy-willows and red hearts. Those presiding at the tea urns were Mesdames Hall, McKenzie, Brown and McGregor, with Messrs Goodall, Contour and Miss Marwick assisting in serving. A fine musical programme was rendered, with Mrs. F. J. Newman as accompanist.

Past regents of Mooseheart Region entertained the members of the Moose Lodge on Friday at a social evening, held in the I.O.O.F. Hall. There was a fine programme of music, games and contests. P. R. Vance presided, and gave a resume of the work of the Mooseheart Lodge. P.D. Bro. W. Fulton also addressed the meeting.

Officers elected by the Chase River Ladies' Clover Leaf Club last week were: President, Mrs. Mercer; treasurer, Mrs. Fewkes (re-elected); secretary, Mrs. Anderton; financial secretary, Mrs. Jones.

COLLEGE ACTORS PRESENT "YELLOW SANDS" FRIDAY

Eden Philpott's Play to Be Offered at Two Performances By Local Company

"Yellow Sands," which will be presented in the High School auditorium next Friday and Saturday, by the Players' Club of Victoria College, was like its predecessor "The Farmer's Wife," the most popular play in London during its long run at the Haymarket Theatre.

The well-balanced cast gives opportunity for the portrayal of varied characters, from the sturdy common sense of Thomas Major, the old fisherman (George Warnock), the delightful whimsically of Miss Tennifer Varwell (Miss Peggy Parsons), the graceless wit of her "black-sheep" brother Richard (Henry Worthington), to the fiery idealism of Joe Varwell (Cyril Chave), and the fresh and individual charm of Lydia Blake (Miss Muriel Davenport), and Emma Major (Miss Helen Harris), who work havoc in the youthful hearts of "Yellow Sands." Other characters add to the fun, and strengthen the impression of idyllic quaintness which characterizes this Devonshire fishing village, the scene of the comedy.

Nothing is nicer in city apartmenes than to let the children raise bulbs. They are so cheerful and fragrant and any growing life is interesting.

ON ROYAL ROAD TO UNTITLED ROMANCE

MOVIE ACTRESS CHARGED WITH THEFT OF RUG

The warrant was based on complaint of L. H. Hillyer, from whom Miss Nolan at one time rented a furnished house. When she moved, he said, she took a $200 rug. Later he found it in the office of a physician, he said. The doctor told him Miss Nolan had given it to him as part payment of a bill.

Pupils' Recital—The monthly piano recital of the pupils of Mrs. MacGovern will be given in the auditorium of North Quadra School at 7.45 o'clock Friday, under the auspices of the P.T.A. A varied programme of piano solos, duets, songs and piano class demonstrations will be given. Jack Southwell, tenor, will sing several numbers.

MARRIED FOLK LIVE LONGEST

But Professor Says Stupidity of Governments Due to Control By Aged

London, Feb. 17.—Marriage would appear to be conductive to longevity, says Dr. Bernard Hollander, the well-known ethical professor. Married folk take more care of themselves. But unhappy marriages, on account of the anxiety and worry they cause, are the surest means to hasten the oncoming of old age.

There are some occupations which obviously tend to shorten lives. The medical man's average duration of life is decidedly low. Only successful lawyers appear to attain a great age, as may be seen in the case of many of our judges. Humorists, philosophers, historians and highly intellectual people, in general, appear to live long. The group which presents the weakest side of longevity is that of the novelists, dramatists and poets, probably because they lead, or used to lead, more irregular lives.

Senile decay before ninety years of age should be regarded as premature. Men often die as trees die, slowly and at the top first. The enormous stupidity, backwardness, and "red-tapeism" of government departments everywhere are probably due in large measure to the fact that they are too much controlled by age, he says.

100 SCRUBWOMEN RESCUED FROM FIRE

New York, Feb. 17.—About 100 scrubwomen, working on the upper floors of the twenty-story office building at 25 Broad Street, were led to safety by patrolmen, when fire, which started on the sixth floor in the office of F. S. Wein & Company, brokers, filled the building with smoke.

Burning insulation intensified the smoke. The scrubwomen were trapped and the firemen heard them calling for help down the elevator shafts. The lights in the building were affected by the fire, flashing on and off and adding to the confusion of the women.

Five patrolmen were sent to the upper floors, and by a stairway in the rear of the building, led the women to an exit on Exchange Place.

Searching through the upper floors the patrolmen also discovered a stenographer and two clerks in the office of Prince & Whitley.

Remodeled With This Low-cost Tile Finish

YOUR kitchen can now become the most colorful, cheerful room in the house by remodeling with Chromite tile finish. Chromite's lustrous surface is easier to keep clean than genuine tile and has fewer joints.

Equal in beauty and durability to real tile, its cost is low—so low in fact that you need no longer endure discolored walls and broken plaster in your old kitchen. This new tile finish is made of a noncorrosive metal base upon which is baked to the hardness of flint the lovely tile finish, which will not crack, chip, scale or discolor. It may be cut, bent and shaped without removing fixtures.

We have an interesting Chromite exhibit which you ought to see, whether you are remodeling kitchen or bathroom or building a new home or other building. Phone and a representative will call with this exhibit and give you an estimate of cost without obligation.

Where! Oh Where! Will Heavyweight Bout Be Taken

* * *

Damon Runyan In Frantic Search for City To Hold Title Fight

* * *

Steve Donoghue Has Heart On Winning His Seventh Derby

* * *

Everton Will Make Return To English First Division Soccer

THE heavyweight championship bout between Max Schmeling and Young Stribling is still a long way off. A place for the fight to light, is still being sought. William F. Carey, president of Madison Square Garden, was in conference in Chicago on Sunday relative to the possibility of holding the bout there but nothing definite has been announced. A number of cities have declared themselves unwilling to entertain for the benefit of the New York Milk Fund.

* * *

Chicago at first seemed anxious to be the site. Then the question of charity came under discussion and voices were raised in protest. The substance of the argument against the fight in Chicago was that Chicago has enough needy of its own without holding benefits for the poor of New York. Promoter Damon Runyan, New York newspaperman, who is handling the affair then called on Cleveland, where a new stadium is being constructed.

* * *

But in Cleveland, more protesting resulted on the grounds that Cleveland, too, has enough needy to take care of without taking up a collection for New York. The hunt is still on for a city where the New York Milk Fund can move in, hold its show, pack up the coin and wave a smiling goodbye. As to the fight itself, there appears to be an amazing change of popular feeling in the support of Schmeling's cause. Even New York is beginning to like the young man from Germany. Maybe the boxing commission has something to do with it.

* * *

In smart fight circles the bout already has taken on the aspect of being a test for Stribling rather than for Schmeling. Old heads in the fight game in New York have pointed out, despite Stribling's high rating by a bunch of boxing writers, and Jack Dempsey's placing of the Georgian first among the heavies, Stribling still has to make good. We too, can still remember the Berlenback-Stribling disappointment and the Loughran-Stribling fiasco. After his engagement with Berlenbach in New York, Stribling received the nickname of "Willie the Clutch" and that still goes in Gotham.

Steve Donoghue, greatest of English jockeys, has been on a tour. He visited Jamaica and won races there and then went to Havana where he had several mounts. He didn't win at Havana but chalked up several thirds. Now he may go to Miami and dally with a few mounts. Donoghue is out to win his seventh English Derby. He will ride one of Sir Victor Sasoon's horses next June. Donoghue, despite the loss of his fortune, accidents and other setbacks, is still a good jockey even although he is forty-seven years of age. He is immortal as far as English racegoers are concerned. He has the greatest derby record with six victories, and surpassed the record of Fred Archer. Donoghue carries his favorite saddle with him wherever he goes. It is the saddle that helped to carry him to so many victories, and he is so attached to it he carries it in his luggage.

Everton are going back. We mean by that statement that Everton are going back into the first division in English football, where they properly belong, judging from the manner in which they are sweeping all opposition aside in the second division and in the English Cup. Their descent into the second division last season was one of those tough breaks that are hard to account for. Everton were among the charter members when the English League was organized, and up until last season had never lost their place in the senior league. Their smashing victory over Grimsby Town on Saturday in the fifth round of the cup shows that the team is right now at the top of its form.

Did you know that Red Faber, who at forty-two is the oldest man playing ball in the big leagues, might not have that distinction if it were not for Rube Waddell. Red and Rube when at Minneapolis in 1911 engaged in one of Rube's favorite pastimes, long-distance throwing. Red threw his arm out and that sore arm sent him to the Western League and caused him to take up spitball. "It is the spitball that has kept me in the big leagues," says Red. After the close of the 1912 season, the former Chicago White Sox star, Isbell, needed money badly and appealed to Charles A. Comiskey to buy Faber. Finally Comiskey bought Faber to help out Isbell, who had Faber under him at Pueblo and Wichita. Pants Rowland, then at Dubuque, and Edward F. Fairfield, who now is managing editor of the Dubuque Times-Herald, recommended Red to Commy, so the old Roman gave Faber a chance on the White Sox-New York Giants world tour of that year.

Victoria "Reps" to Meet Dentists in Return Game Mar. 1

Local Footballers Hope To Score Second Victory Over Sound City Team in Return Engagement of Home And Home Series; Victoria Team Won First Match 3 to 2 Played Here on New Year's Day; "Doc" Poyntz Named Manager; Two Wednesday League Matches To-morrow.

To oppose the Seattle Electro-Dentists in a return match in Seattle on March 1, the Victoria and District Football League at its regular weekly meeting held yesterday evening at the Y.M.C.A. selected an all-star local team. The Victoria team will leave Victoria on Saturday, February 28.

In the opening game of the home and home series here on New Year's Day a Victoria "rep" team defeated the Seattle Dentists by a 3 to 2 score after a thrilling match. At half time the visitors were on the long end of a 2 to 1 count but the locals rallied in the second half and scored the tying and winning goals.

For goal, Louis De Costa, crack Esquimalt goalie, has been given the position. The Docker's custodian is in brilliant form at the present time and on his exhibitions in recent games is just about the best goalie in the city. Fans are still talking about his brilliant display when Esquimalt defeated St. Saviors of Vancouver in the Province Cup. At the two full-back positions will be Leggatt of the Jokers, and Joe Crowe of the Saanich Thistles.

This gives the locals a powerful back division. Crowe and Leggatt are both hefty and sure kickers and will provide fine protection for De Costa.

STRONG HALFBACK LINE

Heal, of the Jokers, will be at right half; Nurse, of Esquimalt, at centre-half and Smith, of Victoria City, at left half. Heal and Smith are both tricky players and feed their forwards well, while Nurse is a wonderful breaker-up. He has been a tower of strength to Esquimalt this season.

"Doc" Poyntz, popular manager of the Victoria West, will make the trip in charge of the team.

Two Wednesday League football matches will be played to-morrow afternoon, with the Garrison opposing Saanich United at Beacon Hill, and the Navy and Hudson's Bay meeting at the Royal Athletic Park. Hewison will referee at Beacon Hill and McKay at the Royal Athletic. Both matches will commence at 2.30 o'clock.

The Navy are at present leading the Pendray Cup series by a single-point margin over Saanich United.

The Hudson's Bay team will be as follows: Shrimpton, Armstrong, Tupman, Oakman, Wright, Woodley, Taylor, Fish, Newell, Small and Davies.

On Saturday two Tolmie Cup matches will be played, with the following teams meeting:

Esquimalt vs. Victoria West at Beacon Hill. Referee, Robb.

AN ALL-STAR MAT SHOW TO BE HELD HERE

Brooks in Return Bout With Young Gotch; Dr. Sarpolis Loses to John Evko

Wrestling fans will have an all-star card presented for their benefit at the Tillicum Gymnasium on Saturday evening, according to word received to-day from Promoter Fred Richardson. Three bouts will be staged, all over the six-round route, and each round of eight minutes duration. The local promoter is offering a show featuring middleweights and lightweights, which will give the fans plenty of action.

In one bout Des Anderson, Seattle, who last week lost his championship engagement to Mervin Barackman, has been matched with Art Riley of Olympia. Jack McLaughlin, crack Vancouver grappler, will step into the ring against Billy Goggins of Tacoma and "Rocky" Brooks, Victoria, has been given a return bout with Young Gotch of Nebraska.

This looks like a fine card and one that will give the fans some first class wrestling, with speed as the keynote.

Seattle, Feb. 17.—Dr. Karl Sarpolis, Cleveland heavyweight wrestler, lost the main event of the mat card here yesterday evening on a foul to John Evko, Jugoslav, in the seventh round of their eight-round match when Sarpolis swung twice on the Jugoslav's chin. Sarpolis's swings followed a scissor clamp which slipped down around Karl's neck. Evko won a fall in the fifth when he pinned Sarpolis with a body slam.

Utica, N.Y., Feb. 17.—Lee Wyckoff, 220, St. Louis, and Stan Stasiak, 255, Boston, wrestled to a draw here yesterday evening. Stasiak took the first fall in forty minutes with a series of flying mares and Wyckoff the second in two minutes and thirty seconds with a double arm lock and body crush. They grappled the remaining time with neither securing the deciding fall.

Kansas City, Feb. 17.—"Jumping Joe" Savoldi, former Notre Dame gridiron star, began his career as a professional wrestler here yesterday evening by defeating Don Delong, billed as the French heavyweight champion.

Savoldi, weighing 204 pounds, felled Delong the first time with a body slam in eight minutes thirty seconds. The second and deciding fall was scored in the same fashion in four minutes two seconds. Delong weighed 222 pounds.

Larry Gains Wins Soft Bout Against Scottish Fighter

Manchester, England, Feb. 17.—Larry Gains, of Toronto, negro heavyweight champion of Canada, defeated Bobby Shields of Scotland here yesterday evening, the referee stopping a poor fight in the third round. Shields was no match for Gains, who took things easy for the short time the melee lasted.

Canadian Women's Open Golf Play Dates Announced

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 17.—The annual open championship of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union will be held at the Toronto Rosedale Golf Club course during the week of September 28, it has been decided.

The United States women's national title will be decided at Buffalo, N.Y., during the week of September 21, and the C.L.G.U. executive believe many of the players who complete in that championship will also enter the Canadian tournament.

CITY SEEKING SECOND HOCKEY BERTH TO-NIGHT

Victory Will Put Them Ahead of Jokers in Senior Roller League

If Victoria City stickhandlers can hurdle D. W. Burnett's squad in the senior roller hockey fixture at the Gray Line rink this evening, they will regain second berth in the loop, replacing the Jokers in that position and coming within a point of the league-leading Plimley and Ritchie squad.

The City boys now stand in third place while the Burnett team is just one jump ahead of the cellar occupants.

In the intermediate fixture Maple Leafs will clash with the Canadians in a lower-rung fixture which will have no definite influence on their division. The first game will start at 7.30 o'clock.

Canadiens—Timothy, Robinson, Anderson, Essler, Bloomfied, Palmer, Pattullo, Leaske and Stringer.

D. W. Burnett's—Smith Cox, Chambers, Gellings, Hebden, Young, McAlister, Attwood, Fish and Marion.

Trail Junior Ice Team Wins Play-off Against Kimberley

Trail, B.C., Feb. 17.—Kimberley Juniors defeated Trail 3 to 2 yesterday evening in the second game of the East and West Kootenay playoffs, but Trail's margin of three goals in the first game gave them the round, 8 to 6. Trail left immediately for Revelstoke to continue in the British Columbia junior playdowns series. It was the most sensational hockey of the season with Kimberley fighting throughout to tie up the series at 6-6 at the end of the second period, and then seeing Trail come out and score two goals in the face of defeat.

Arnott Slaps Home Only Goal to Give Vancouver Victory

Lions Defeat Portland 1 to 0 To Regain Leadership In Pacific Coast Hockey League; Fourth Consecutive Home Victory for Vancouver; Evenly-fought Game With Flashes of Brilliant Hockey; Portland Misses Many Scoring Opportunities; Buccaroos Weakened Through Illness of McGoldrick.

Canadian Press

Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 17.—Vancouver Lions won their fourth consecutive game on home ice yesterday evening and for the fourth consecutive Monday night regained first place in the Pacific Coast Hockey League. The Lions defeated Portland Buccaroos, 1 to 0, in a hotly-contested game, and shoved the Oregon team a little deeper in third place.

It was an evenly-fought contest which ran the gamut from sloppy and uninteresting hockey to lightning-fast and spectacular skating and stickwork. The boys were slow to get started, close checking by both teams somewhat messing up the first period, but an improved second session was followed by a more than interesting final period.

ARNOTT SCORES

The lone goal of the encounter came late in the second period when Jimmy Arnott, Vancouver defenceman, crashed through the opposing rearguard to snare his own rebound and pound the disc home. It was a spectacular counter.

The Bucs missed many good chances in the second frame, while both teams let good scoring opportunities slip by in the fast third period. Penalties late in the final frame spoiled the visitors' chances of tying up the game.

Big Joe McGolderick, Portland defenceman, was absent through iliness. Red Conn, who replaced him played a fine defensive game, but he was missed from his usual place at centre.

Line-ups:

Portland—Aitkenhead, Roulston and Conn, Evans, Maher and Downie. Subs., Runge, Coupez, Teel, Armstrong.

Officials—Sinclair and Rickey.

SUMMARY

First period—No score. Penalties, Jerwa, Downie, Conn, Brennan, Coupez.

QUAKER PLAY BY COOPER SMEATON

There are a great many plays mapped out for hockey teams that only once in a hundred times will bring satisfactory results. Nearly every time a forward line makes a rush up the ice, they have a definite plan in mind, but so many things combine to spoil the play that they are seldom successful. The puck might roll, a player might fall or miss the pass—a hundred and one things might happen. Despite this, organized rushing is the only way to get goals. Here's one by Smeaton of the Philadelphia Quakers: The regular forward line of Jarvis, Milks and Barton get the puck behind their own blue line. Milks, breaking at centre, swerves to his left in front of Jarvis, to whom he passes the puck. Jarvis speeds up and crosses to centre where he lets the puck fly at the goalie from outside the defence, if necessary. In the meantime, Barton, on the other wing, and up to this point, out of the play, comes in from nowhere to take the rebound and smack it right back again. This play sometimes bears fruit, but as mentioned before, you never can tell what is going to happen to a play after it gets started. That's the uncertainty of the game that makes it so thrilling.

Maroons With Backs To Wall Will Battle Frenchmen To-night

Badly In Need of a Win to Retain Chances of Making N.H.L. Play-offs, Former Will Attempt to Put Halt To Canadiens, In What Promises to be Fierce Struggle; New York Americans Oppose Boston; New York Rangers Meet Ottawa; Detroit Entertains Philadelphia in Fourth Contest.

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 17.—With their backs to the wall and the possibility of landing a play-off berth slipping from their grasp, Montreal Maroons hurl themselves against their intra-city rivals, Canadiens, Canadian group leaders, to stay in the championship race at the Forum this evening.

This is the only one of four scheduled National Hockey League fixtures to be contested on Canadian terrian but it stands out as the headliner.

Trailing New York Americans by one point in their private feud for third place the Munromen need victory in the worst way, although their rival Gothamites may find the going equally difficult against Boston Bruins.

RANGERS PLAY OTTAWA

New York Rangers, holders of third place in the United States section, entertain Ottawa Senators in the international tussle. The blue shirts have beaten the luckless Ottawans twice before and hope to take advantage of this encounter by consolidating their hold on the third rung which has been a matter of much dispute between them and Detroit Falcons, who are two points in the rear.

The Detroiters are at home to the lowly Philadelphia Quakers in the fourth engagement and will be a much surprised team if they fail to chalk up a brace of valuable points attained through victory.

To-night's hockey schedule follows:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Ottawa at New York Rangers.
Montreal Maroons at Montreal Canadiens.
New York Americans at Boston.
Philadelphia at Detroit.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

Detroit at Pittsburgh.
Cleveland at London.

CANADIAN-AMERICAN LEAGUE

Providence at Philadelphia.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Minneapolis at Chicago.
Kansas City at Duluth.

MORENZ AND GOODFELLOW ARE IN TIE

Peerless Centre of Canadiens Catches Detroit Star in N.H.L. Scoring Race

Both Have Total of Thirty-seven Points; Bill Cook Still Best Goal Scorer

Montreal, Que., Feb. 17.—For the first time since the early stages of the National Hockey League race, Ebbie Goodfellow, sterling centre-ice sniper of the Detroit Falcons, has been tied for the point leadership. Howie Morenz, the Canadien star, finally overhauled the Detroit marksman, the official figures issued yesterday evening showing that each had thirty-seven points. Morenz had twenty-one goals and Goodfellow twenty, and in the matter of assists Goodfellow led by one. These figures included games of Sunday.

Bill Cook, New York Rangers, continued to hold undisputed sway over the actual scorers of goals. He had accumulated twenty-five, but only six assists, though the total is sufficient to secure him second place in the American Division to Goodfellow. The famous Ranger forward line of the two Cooks and Boucher had amassed more points, the records show, than any other three players from any one club. Their combined points totaled eighty-six, while the compilation of Weiland, Harry Oliver and Clapper, one of the Boston Bruin forward divisions, aggregated seventy-nine. Weiland and Boucher tied for third position among the American Section point makers, each with twenty-eight, while Fred "Bun" Cook and Oliver were even on points for fourth position, each with twenty-seven.

STEWART RUNNER-UP

Nels Stewart, rugged centre of Montreal Maroons, was second to Morenz in the Canadian Division. He scored nineteen goals and provided nine assists Close behind Stewart was the leading pointmaker of Toronto Maple Leafs, Harvey Jackson, left winger of the "kid" line, with twenty-six points.

Harvey Rockburn, Detroit defence man, continued to accumulate penalties at a steady rate. His total has reached 108 minutes, and he was the only player in the league who had passed the 100 mark.

Touring C.P.R. Team Is Beaten

Blairmore, Alta., Feb. 17.—In one of the most interesting hockey games of the season, and before the largest crowd seen in Blairmore in some years, the Blairmore team won from the Canadian Pacific team of Winnipeg by a score of 3 to 2 yesterday evening.

HEAVYWEIGHT BOUT SLATED FOR CHICAGO

Bill Carey Declares Schmeling and Stribling Will Mix It on June 19

Is "Reasonably Certain" Bout Will Be Held in Windy City; Date Satisfactory

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Max Schmeling and W. L. (Young) Stribling will fight for the world heavyweight championship on the night of June 19, and probably at Soldier Field, where Gene Tunney thwarted the comeback attempt of Jack Dempsey in the battle of the long count.

William F. Carey, president and general manager of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, which holds the rights to the services of the boxers, yesterday was quite positive of the date for the spectacle and "reasonably certain" that Chicago would get the fight that has been more or less of a waif since it was projected several months ago.

Carey declined to elaborate on his brief statement, made as he hustled aboard a train for New York. He had visited over the week-end at the home of Sheldon Clarke, who until recently was president of the Chicago Stadium Corporation. His goings and comings in Chicago were unobtrusive, but he was believed to have conferred with George F. Getz, who assisted the late Tex Rickard in the promotion of the Tunney-Dempsey fight, with the result that things were pretty definitely settled—but not for publication.

COMMISSION NOT APPROACHED

The Illinois State Athletic Commission had received no request for sanction of the fight and the South Park Board, which controls Soldier Field, had not been approached on the subject of letting the lakefront stadium.

Should the fight come to Chicago it would be a New York milk fund show promoted by the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois, a subsidiary of the New York Garden, which was organized to handle the Dempsey-Tunney fight in 1927.

June 19 was deemed a good date, as the American Derby, the $50,000 added feature of the Washington Park race meeting, will be decided the next day, and the pair of major attractions might help to draw customers in greater numbers.

Sportsmen Will Build U.S. Entry For Schneider Cup

New York, N.Y., Feb. 17.—The Daily News to-day said a group of young sportsmen had agreed to finance the construction of an United States entry in the Schneider Cup races, to be flown by Alford J. Williams, speed-flyer.

Capt. Campbell Is Sportsman of Highest Type

Speed King of World Dislikes to Drive in Traffic

Holder of World Automobile Speed Record Is Known As "Britain's Most Popular Sportsman"; Loves to Fish and Is Fond of Sailing; Romantically Inclined And Has Searched for Pirate Gold; Finances Own Speed Tests; Goodwill Tour.

By FOSTER HAILEY

New York, Feb. 17.—He would much rather walk than ride—he doesn't like to drive an automobile in traffic. It's dangerous, he thinks.

He has never been arrested for speeding.

He is the world's speed king.

This is Captain Malcolm Campbell, English gentleman, breeder of Alsatian and Airedale dogs, mentioned for knighthood, wealthy by inheritance, a gentleman by birth and breeding, sportsman by choice and holder of the world's automobile speed record.

He loves to fish and will even drop work on his beloved Bluebird II—his champion racing car—to whip a trout stream with a friend.

He is romantic, being one of those who believes in the legend of hidden pirate gold. He has been a member of several expeditions seeking secret caches of pirate plunder along the Spanish Main.

He is fond of sailing and has always had one or two little fellows, which he skippers himself.

LIKES AIRPLANES

He never travels by train when he can travel by plane. He was in the Royal Flying Corps during the World War and has several enemy planes to his credit. He built an airplane in 1909. He won his first medal in a motorcycle race in 1905.

Capt. Campbell flew several hundred miles over the Sahara Desert last year looking for a dry lake bed on which to conduct his automobile speed runs. He found one, but had to abandon the location because he couldn't get his car there.

During this exploration trip his plane had to make a forced landing and he was held captive by the Riffs for several days.

He is an amateur boxer and never misses a big fight, if he is anywhere around. He was very embarrassed when he was discovered at the Vince Dundee-Len Harvey bout in Madison Square Garden the other night and was called to the ring. He was given an ovation such as few men have received there.

Some persons have said they believed his extreme modesty was a pose, but those closest to him say it is a continual source of surprise that anyone should want to make a fuss over him.

HAS MANY FRIENDS

The British captain has a genius for friendship and will not allow ill to be spoken in his presence, even of those unfriendly toward him. He has a score of gold and silver cigarette cases presented to him by dignitaries and the famous of three continents, but his favorite case is a large plain one, given to him by his friends and associates in the motor business and inscribed with their names. It is the only one he ever carried.

Although he dislikes all fuss and ostentation he submits graciously to all requests for interviews and pictures. He endeared himself to the reporters, cameramen and public at Daytona Beach during his recent trials there by his unfailing good humor under the most trying conditions. He has never refused a request for his autograph.

He counts the day lost when home, that he does not walk several miles over the English countryside, with his dogs and his family.

HAS TWO CHILDREN

He is forty-six, looks thirty, married, father of two children. He thinks he may be driving racing cars until he is seventy.

He loves America, he says, and feels very deeply the responsibility to make a good impression on the public. He said he came over as much to aid goodwill between his country and the United States as he did to break a record.

He finances his own speed teests and in the last six years has spent approximately $500,000 on his racing cars.

He has been called "Great Britain's most popular sportsman." He likes the title.

MISS FISHWICK TIES FOR LEAD

British Women's Golf Champion Scores a 78 in Florida Championship

Palm Beach, Feb. 17.—Diana Fishwick started an invasion of the United States by British women golfers here yesterday, scoring a 78 to tie for the medal in the Florida women's championship. Mrs. Stuart Hanley, of Detroit, made a similar score, and she and the English girl will head the first flight as match play begins to-day on the exclusive Palm Beach course in the first of three Florida tournaments that drew the British women to the American links.

Virginia Van Wie, Chicago, who twice before has won the tournament, was two strokes behind the leaders with a 41-39-80. She was followed by Helen Hicks, Hewlett, L.I., with an 81. Peggy Wattles, Buffalo, also had an 81.

IS COOL PLAYER

Miss Fiswick, playing with a cool assurance throughout the eighteen holes qualifying round, got off to a good start on the outbound nine with a card of 36 where par is 34. She played with Marion Bennett, New Britain, Conn.

Drives, that gained distance from Miss Fishwick's peculiarly powerful swing, combined with well-calculated work with the irons and on the greens, to hold her score down on the outward trip. On the 134-yard fourth she scored a birdie deuce with a mashie niblick and a putter.

The return, with a rising wind affecting the play, gave Miss Fishwick greater trouble, and she needed a 42 on the par 34 nine.

REPEATS BIRDIE

She repeated her birdie feat on the fourth hole when she got a deuce on the 150-yard seventeenth to hold her score alongside that of Mrs. Hanley.

Other members of the British team were scattered through the list. Kathleen Garnham was nearest to Miss Fishwick with an 87. Miss Marjorie White and Betty Dix Perkin had 90's, while Jessie Firth was one stroke behind them. Miss Bee Brindle scored a 95, and Misses Monda Dixon and Cecelia Wolesley fell far into the rear with 111 and 116 respectively.

POOR PA

WINNER OF DOG DERBY

Here is Mrs. Thula Geelan of McCall, Idaho, who won the third annual Tahoe-Sierra dog derby on Saturday. Driving a team of eight setter dogs, Mrs. Geelan, the only woman entered in the race, led a field of crack mushers in elapsed time over the two days. Mrs. Geelan will be a competitor in the 200-mile non-stop derby to be staged from The Pas, Manitoba, to Flin Flon Mine and return on March 3 and 4. She will compete with such well-known drivers as Emile St. Godard, Earl Brydges and others. In the above picture Mrs. Geelan is shown with her lead dog.

FIGHTERS IN EXHIBITION AFTER A K.O

Benny Bass and Bud Taylor Put on Extra Rounds After Latter Is Defeated

Taylor Claims Foul; Fighters Appear in Extra Rounds to Appease Fans

Philadelphia, Feb. 17.—Fight fans to-day contemplated a new wrinkle in the fight game—that of a boxer awarded a knockout victory and then fighting a five round exhibition with his opponent just to placate the fans.

The novelty took place at the Arena yesterday evening after Benny Bass, junior lightweight champion, had been awarded a "technical knockout" in the second round over Bud Taylor, Terre Haute, Ind., in a ten-round non-title bout.

Both boys, noted as hefty punchers, concentrated their attack on the body in the opening round, and before it ended Referee Leo Houck ordered Bass to keep his punches "up." They were falling away in the second when Bass shot a left to the stomach. Taylor sank to the canvas claiming a foul. Houck made no count over the boxer, but summoned the club physician. After an examination the physician said Taylor had not been struck low and Houck declared Bass the winner.

The crowd jerred the decision and Frank Weiner, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, after learning that Taylor was willing to continue, ordered Bass back into the ring. Bass returned under protest, contending he had won the fight, but agreed to continue with a five-round no-decision exhibition.

The regulation fight was fast and furious while it lasted, with honors about even. Most of the newspapermen at the ringside favored Bass in the exhibition. Some of the comment on the double-header was:

Taylor—So this is Phelidelphia.

Bass—I didn't foul him.

Chairman Weiner—The blow was low. Taylor said he was willing to continue and I ordered Bass back to fight.

Referee Houck—Nothing to say.

Dr. A. Baron, club physician—The man was not fouled.

J.B.A.A. GIRLS DROP GAME TO SEATTLE TEAM

Accurate shooting and close checking gave the Sanapractic Schoolgirls' hoop team a 28 to 10 victory over the J.B.A.A. girls in one of the best fair-sex fixtures seen in local basketball circles. The Seattle girls turned in a finished exhibition to take the encounter.

In the preliminary game, The Colonist sent the J.B.A.A. Blues down to a 20 to 15 defeat after an exciting tussle.

Seattle—M. Walenta (8), G. Christie (2), J. Milliken (2), A. Kingsbury, A. Stengle (10), C. Guana, L. Rayment (4), M. Richards and E. Dowie (2).

J.B.A.A.—L. Sparks (2), M. Sparks, E. Midgsley (2), I. Crawford (6), G. Taylor, T. Goy, I. Philbrook, K. Freestone and C. Yeamans.

J.B.A.A.—Bull, Burnett, Smith (5), Scott (2), Wright (8), Moses, Alexander and Butler.

Plans Attempt On Auto Record

Peter de Paolo

Dallas, Texas, Feb. 17.—Peter de Paolo, automobile racer, said here yesterday he planned an attempt to better the world automobile speed record of 245 miles an hour, now held by Capt. Malcolm Campbell of England. He hopes to challenge the record in a forty-eight-cylinder, 2,600-horsepower, four-and-a-half-ton, two-motored car capable of doing 300 miles an hour.

When Offence Changes to Defence

By SOL METZGER

This week we'll discuss the question of how basketball attack switches suddenly from defence to offence. In other words, how attack starts from a rebound. Probably more plays are worked from this situation than any other, due to the fact that the team driving for your goal is more readily caught off guard when a rebound is recovered by its opponent than at any other time.

When a guard recovers a rebound off the background he usually is compelled to get rid of the ball. Furthermore, it's a sound principle to pass the ball as far away as posible, as an intercepted pass might give the other team another close up shot for the basket.

The standard passes here are the hook pass and the bounce, both made by the guard recovering the ball. Either is calculated to accomplish the purpose of getting the ball well away from this basket. The hook pass is used for long throws to team-mates who have broken free of their guards, the bounce pass to best get it by intervening opponents. Occasionally the short pass is used for this quick break, as we shall see in to-morrow's article.

Cambridge Picks Crew to Oppose Oxford in March

London, Feb. 17.—After the preliminary weeks of training, Cambridge yesterday selected the boat race crew to encounter Oxford in the historic university boat race on March 21. T. A. Brocklebank is again stroke and the main reliance of the Light Blues, who are one victory ahead of Oxford in the century-old contest.

Fletcher will be at bow in the Light Blue shell: Prodeaux No. 2; Symonds No. 3; Rickett No. 4; Carpmael No. 5; Grey No. 6, and Sergel No. 7. Lankin is coxswain.

The race will be rowed over the same course, the four-and-one-quarter-mile stretch of the Thames between Putney and Mortlake.

Smythe Denies Leafs Seeking Amateur Star

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 17. — Connie Smythe, managing director of the Toronto Maple Leafs, National Hockey League squad, yesterday evening denied reports appearing here to the effect that the Leafs had offered Bruce Paul, defence star of the Nationals, Senior Hockey Association team, $34,000 for a three-year contract.

"The report that we had offered him $34,000 and that he would desert the amateurs after to-morrow night's game, is ridiculous," Smythe said.

San Francisco Teams Win Ice Games in South

San Francisco, Feb. 17.—The San Francisco Tigers defeated the Oakland Sheiks, 2 to 1, in an extra period hockey game yesterday evening. McCloud scored the winning counter during the last minute of the extra period.

Los Angeles, Feb. 17.—The San Francisco Black Hawks swamped the Los Angeles Millionaires, 5 to 1, yesterday evening in a California professional ice hockey league game.

The Black Hawks started slowly, but crashed over three goals in the second period and two more in the final session.

Italian Students Will Learn How To Play Baseball

Monthly Winners Meet in Final At Oak Bay Golf Club

On February 22, at the Victoria Golf Club, the winners of the six monthly competitions will play off in threesomes. A. G. Beasley and H. A. Tomalin, who tied for first place in the sixth monthly, will play off this week for the right to play in the final. The final will consist of thirty-six holes match play against par, with three-quarters of the handicaps allowed. Competitors will arrange their own starting times.

Jack Matson and A. V. Price and A. G. Beasley or H. A. Tomalin.

Victoria High Ruggers Oppose University XV

On the Mount Tolmie grounds tomorrow the Victoria High senior rugby fifteen will meet the University School squad in the black and gold's final game of the year. Both teams are in the pink of condition, and University will be out to collect the scalps of the "high" lads, who have not been defeated this season.

The Victoria High team will be as follows: Stipe, L. Patrick, Chapman, Macmurchie, Robson, Ferguson, Scott, Bristowe, M. Patrick, Johnson, Levy, Sturrock, Fyke, Upward and Gribble.

University Team Scores Easy Win Over Militiamen

Showing the advantages of consistent coaching by means of a far better combination game, University School's fast and tricky rugby fifteen sent the Canadian Scottish intermediates down to a 21 to 0 defeat in an exhibition game played at Mount Tolmie Saturday.

The students were superior to the troops in every department and had little difficulty in hanging up the overwhelming score.

W. Gibson refereed, and the teams were:

Scottish—Christy, H. Hall, T. Hall, R. Hall, Hills, Stark, Thorburn, Rathbone, Anderson, Tyrer, Norris, Crabtree, Horne and Davis.

A. G. Beasley And H. A. Tomalin Tie For Medal Honors

In the sixth men's monthly competition played at the Victoria Golf Club Sunday, A. G. Beasley and H. A. Tomalin tied for first place, each with a score of one down. A. S. G. Musgrave, H. F. Hepburn and Harold Wilson were next in order, all being two down. Beasley and Tomalin will play-off this week for first place. The competition was match play against par with three-quarters of the handicaps allowed.

Complete results follows:

A. G. Beasley	1 down
H. A. Tomalin	1 down
A. S. G. Musgrave	2 down
H. F. Hepburn	2 down
J. Harold Wilson	2 down
L. S. V. York	3 down
H. E. Haynes	4 down
C. W. Pangman	5 down
H. G. Garrett	5 down
A. V. Price	6 down
Don Campbell	6 down
H. P. Johnson	7 down

Ted Moore Winner Over Al Conquest

Saskatoon, Sask. Feb. 17.—Ted-Moore, English middleweight, outpointed Al Conquest, Kamsack heavyweight, in the main ten-round bout of a fight card staged here yesterday evening. Moore had a wide margin on points in nine of the rounds. He floored Conquest twice in the fifth with solid rights and lefts to the solar plexus.

Feesey Cup Play Will Commence At Uplands on Sunday

On Sunday at the Uplands Golf Club the eighteen-hole qualifying round of the Feesey Cup competition will be played. Entries will close on Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock, and the entrance fee is fifty cents. Full handicaps will be allowed in the event. H. G. McKenzie is the present holder of the trophy and will defend his honors.

HOUSTON SHOT WINS

COHEN UNPOPULAR WINNER

Cleveland, Feb. 17.—Mickey Cohen, Cleveland bantamweight, was given an unpopular referee's decision over Phil Tobias of Brooklyn in a six-round bout here yesterday evening. Newspaper men gave Tobias the first, fifth and sixth rounds and about an even break in the other three.

GLORIA SWANSON IS HEARD IN POPULAR SONGS AT CAPITOL

The phenomenal reception accorded the sheet music, phonograph record and radio presentations of the song "Love, Thy Magic Spell Is Everywhere," introduced by Gloria Swanson in her last picture, "The Trespasser," would seem to clearly indicate that fans might do well to jot down the titles of the three songs she offers in her new United Artists talking and singing comedy, "What a Widow!" which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre for a three-day showing.

They are: "Love Is Like a Song," "Say Oui, Cherie" and "You're the One."

The three numbers were written by Vincent Youmans, the highly successful Broadway librettist who has been responsible for such melody successes as "Hallelujah," "Tea for Two," "Sometimes I'm Happy," "More Than You Know," "The One Girl" and countless others heard in such shows as "No, No, Nanette," "Hit the Deck," "Great Day," "Wildflower" and "Rainbow."

RUSSIAN SYMPHONY IS FEATURE OF MUSIC IN PICTURE AT DOMINION

Several distinct variants from the conventional in orchestration were perfected during the filming of "New Moon," in which Lawrence Tibbett and Grace Moore are co-starred at the Dominion Theatre. One of them is the introduction of the strange Russian instruments into the ensemble of a symphony orchestra. This effect was used as an accompaniment to one of Tibbett's dramatic numbers.

In another number, a stirring marching song, the only accompaniment was the rhythmic beat of drums in an army camp. Careful research into sound principle was involved in recording the effects.

This picture is an example of the newer trend in musical films in which the emphasis is placed on the story with the music interpolated at natural points in the plot rather than sung merely for the sake of the songs as was the case in the experimental stage of sound pictures.

RED LA ROCQUE IS AT THE PLAYHOUSE WITH MISS SHEARER

Rod La Rocque, who is seen opposite Norma Shearer in "Let Us be Gay," her new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer starring vehicle which is playing at the Playhouse Theatre, soon expects to blossom forth as an inventor.

With Robert Frazer, La Rocque has been at work perfecting a "self-answering" telephone which, he claims, not only answers in the owner's absence but also takes messages.

Robert Z. Leonard directed the talkization of the Rachel Crothers play. Marie Dressler heads the supporting cast which includes Hedda Hopper, Raymond Hackett, Sally Eilers, Gilbert Emery and Tyrrell Davis.

MANY DEAD TREE STUMPS USED TO PORTRAY FOREST

More than 1,600 dead tree stumps were used in a setting for the opening scenes of Radio Pictures' special talking drama, "The Case of Sergeant Grischa," showing to-day at the Coliseum Theatre. Dozens of men combed the mountainous regions of southern California for weeks seeking ancient pines and redwoods that had been burned in forest fires or blasted by lightning. The dead trees were used to typify a forest which had been subjected to a heavy artillery fire in the World War.

WORKLESS MARCH TO CAPITAL

Parade of Unemployed to Parliament Buildings Brings No Results

Premier Tolmie Discusses Problem in Speech in Legislature

To impress upon the provincial government the need of embarking upon a policy of public works to meet the unemployment problem in British Columbia two hundred or more idle citizens of Victoria marched to the Parliament Buildings yesterday to protest against the Spartan economy policy which threatens to add to the ranks of the unemployed.

REFERRED BACK TO CITY

The unemployed workers representing many branches of industry lined up in an orderly manner in front of the buildings and caused no need of the services of extra policemen who were on hand. William Moulton and James Forbes, as leaders, interviewed Hon. William McKenzie, Minister of Labor, and presented the case for the men. They complained the relief work offered by the city was inadequate to meet the serious situation that had developed. They were told that as far as Victoria was concerned it was a matter for the City Council to deal with. The government was distributing the federal fund voted for unemployment in cities in accordance with the applications of the councils and the men should present their case to the City of Victoria.

The result of the conference was received with mixed feelings when reported to the assembled unemployed and greeted with remarks of "another stall" and "passing the buck again." Plans were made to impress their needs on the City Council with another parade.

DISCUSSED IN HOUSE

The subject of unemployment was touched upon in the House yesterday by Premier Tolmie during his address on the Speech from the Throne. The Premier denied Mr. Pattullo's assertion the government had not anticipated this. There was not a man who was familiar with the lumber and logging industry who did not expect such a condition of unemployment as was experienced in 1930, he said. The present minister of lands had often drawn the cabinet's attention to the matter and in drafting the estimates it had been borne in mind that with many logging camps expected to close down it would be necessary to take care of many idle men.

"NOT PERMANENT"

If the government had not embarked on a big road building policy which at one time kept 7,200 men occupied conditions would have been much more acute in 1930. Unemployment had never been more general in the history of the province because of the fall in the price of the materials British Columbia produced. He took issue with Mr. Pattullo, who said the government was not dealing with unemployment on a fundamental basis. The government preferred to look upon unemployment as an emergency matter not a permanent condition. He expressed appreciation of the manner the federal government had come to the aid of the province in the matter and said the attitude of Premier Bennett was in sharp contrast with that of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King who, he said, claimed before the federal election there was no unemployment problem in British Columbia.

OLD PROMISE EMBARRASSES MR. M'KENZIE

Derisive Laughter Greets Excuse Speech and Platform Were Different

Hon. William McKenzie, Minister of Mines, was greeted with a chorus of derisive laughter from the opposition benches in the Legislature yesterday as T. D. Pattullo, leader of the opposition, read from The Penticton Herald of July 12, 1928, a list of unfulfilled promises which the minister made during the election campaign there.

When Mr. Pattullo had quoted them previously in the Legislature the minister had denied them. Mr. Pattullo claimed they were reported in The Penticton Herald.

"You can't find them in the files of any newspaper in the Province of British Columbia," said Mr. McKenzie. Between times Mr. Pattullo delved into the files of The Penticton Herald and yesterday in the House he read the following extract:

"Mr. McKenzie then dealt with the road situation. He said that he will build the Hope-Princeton Road if returned to power on the 18th. He then went on to point out what the Conservative party will do when they are in control. They will further the consumption of B.C. products, have coke for smelting, will give free lands to settlers. They will build government assay offices, purchasing stations, government smelters, and the roads will be constructed by road commissions. The settlers will be assisted and the government will help in clearing the land. Power plants will be constructed. 'The time is ripe for this policy,' said Mr. McKenzie."

Mr. McKenzie did not deny it.

"What I said was you wouldn't find it in my platform," he weakly protested.

BELLE BENNETT IS GAY YOUNG MOTHER AT THE COLUMBIA

Belle Bennett, featured in Warner Brothers vitaphone production, "Recaptured Love," which is now playing at the Columbia Theatre, is again seen in the role for which she is famous, that of a mother, but this time she is a gay young mother who enlists the aid of her son to cleverly win back her wandering husband.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING RATES

Minimum charge, 25c.
$1.25 per line per month.
Minimum charge, $2.50.

Births, $1.00 per insertion.
Marriages, $1.50 per insertion.
Deaths, $1.50 first insertion, and $1.00 succeeding insertions.
Funeral Notices, In Memoriam Notices and Cards of Thanks, $1.50 per insertion.

In computing the number of words in an advertisement, estimate groups of three or less figures as one word. Dollar marks and all abbreviations count as one word.

In estimating the number of lines in an advertisement, count five words for the first two lines and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute guide to the number of lines, much depending on the length of the individual words.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue. Any claim for rebate on account of errors or omissions must be made within thirty days from the date of the same, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

Advertisers who desire it may have replies addressed to a box at The Times Office and forwarded to their private address. A charge of 10c is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed should notify this office, as well as the carrier. If your Times is missing, phone E7522 before 8 p.m., and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

Young Chinese Boy Of Victoria Yo-Yo Champ

Harvey Lowe, twelve-year-old son of Mrs. Seto Lowe of Fisgard Street, left over the week-end for Toronto to give demonstrations ofr the Duncan Yo-Yo Company, which firm he will represent in the east. It is expected he will be away until late in the summer and will travel all over the Dominion.

Young Lowe sprang to the fore among the Yo-Yo experts when the Duncan Company staged contests in the city last week. He was immediately declared a "find," and was sent to Vancouver to meet Donald Boyd, the champion there. But Donald Boyd was unable to meet the Victoria champion, so arrangements were made to send young Lowe east.

RELIGION IN OLDEN EGYPT

Love of life and fear of death explain many things about the religion of the ancient Egyptians. They watched the sun, and saw how its warm rays caused crops to grow, supplying the food which was needed to keep people alive. Then they took part in the cult of sun worship.

UNCLE RAY

Instead of praying directly to the sun, the Egyptians gave worship to a god who was supposed to carry the sun from east to west each day. This god was for a long time called "Ra," but in the city of Thebes the people began to call the sun-god "Amen." This led to a double name —"Amen-Ra."

Tall, pointed columns called "obelisks" were reared in Egypt, and these are believed to have been set up in honor of the sun-god. Within recent times, one of these obelisks was taken from Egypt and set up in London, while another was taken to New York.

Egyptians believed that when a person died his spirit or "double" went to a place under the earth. If it escaped certain dangers, it would reach the "Fields of Aalu."

Life in the Fields of Aalu was supposed to be very much like life on earth. There were fields to plough and crops to raise.

Men who were in the custom of having work done for them, feared that the next life might not be pleasant if they had to work. This probably explains why small images of servants were often buried with mummies of wealthy folk.

There is reason to suspect that servants were sometimes put to death when the master died; but this practice was not common during the period for which we have good records. It was much less unkind to bury images of servants with the master than to bury the servants themselves.

SURVEY OF 5,000 GIRLS SHOW MODERN HYGIENE PRODUCES TALLER AND STURDIER TYPE

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

The point has been made repeatedly that the application of modern rules of hygiene and healthful living ought to produce a better type of human being physically than existed in the past.

In 1915, E. E. Jacobs began a study of the available data regarding freshman girls in colleges. He selected this type because accurate data were available concerning them, since they are examined at the time of their entrance into school. They are of an age, in most instances, when they have not yet begun to use tobacco and alcohol.

The only physical training they have had is such as they get in the high school and they do not show the effects of venereal disease or childbirth. He took the records of five colleges, drawing students from all over the country. In some of the colleges the available records go back as far as 1881. The total number of girls studied was 5,650 and the years covered were from 1882 to 1915.

In 1930 another study was made of the freshman girls from the same five institutions. The points particularly noted were age, weight, height, lung capacity, girth of the patient and vital index. The figures show definite progress in the physical quality of the material concerned.

If the forty-nine years of investigation are divided into three periods of little over fifteen years each, the figures show that freshman girls in the first period were on the average of 19.2 years of age, in the second period 18.6, and in the third period 18.5.

The weight of the girls on the average in the first period was 113.8 pounds, the second period 118.9, and the third 123.2 pounds. Their height for the first period was 159.5 centimetres, the second period 160.6, and the third period 161.6. The lung capacity increased from 150.6 to 160.7 and to 165.6. The girth of the patient from 78.1 to 80.7 and the third group has also a girth of 80.7.

Finally, the vital index increased from 13.3 to 13.8. These studies indicate that the girls entering colleges to-day are taller, heavier, somewhat younger, and, in general, of better physical vigor than the girls of thirty and of forty-five years ago. This is probably due to better health conditions in homes and to the application of better methods of hygiene and more healthful living.

Billy Townsend And Tod Morgan Battle To-night

Los Angeles, Feb. 17.—Tod Morgan, not so long since, junior lightweight champion, will battle the hard hitting Billy Townsend, Vancouver, B.C., welterweight, in the ten-round feature here to-night.

Early last year the pair fought to a draw in a lightweight struggle, but since then both have put on considerable weight. While many expect the former titleholder from Los Angeles to win, anything might happen with Townsend boasting four knockouts in the last half-dozen encounters.

WHEAT POOL PLAN GIVEN LEADERS' AID

100 Per Cent Scheme in Saskatchewan Declared Free of B.C. Market Act Defects

Saskatoon, Sask., Feb. 17.—The decision of the Supreme Court of Canada holding the B.C. Produce Marketing Act defective will have no effect on proposed 100 per cent pool legislation in Saskatchewan, in the opinion of George H. Williams, president of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan section, commenting on the court ruling. Mr. Williams stated the two pieces of legislation were not in any way comparable.

Eminent constitutional authorities consulted believed enactment of the proposed grain marketing legislation was within the powers of the province, said Mr. Williams. Legality of the act had been taken up by Saskatchewan pool officials with one of the best known constitutional lawyers in the Dominion, O. M. Biggar of Ottawa, and word had just been received from R. H. Milliken, pool solicitor, to the effect that Mr. Biggar endorsed the terms of the bill and had given his legal opinion it was constitutional.

MINOR CHANGES

Aaron Sapiro, outstanding corporation lawyer and marketing expert, had also been consulted by the pool and had approved the legislation, suggesting only minor changes.

The vital difference between the two acts, declared Mr. Williams, was that British Columbia legislation provided for price fixing whereby the board of control set prices for fruit sold outside of British Columbia, whereas the Saskatchewan Grain Marketing Act would provide for wheat to be delivered to a Saskatchewan body within the province. In no instance did the British Columbia legislation require that the fruit be delivered to the board within the province of British Columbia. Wheat when delivered would become the property of the 100 per cent pool and hence no question such as that which had arisen in British Columbia could come up in Saskatchewan.

Soviet Floods Argentine With Dumped Goods

Buenos Aires, Feb. 17.—The Soviet is "dumping" all kinds of raw materials and manufactured goods on the Argentine market in quantities which are not only damaging Argentine import trade from those countries which Russia looks upon as dangerous industrial competitors and political enemies but also are threatening disaster to Argentine industries.

Entire cargoes of Soviet products have recently arrived at Argentine ports to be disposed of without regard to any fixed price, and they are being sold cheaper than the cheapest competing article in the market. Sometimes the competing article is imported, but very often it is one of those products produced by Argentine factories under governmental production measures which enable them to undersell other imported goods. But they cannot undersell Soviet products because no matter how low the price may be the Russian product is offered at a lower price.

The quantity of Soviet products being so offered is alarming local manufacturers, who now have formally petitioned the Provisional Government to prohibit the importation of all Soviet products, arguing that Russian goods are produced by forced labor under State supervision and under an economic regime with which Argentine manufacturers cannot possibly compete.

South Africa And England Draw In Fourth Test Match

Johannesburg, South Africa, Feb. 17.—The fourth test match between England and South Africa ended in a draw to-day. England made 442 for first innings and 169 for nine wickets declared. South Africa scored 295 for first innings and 280 for seven wickets close.

New York, Feb. 17.—Len Harvey, British middleweight, and Jackie Fields, former welterweight champion, were signed yesterday to meet in Madison Square Garden on March 13.

MAGNESIA BEST FOR GASSY STOMACH

Bisurated Magnesia Promptly Ends Gas, Sourness and Acid Indigestion

If everything you eat turns to gas and your stomach is a constant ferment of sourness and Acid Indigestion, try taking a little pure Bisurated Magnesia after meals for a while and get the immediate relief from stomach trouble this simple prescription unfailingly gives.

It is a serious mistake to seek relief from Indigestion or a bad stomach by using pepsin or other artificial digestants. You get relief but weaken the stomach and do not reach the cause which, nine times in ten, is simply "too much acid" in the stomach. Bisurated Magnesia, taken after meals, dissolves or neutralizes this acid, sweetens and cleans up the stomach, drives out gas and bloat and lets the stomach digest your food as nature intended without a particle of trouble.

Reliable druggists everywhere supply the genuine Bisurated Magnesia in both powder and tablets in sealed packages. Do not confuse with ordinary citrate, milk or lump magnesia. Be sure to get Bisurated, which is not a laxative and is especially prepared for stomach trouble. (Advt.)

OBITUARY

The remains of Charles Patrick Thomas, who passed away at Vernon Villa yesterday, aged thirteen years, will be forwarded on February 21 to his home at Kakawis, B.C., for services and interment. The B.C. Funeral Company has charge of the arrangements.

The funeral of William Daily, who passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday, aged seventy-five, will be held from the B.C. Funeral Chapel on Thursday at 3.45 o'clock, proceeding to St. Andrew's Cathedral for services at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made in Ross Bay cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Stuart Griffin, who passed away in this city Saturday will be held to-morrow afternoon, the cortege leaving the S. J. Curry & Son Funeral Home at 2 o'clock, proceeding to South Saanich United Church, where service will be held at 2.45 o'clock. Rev. Thomas Keyworth will officiate and interment will be made in Shady Creek Cemetery, Saanichton.

The funeral of Ruth Reta Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Graves of 2925 Prior Street, took place this morning, the cortege leaving the residence at 8.40 o'clock and at 9 o'clock high mass was sung at St. Andrew's Cathedral by Rev. Father J. H. Gaudette. Relatives and many friends were in attendance and the many beautiful flowers covered the casket. T. Leahy, A. Leonard, B. Murphy and Wm. Fletcher acted as pallbearers and the remains were laid to rest in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The remains of Charles Edward Stewart were laid to rest in St. Luke's churchyard yesterday afternoon, the funeral taking place from Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 2 o'clock, proceeding to St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, where services were conducted by Rev. S. Ryall at 2.30 o'clock. The hymn sung was "Abide With Me," and the Twenty-third Psalm was also sung. Many friends attended, and the casket was covered with beautiful floral offerings. The pallbearers were A. Mallett, W. H. Gyles, T. W. Beaumont and G. R. Hunter.

The funeral of Charles Henry Gillan, who passed away last Friday at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, took place yesterday, leaving the Sands Funeral Chapel at 1.15 o'clock, and at 2 o'clock services were conducted at St. Saviour's Church, Mount Newton, by Rev. J. S. Bastin. Relatives and a large gathering of friends were present, and there were many beautiful flowers. The hymns sung were: "Breathe On Me," and "Abide With Me." The remains were laid to rest in the church cemetery. The pallbearers were: Capt. de Gray, J. S. Foster, M. Manson, J. Ivan Seabrook, Reg. Seabrook and P. Jeune.

Funeral services were held yesterday evening in McCall Bros.' Funeral Chapel for Miss Barbara Ferguson Stewart. Rev. W. G. Wilson, D.D., assisted by Rev. Bruce Gray, conducted the service, during which the hymn, "Rock of Ages," was sung. "O Rest in the Lord" was also sung as a solo by Miss Grace Platt, Miss Helen Moore presiding at the organ. The remains were forwarded on the midnight boat en route to Winnipeg, where interment will be made, the following being the pallbearers: S. J. Drake, S. E. Lang, J. Strang, J. S. Conibear, D. M. Drummond and McD. Potts of Portland.

Funeral services were held at the T. Edwards Company Funeral Chapel, Vancouver, to-day at 2.30 o'clock for William Reynolds, eldest son of Rev. G. A. and Mrs. Reynolds of First Baptist Church, Victoria, who passed away in the mainland city on Saturday, in his twenty-second year. Rev. A. W. Ward officiated, assisted by Rev. David Long and Rev. Henry Knox, and interment was made in Ocean View Burial Park. The young man was an active member of Jackson Avenue Baptist Church, Vancouver, and is survived by his parents, two sisters and one brother, Mary, Jessie, and David Reynolds, at the family residence, 2160 Beach Drive, Victoria.

CHIEF JUSTICE GIVES REPROOF TO BARRISTER

Stuart Henderson Told to Moderate Protests to Appeal Court

Court Reserves Judgment in Zarrelli and Newell Spotlight Case

The British Columbia Court of Appeal this morning reserved judgment in the appeals of Luigi Zarrelli and Thomas Newell against sentences of forty-five days each for having a spotlight in their possession when hunting at Goldstream last November. The sentences were imposed by Judge P. S. Lampman after the Crown had appealed to the County Court from dismissal of the charges by Magistrate Jay.

For the appellants Stuart Henderson argued that omission from the proceedings of evidence that the trial judge had jurisdiction completely barred the validity of the trial.

Chief Justice Macdonald having commented upon the requirement of the Game Act that the trial be held before the nearest court, Mr. Henderson commented he was not getting a proper hearing and had not got it yesterday, and remarked "it is beginning to get under my skin."

The Chief Justice reproved Mr. Henderson, remarking "you must conduct yourself before this court in a proper manner," and added: "You have taken an improper course upon other occasions and it is beginning to get under the skin of this court."

Mr. Henderson explained that he intended to go no further with the matter and the exchange terminated when His Lordship remarked, "You appear to have already gone somewhat too far."

This afternoon the court is hearing Arbuthnot vs. Green et al, an appeal against consolidation of three actions concerning Round Island Coal Mines. C. H. O'Halloran is appearing for John Arbuthnot, P. R. Leighton for John B. Green, D. S. Tait for the Consumers' Coal Company Limited, and M. B. Jackson, K.C., for C. C. Michener.

Magistrate George Jay has been confined to his home for several days by illness. His place on the police Court bench is taken by C. J. Prior, J.P.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Ward 7 Saanich Liberal Association will hold a partner whist drive on Wednesday, February 18, at Hampton Hall, at 8 p.m.

J. C. Hocking was appointed by the City Council yesterday evening as the representative of the master plumbers on the plumbing examination board.

The City Council yesterday evening endorsed a proposal of the Winnipeg Council to have Boxing Day designated as a public holiday throughout Canada.

The adjourned annual meeting of the B.C. Agricultural Association will be held in the City Hall on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

The whist drive scheduled to have been held this evening by members of the Spiritualist Temple at 1414 Douglas Street, has been postponed and will be replaced by a business meeting.

Yesterday evening the Metropolitan Young People held a Valentine social, a large number being present. A very enjoyable evening was spent in games, after which refreshments were served. At the next meeting of the society a mock trial will be held.

Ward Two Victoria Liberals will hold a general meeting on Thursday, February 19, at 8 p.m., in the association rooms at Government and Broughton Streets. A ward executive will be appointed and other important business transacted. All interested Liberals are urged to attend.

Westminster Paper Company Limited entertained the paper jobbers and their salesmen at the Empress Hotel yesterday, announcing advertising and sales policies for 1931 for the products of their mills. The plan was outlined by C. T. Radcliffe, their Westminster sales manager, and C. P. Constantine, their advertising agent.

Replacing Dr. J. S. McCallum, Councillor A. Lockley was appointed Esquimalt's delegate on the Royal Jubilee Hospital Board at the municipality's council meeting yesterday evening. His knowledge of the financial affairs of the district with their relation to the hospital is expected to be of value in his new position.

The Shantymen's Christian Association public meeting, announced to take place to-morrow night at the Y.W.C.A., has been postponed until next week. Dr. Hooper, general superintendent from Toronto, is not expected to arrive here until next Tuesday. The date and place of meeting will be announced later.

Endorsation of the silver stabilization resolution passed by the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce recently was given by the local chamber's directors at yesterday's luncheon. The resolution called for the support of international silver interests and advocated government conferences attempting to stabilize the monetary value of the metal be accellerated.

Arguments in favor of the establishment of a minimum wage for bakers and breadwagon drivers were presented to the Minimum Wage Board on Saturday. A petition was received signed by eighty-seven per cent. of drivers in Victoria asking a minimum wage be set. J. D. McNiven, chairman of the board, intimated it would be necessary to hear evidence in other parts of the province before reaching a decision.

The Friendly Help Association is appealing for gifts of shoes, particularly for men and children. Many unemployed, who are being given work by the city in clearing ditches and similar work, are sadly handicapped by lack of decent footwear and in consequence suffer much misery with wet, cold feet. Many children, too, need shoes in which to attend school, and anyone having outgrown wearable shoes is kindly requested to send them to the association headquarters in the Market Building.

Smart blue patrols will soon replace the drab khaki uniform of the men of the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade. A generous response from citizens to an appeal for funds to provide the uniforms met with a ready response and the 250 men in the unit will soon appear in a manner justifying the name of the "Dandy Fifth." It is interesting to note that the cloth for the uniforms was made at the woolen mills in Victoria and will be tailored in Vancouver. The caps will be made in the east so that the men of the fifth will represent an all-Canadian turnout.

The gasoline ship City of Michigan, a seiner, was turned over to Marshal-in-Admiralty H. W. Goggin by Mr. Justice Martin of the Admiralty Court yesterday afternoon. The boat will be sold to meet the demands of the Quathiaski Cove Canning Company, controlled by W. E. Anderson. Roy W. Ginn, of Vancouver, informed the court there was $3,976.49 owing to the cannery for the boat and various advances. The value of the boat at present was placed at not more than $1,000. The marshal was given by the court a free hand in the disposal of the boat.

EXPECT HIGHER SCHOOL TAXES

Estimates in Esquimalt Are Slightly Lower This Year But Surplus Smaller

Although the Esquimalt School Board, by dint of hard work and rigid pruning, cut the estimated expenditures for educational purposes to a figure $15 below that of 1930, the ratepayers of Esquimalt will have to find aproximately $1,500 more for schools this year than they did last, it was revealed in the estimates submitted to the Esquimalt Council yesterday evening. Last year the estimated expenditures were set at $34,279, against $34,264 for 1931.

The drop in the surplus will involve an increase from $30,571 in 1930 to approximately $32,000 in the amount which will have to be collected from the taxpayers this year.

DEFER SALARY INCREASES

Practicing rigid economy, the board had decided to defer the regular increases in teachers' salaries and had pruned other costs which were not vitally necessary to the administration of school affairs in the district, the council was told.

The effect of the drop in the surplus on the school mill rate is expected to boost it slightly.

HUDSON'S BAY STORE FORMS BEAVER CLUB

Over 400 Attend Big Function; Victoria Store Makes Fine Showing

Nearly 400 members of the Hudson's Bay Company staff were entertained by the management yesterday evening at a banquet held in the store dining-room and afterwards at a dance in the Shrine Auditorium, where the guests were joined by a large number of friends. The occasion was also the annual meeting of the Employees' Association, when reports for the year were submitted and new officers elected.

To conform with the decision to inaugurate Beaver Clubs throughout the company's service wherever there is a aggregation of employees, from London, England, to Victoria, the name of Hudson's Bay Employees' Association was changed yesterday evening to the Beaver Club, and a new constitution embodying practically the whole of the old constitution was enthusiastically adopted.

Manager A. J. Watson presided at the banquet, and with him at the head table were the retiring members of the association's executive and several employees who have been in the company's service for over fifteen years.

Guests of honor included, C. H. French, recently retired fur trade commissioner, who is now making his home in Victoria, and A. Nicholson, M. S. Beeston and Walter Fowles, all holders of Hudson's Bay Company long service medals. Dr. R. L. Miller, the store physician, was also present.

Mr. Watson in welcoming the guests on behalf of the company, expressed his appreciation of the splendid support and co-operation received from every member of the staff during the year.

STOOD DEPRESSION WELL

Mr. Watson said that during the present or recent depression Victoria had been among the most favored cities in the whole of Canada, and that the Victoria store of the Hudson's Bay Company had weathered the depression so far better than any other store in the company's chain. He looked forward to the future with the utmost confidence. In the course of his remarks Mr. Watson referred to the presence of thirteen employees whose aggregate service with the company amounted to over 300 years.

In a few well-chosen words Mr. French said he considered it an honor to be present at the function. He congratulated the store upon having as its manager Mr. Watson, whom he had known personally for a great many years.

In his annual report as president of the Hudson's Bay Employees' Association, Mr. Watson commented upon the successful year which the organization had enjoyed and congratulated the membership upon being one hundred per cent. of the staff employed.

GOOD GLEE CLUB

One of the outstanding features of the year, he said, was the formation and success of the Glee Club under the able direction of Joseph Maquire. He considered it filled a very important part in the association activities.

It was satisfactory to note that during the year there had been less sickness among the members. One hundred and fifty-four claims had been met and over $3,000 paid out in sick benefits. The total income received by the welfare branch had amounted to $3,999.70, of which sum the Hudson's Bay Company had contributed $1,999.85, he said. It should be a source of much satisfaction to the members as a whole, Mr. Watson said, to know that they were able to assist so many of their associates during time of sickness.

Mr. Watson made a strong appeal to all members to exert very special efforts this year toward giving assistance in the work of the organization, particularly in the social and athletic branches. Workers were needed to carry on the various activities and the younger members, men and women, should be eager to ally themselves with one or another of the various committees. In this way they could give much assistance and at the same time gain valuable experience.

THANK OLD OFFICERS

Special thanks were due to the members of the retiring executive for their conscientious work during the year. It was fitting, Mr. Watson said, to make special mention of the work of R. Eaton, chairman of the sports committee; J. H. Grant, chairman of the social committee, and W. V. Merryweather, treasurer. T. Wilkinson had, as usual, given of his time and energy to the best interests of the association.

In closing, Mr. Watson expressed the hope that under the new constitution the Beaver Club would prosper and continue to do much good among the many employees of the great Hudson's Bay Company all over the world.

SPORTING ACTIVITIES

In presenting his annual report as chairman of the athletic committee, Mr. Eaton stated that no less than 145 of the members were now actively participating in the various branches of sport. These branches included ball, basketball, carpet bowling, badfootball, cricket, lawn bowling, softminton and five and ten-pin bowling. Mr. Eaton specially thanked the following members for the valuable assistance in the sporting activities of the year: E. V. Sellars, S. Campion, Geo McAdam and Mrs. Edna Matthews.

Reports were also presented by the secretary, T. Wilkinson, by W. V. Merryweather, the treasurer, and by J. H. Grant, chairman of the social committee.

PRESENTATION OF CUPS

Following the presentation of reports several silver cups were presented to winners in the badminton and carpet bowling championship. Miss J. Pearson and Don Fish were awarded the W. H. Smith silver cup for the badminton championship; Miss V. Rounds the carpet bowling ladies' singles championship cup donated by R. Eaton; Miss Fishlock and Miss Ingledew the ladies' doubles championship cup presented by A. J. Watson; Geo. Bentley the men's singles cup donated by J. S. Horne; J. Walton and J. Barnes the men's doubles championship cup donated by W. T. Edgecombe, while the rinks championship cup donated by E. H. Wilson was awarded to S. Campion, G. McAdams, J. Chambers and T. Wilkinson.

Percy Shrimpton, as captain of the store cricket team, was presented with the Payne Cup, emblematic of the championship of the Wednesday Cricket League.

The new executive board of the Beaver Club, elected by acclamation, follows: P. J. Parker, hon. president; A. J. Watson, J. S. Horne, T. Wilkinson, W. V. Merryweather, R. Eaton, V. Nicholls, J. Maguire, Miss G. Allen and Miss G. Bowden.

At the Shrine Hall card games were arranged for those who did not care to dance, the prize winners being: First ladies', Mrs. Gauld; ladies' consolation, Miss L. Toye; first gentlemen's, Mr. Rowarth, and men's consolation, Dr. R. L. Miller.

A feature of the evening was the rendering of several numbers by the Employees' Glee Club under the direction of Mr. Maguire. A. E. Kidd also contributed to the enjoyment of the evening by a sleight of hand performance.

NOTES OF THE LEGISLATURE

The much debated beer question has been brought to the attention of the Legislature. Answers are awaited by A. M. Manson, K.C., as to whether it is the intention of the government to proceed with the action against the breweries for alleged shortage of supply. Much publicity was given several weeks ago when the action was launched.

Questions are asked by L. A. Hanna, Alberni, Liberal, as to whether Hugh Davidson voluntarily resigned as chairman of the Liquor Board, and if any bonus were paid to him on relinquishing the office.

Motor license fees collected in British Columbia for the year 1929 amounted to $2,097,598.21, and for 1930 to $2,174,596.89. F. MacPherson, Liberal, Cranbrook, is informed in answer to a question put to Attorney-General Pooley.

Export rates on fruit from Okanagan points to Vancouver have been lowered by the railway companies from 40 cents to 34¼ cents a hundred pounds in carlots, Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, states in answer to questions on the order papers. Victoria had not an export rate previously but has now a 38-cent rate for export. Apples and pears are affected by the rates.

The Sanford Evans report on Okanagan fruit conditions cost the government $28,301.64, the Minister of Agriculture has informed the Legislature. Of that amount Mr. Evans received $12,730 and personal expenses of $2,024.45.

Mr. Manson mentioned in the House yesterday that the commissioner's rate of pay was $50 a day. Mr. Evans has completed the task assigned him.

The new carpet for the Legislative Chamber cost $3,150, George S. Pearson, Liberal, Nanaimo, is informed by Hon. R. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works. The carpet required was of special Canadian manufacture and tenders were not called.

One thousand and twenty-three pupils have taken advantage of the correspondence high school course since it was instituted, Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, reports. Four full-time and six part-time instructors examine the papers.

Hon. W. C. Shelly was made honorary president. Hon. R. W. Bruhn and A. M. Manson, K.C., honorary vice-presidents, and F. J. Merriman, president, at the annual meeting of the Press Gallery yesterday.

Lieut.-Governor Bruce, Miss Mackenzie, Miss Betty Ward and A. M. D. Fairbairn will comprise the Governor's party to take part in the joint conference of Washington and British Columbia Legislators at Olympia, Thursday. Premier and Mrs. Tolmie, Hon. W. A. and Mrs. McKenzie, Hon. R. L. and Mrs. Maitland, Major Gordon Smith of the Provincial Information Bureau, and Miss Dennison, the Premier's secretary, will also take part in the goodwill tour.

They will leave Victoria Wednesday night and after functions at Seattle and Tacoma, arrive at the Washington State capitol Thursday afternoon, to be received by Governor Hartley. Talks by Lieut.-Governor Bruce and Premier Tolmie will be given at a session of the Washington Legislature, Thursday evening, when colored views of the Twilight caravan will be shown.

Legislation for unemployment insurance was asked by a delegation representing the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Building Trades Council, which waited on the government this morning.

Amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act were sought by the same delegation to cover men who are employed by persons not classed as employers under the act, such as owners having alterations made to properties. Legislation similar to the federal government's eight hour day and fair wages act, to apply to those engaged on provincial government work, was also suggested.

GOVERNMENT PREPARES FOR BEER SUIT

Gets Court to Resurrect Defunct Amalgamated Agency of Brewers

Preparatory to the launching of the government's suit for $280,000 against the B.C. Brewers for alleged short barrel measure during the term of the contract under which the brewers' central selling agency has been supplying the whole of the government's requirements, A. M. Johnson, K.C., today asked for and got an order from Mr. Justice Murphy of the Supreme Court restoring of the Supreme Brewers' Agency of B.C. to the registry of companies in this province.

He explained that as the government's contract was with this agency, it was necessary for the government to sue the brewers in the name of this agency. The brewers had allowed the Amalgamated to be dropped from the list of B.C. companies and for the purpose of the government's suit it was necessary that the registry be revived.

NO RIGHT TO SELL SHARES COURT TOLD

Arthur G. Graham Complains of Stock Being Sold Without His Authority

With the defence counsel protesting the jurisdiction of Magistrate C. J. Prior to hear the case and refusing to stay in the court while the prosecution submitted evidence, preliminary hearing of Branson, Brown & Co. Ltd., on a charge of theft by conversion, was held in the City Police Court this morning. The company was committed for trial at the end of the hearing.

H. A. MacLean, K.C., counsel for the company, protested the jurisdiction of the magistrate on two points, first because the only way a company could be proceeded against on an indictable offence was by way of an indictment from the attorney-general or judge of the grand jury, and secondly because a corporation could not be charged with a criminal offence in which intent was prescribed as part of the charge.

The objections were overruled by the magistrate on the basis of a decision by Chief Justice Meredith of Ontario.

Arthur G. Graham of Gooch Island, the defendant, said he purchased from Branson, Brown and Company on September 30 last year twenty shares of Yellow Truck and Coach, paying $200 at that time and the balance of $81.70 on November 10, when he again came to the city. On his first visit the clerk did not know the market price of the shares.

On several occasions both he and his wife tried to obtain the share certificates from the company, but were unsuccessful, and on November 18 he received a "selling slip" which told him that his shares had been sold through Logan and Bryan on the New York market, and that his balance, after deducting brokerage charges, was $190.45.

Mr. Graham declared he had given absolutely no authority for the sale of the shares. They had been fully paid for and were his own.

NO AUTHORITY TO SELL

F. H. Kidd, trustee in bankruptcy for the company, produced documents of the company which showed the transactions as they had taken place, and indicated a credit of $190.45 to Mr. Graham. There appeared to be nothing whatever to show the company had authority to sell the shares.

It was stated Mr. Graham had received nothing in return for his shares but was a creditor of the company for the amount mentioned.

The company went into liquidation on January 8.

The magistrate, in ordering the committal, said that while evidence of any fraudulent nature of the transaction was weak, there was sufficient evidence to justify him sending the case to trial. He asked Mr. Elliott to show him what advantage the company got from the sale of the shares.

"I don't know," said Mr. Elliott, "but it is evident they sold without authority and charged Mr. Graham brokerage fees for the transaction."

MISSING NURSE INQUIRY STARTS IN COURT HERE

Commissioners Seek Reason For Disappearance of Ruth Rhinehart From Boat

There was no sign of drunkenness that he was able to notice among passengers on the Ss. Princess Louise southbond from Ketchikan last October 5, when Miss Ruth Rhinehart, Portland, Ore., nurse, disappeared overboard at night, Capt. J. E. Slater, master of the vessel, testified at the opening of the special inquiry at the Court House here to-day.

A. M. Johnson, K.C., is prosecuting the inquiry for the Attorney-General's department, with J. E. McMullen representing the C.P.R. The marine commissioners sitting on the case are Capt. J. D. Macpherson, wreck commissioner; Capt. H. W. Chandler and Capt. C. M. C. Fleming.

Capt. Slater told the court that because of the thick weather on entering Millbank Sound he came on deck at 4.30 a.m., but he did not know a passenger was missing until next morning when the chief steward reported the fact to him.

"I have no idea of when she disappeared," Captain Slater said in reply to questions from the chief commissioner. "It often happens on the northern run that when a person is not found in his own rooms he is found later to have occupied another room, going with some friend."

NO DRINKING

The captain said he did not notice any drinking after leaving Prince Rupert, agreeing with the explanation of the chief commissioner that as it was Sunday the liquor stores there were closed and the passengers did not have a chance to get liquor, unless they obtained it from the bootleggers.

The ship stopped when she entered Millbank Sound because of bad weather and turned around, the captain said.

In reply to questioning from Mr. McMullen, the captain said it was reported that a lady had come to the pilot house that night and Officer Williams had told her that no one was allowed up there.

"As far as you were aware there was no one seasick or anything of that sort?" Mr. McMullen aked.

"There were several young ladies on the boat of about the same age, but I didn't notice anything unusual among the lady passengers," the stewardess replied. "I did not see any of them intoxicated after leaving Prince Rupert."

She told how next morning she found that Miss Rhinehart's bed had not been slept in and the room was messed up as if a person had been sick.

"There was nothing in the cabin to lead you to suspect any rough business had been going on there?" the chief commissioner asked.

"Oh, no," the stewardess replied, who also said she had not seen her misbehave herself.

Constable T. R. Baker told of meeting the Princess Louise on her arrival in Vancouver and starting an inquiry into the cause of the disappearance of the girl.

BASS INSPECTS MOUNT DOUGLAS

An inspection of Mount Douglas Park and the road-making operations which has been in progress there, was made yesterday afternoon by Oscar Bass K.C., special commissioner appointed by Attorney-General Pooley to investigate the city's management of Mount Douglas Park.

The official party included Commissioner Bass, F. C. Elliott, counsel to the commission, and F. A. Graham The party were met at the park by R. R. F. Sewell and H. H. Allan, Saanich municipal officials.

Following the inspection, Mr. Bass stated that his report would be filed with Attorney-General Pooley as soon as possible after he had been provided with a transcription of the evidence.

Mr. Bass implied that the completion of the report only await study of certain evidence as recorded, and when asked whether he had been shown everything at the park, he said, "It certainly was, what I saw was plenty."

Grain Prices Firmer On Increased Export

Stronger Liverpool cables and excellent overnight export trade routed the bears in the grain market to-day and prices closed firmer.

"Farm Board operations are filling up terminal elevators with wheat," The Journal of Commerce to-day says.

"Were it not for the short crop of corn, the situation would appear hopelessly bearish."

Wheat from Southwestern Argentina contains 14 per cent protein and is considered unsatisfactory, Liverpool reports to-day. Millers will most likely have to mix higher grade Canadian wheat with Argentine to procure a satisfactory mixture, but it appears that importers are taking as few Manitobas as possible, owing to the relative high price.

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)

Winnipeg, Feb. 17.—Wheat: Strong cables and fair export business overnight and this morning, final sales being estimated at close to 750,000 bushels gave the local market a firm undertone to-day with prices higher throughout the session. Trade not very large, and the market was inclined to be quiet most of the day, but there was very little selling pressure in evidence. At the start there was some fair buying by seaboard houses and short covering, but the demand was largely supplied by selling coming from Chicago which was understood to be unwinding of spreads.

The market held firm at fractionally higher than the previous close and locals bought which carried prices to 1¼ to 1½ above the previous close However, it was evident that locals had overbought the market and when an attempt was made to take profits, the demand was found to be very thin.

The demand for cash wheat continues fair with offerings very light. Top grades were ⅛ better and some odd cars of toughs ¼ better. Domestic flour trade continues fair, but there was no improvement in export circles. Bradstreets available supplies increased 5,342,000 bushels, the total now being 458,759,000 bushels as compared with 428,202,000 a year ago. Conditions over winter wheat belt are now said to be practically all that could be desired following the precipitation of the past few days. Germany was the buyer of Canadian wheat to-day. Winnipeg closed ⅞ to 1 up.

Coarse grains: There was some buying of oats to-day that was credited to an elevator company and also to a little covering. A few cash oats worked overnight for domestic positions. Barley closed ¼ up, oats 1 to ¼ up, and rye ⅝ up.

Flax: This market was quiet but firm, with a little more interest in Canadian crushers who took small amounts closing 2½ to 3 higher.

Liverpool due ¼ to 3 higher, based on Winnipeg.

CHICAGO

(By Logan & Bryan)

Chicago, Feb. 17.—Wheat: Firmness at Liverpool and Winnipeg balanced the effect of pretty fair rains over a large part of the winter wheat belt and after an uneven opening prices moved up, the market showing quite a firm tone. Liverpool closed ⅝ to ¾ higher, with buying based on decreasing stocks, a good demand for nearby wheat and continental reports suggesting much more active buying by continental countries the coming spring.

German reports indicate anxiety in regard to depletion of native wheat stocks, with a much better demand for some grades. Winnipeg reports on the export trade indicated moderate sales while Liverpool said there was active chartering of vessels for both Argentine and Australian wheat.

With the exception of France, crop conditions abroad are favorable. Italy is said to be buying large quantities of Russian wheat. Indications continue for a two-sided market. Primary arrivals were 1,058,000 bushels, keeping up the recent average of over a million a day.

Corn—Local sentiment was pretty bearish in corn, but there was fair commission house buying and prices rallied over one per cent from the small early dip. The cash demand was better to-day with sales of 75,000 bushels or more, while the country offerings were practically nil. Receipts were 163 cars estimated and primary arrivals were 903,000, against 1,272,000 bushels a year ago. Unsettled weather was a steadying factor. Corn had a good decline and is entitled to some technical rally.

Oats were dull and there was considerable commission house buying at times. The market rallied a little with corn, but the trade was rather light Cash demand, fair.

Rye—Fairly firm. Offerings were light and the market was given moderate support with some buying of rye against sales of corn.

BRITISH STOCKS FALL ON FEARS OF INVESTORS

London, Feb. 17.—Continuous selling of government securities on the Stock Exchange has depreciated six leading government stocks more than $400,000,000 in market value within the past week.

Brokers attribute the selling wave to fresh fears inspired in nervous investors by Chancellor Snowden's recent speech in the House of Commons in which he called attention to the bad state of the country's finances and indicated the necessity for drastic curative measures.

Fears also have arisen regarding plans formulated by the Labor Party and its Liberal allies in which money is to be put down without earning dividend, and heavy blocks of stocks have been sold by continental interests which are large holders of war loans.

MARKET FALTERS ALSO IN TORONTO

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 17.—Opening firm, the local market faltered near noon to-day, and closed with trend uncertain.

The oil group pursued an irregularly lower course. McColl Frontenac was the feature, making a new recent high above 20, in a good turnover. Profit-taking brought the issue back to 20 near the close. Imperial and B.A. Oil lost about ½ point each, while International Petroleum firmed somewhat to close slightly above last night's final. Canadian Oil was off nearly a full point.

FABYAN SLUMPS AS TRI-CITIES GAS DEAL IS REJECTED

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 17. — Reacting to news that Saskatoon had rejected the Tri-Cities natural gas franchise plans, Fabyan Pete dropped swifty to two cents during the forenoon session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day. The stock was the principal trader of the forenoon and was taken up in large blocks as it came out on the market.

Home Oil was steady at 1.52, somewhat under the price yesterday, and Mercury sold at 26, with East Crest weaker at 49, Calmont selling at 23, A. P. Consolidated at 28, Sterling at 15 & C. and E. at 74. The tendency in the oil list was downward, but offerings were light.

Mining issues were favored, especially those representing gold producers, and Pioneer Gold, leader of the group, sold in board lots at 1.65, and in odd lots at 1.70. Reno Gold changed hands at 20 and Lorne was the attraction of the curb traders.

Big Missouri held at 45, Woodbine was steady around 2 cents, Reeves sold at 45, George Cupper was active at 80, Snowflake at 3 and Oregon Copper at 5½.

TORONTO MINES TREND EASIER

Canadian Press

Nickel closed practically unchanged and Noranda sold down 15 at 17.00. Tri-Metals lost 10. Pend Oreille 9, Sherritt-Gordon 4 and Ventures 2.

In the gold section, Dome was softer, easing a quarter to 10.75, and Lake Shore lost 20 to 26.15. Teck Hughes and Siscoe were somewhat firmer, but Wright-Hargreaves, Eldorado, Big Missouri, Premier, Howey and Kirkland Lake Gold lost from one to five cents a piece.

Ajax Oil and Acme firmed a little, and Chemical Research was in fair demand at 3.50, up 35. Cities Service lost a quarter, Home Oil 3, and Nordon a cent apiece.

BULL MARKET OVERTOPS AND LOSES BALANCE

From Wild Bidding Up at Opening, Stocks Flop to Lower Levels

Auburn Motor Comes Down Fast; Worthington Skids Down From Top

(By Logan & Bryan)

New York, Feb. 17.—At the close of the market this afternoon the Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 179.55, off 3.33 points for the day; for twenty rails at 109.42, off 0.73 points; and for twenty utilities at 66.86, off 1.00 points.

The bull market in stocks overreached itself to-day, lost its balance, and fell into the lap of the bears.

Wild bidding up of volatile issues during the morning failed to shield heavy distribution of pivotal shares, and after midday the list turned decisively downward. Volume increased on the down side in the late dealings, contrary to the recent tendency.

Auburn again was a spectacular performer, rising six points to a new high, then falling back 18 from the top, and rebounding two, losing 10 of yesterday's 19-point advance.

Worthington rose 7 and Case 5, then both skidded back 10 from the top.

Shares closing about 2 points lower included American Can, American Telephone, General Electric, Loew's, North American, Public Service of New Jersey, Du Pont and Electric Power and Light.

FIGHT UPTURN

Traders continued to fight the upturn on the theory that the market had been moving ahead more rapidly than was warranted by business conditions, but they were not successful because an increase in the demand from outsiders made itself felt.

Reports were heard that two of the leading banking institutions were looking upon the action of the market with favor and this gave the necessary encouragement to those who have been most active on the long side recently.

STILL SHORT INTEREST

Despite the advance which occurred in the market last week, there is evidence that the short interest is still quite large. Demand for stocks in the loan crowd has been maintained. A considerable part of the selling has been for the account of outsiders who anticipated another sharp setback after the advance has been definitely halted. These interests have put out stocks although they have been warned by conservative commission houses against such operations. Further gains in the pivotal and popular shares could start a covering movement which would aid those who have been working for higher prices in the general list.

INDUSTRIAL EARNINGS POOR

It is likely that earnings of many industrial companies during the first half of this year will not be favorable. However, if the market is able to move ahead these reports will be considered as reflecting "water over the dam" and may not have any great influence particularly if the outlook for the business at the time of publications is favorable and the last six months of the year come up to predictions and anticipations in the financial district.

BUSINESS CONFIDENCE

A confident attitude seems to exist in business circles. Improvement has not been outstanding but steady and gradual in some important lines. This fact is being emphasized by those who insist industrial betterment will be the important underlying factor in the market later this year. Whereas 1930 was a year with an early spurt followed by a drastic recession it is the general hope that the business curve in the current year will be slightly upward but steadily maintained.

Talk of a technical reaction continues to be heard, but any such setback should encounter excellent scale buying if the advices from leading conservative observers is followed. Warnings against attempting to profit by short sales continue to come from some of the leading interests.

BOND MARKET BECLOUDED ANEW

New York, Feb. 17.—The lack of buyig interest in bonds was reflected in a sagging market to-day. Fractional declines embraced a large majority of domestic investment obligations and about the only display of firmness was by issues with a speculative tinge such as some of the more prominent convertibles and warrant bonds.

Overnight developments brought new clouds to the horizon with the prediction of some prominent bankers that the Treasury Department probably will find it necessary, from a standpoint of good policy, to float a bond issue of a half billion or so this year.

United States government securities resumed their decline as the financial community assimilated Washington reports predicting concurrence by the senate in the favorable action of the house yesterday on the soldiers' bonus legislation. Both liberties and the long-term treasury issues felt the depressing effects of a lopsided market. Bids were scarce except at comparatively large fractional concessions.

In quarters where it was taken for granted that the soldiers' bonus bill would become law, investment bankers were dubious as to the outlook for bonds during the next few months.

There was the further troubling thought as to what new complications will be injected into the situation if the treasury department fulfills predictions made here and floats long-term issues amounting from $500,000,000 to $1,000,000,000 this year and next.

POWER AND PAPER REVENUES GAIN

A satisfactory increase in revenue from investments is shown by Canadian Power and Paper Investments Limited in its annual report covering the twelve months ended December 31, 1930. Although revenue was higher by 54,402, or about 20 per cent, this, however, was offset by a drop in profit from sale of investments, a profit of nearly $250,000 in 1929 being turned into a slight loss for last year. After all charges, interest on debentures is shown as being earned 2.2 times, and the preferred dividend earned by a substantial margin. Earnings applicable to the 100,000 shares of common stock outstanding were equivalent to 27 cents a share, comparing with $2.51 a share for the year 1929 and $2.04 in 1928.

The earnings statement shows revenue for the year under review of $329,607, as compared with $275,205 for the preceding period. A loss of $5,668 on the sale of investments compares with a profit of $241,012 in 1929, leaving gross earnings of $323,939, down from $516,218, and deduction of fixed charges, expenses and taxes reveals net earnings of $151,975, comparing with $359,813. Preferred dividends of $125,000 leaves a surplus available on the common stock of $26,976, which, added to previous surplus, brings profit and loss balance to $547,367.

President A. J. Nesbitt, in submitting the report to shareholders, says in part:

"The assets of the company consist of cash on hand and security investments made up of bonds, preferred and common stocks of leading public utility and industrial companies throughout Canada, the United States and foreign countries. Less than 20 per cent of your company's funds are invested in the securities of pulp and paper companies.

"The drastic decline in security values which has been prevailing throughout the world during the year 1930 had its effect on the securities held by your company, but your directors would point out that this decline in value is not an actual realized loss and they feel that conditions will change for the better within a reasonable time, and that security values will gradually work back to higher levels than those at present prevailing."

French Get Stocks Back At Bargain Prices

Paris, Feb. 17.—The Paris Bourse has developed its recovery. Prices in nearly all sections went to higher levels this week and there was evidence that the public was coming back into the market.

It is declared by patriotic Frenchmen that Paris now has got back at bargain prices milliards of francs worth of stocks which were sold at the highest levels to Americans and Englishmen before the Wall Street crash.

In contrast with Paris the Berlin Boerse lagged behind, partly through the depressing influence of the unfavorable balance sheet of Krupps Works. There are rumors of big French loans to Germany arising out of negotiations for a loan on the preference capital of the German Railway Company which are carried on with the Paris branch of Lee, Higginson & Co. It is said authoritatively that there is no truth in the report of negotiations between Royal Dutch Shell and the German government for a petrol monopoly.

Ottawa Gets Record High For New Bonds

Ottawa, Feb. 17.—The hibhest price recorded in Canada in the sale of a municipal issue of 4½ per cent debentures has been received by the City of Ottawa.

The record bid of 99.238, was successfully made by the Dominion Securities Corporation Ltd., and the Imperial Bank of Canada, for $1,176,441 municipal debentures. This means the new financing is accomplished by the city at an approximate cost of 4.60 for the funds.

PIONEER GOLD TO GO ON DIVIDEND BASIS IN MARCH

Vancouver, Feb. 17.—The new hydro-electric power plant of the Pioneer Gold Mines of B.C., has now been completed at a cost of about $100,000.

The work was carried out under David Sloan, M.E., the company's managing director. A roadway was built, a sawmill was moved from the mining camp to the site of the new power line and operated with power from the company's road tractor, the lumber was cut, and a thirty-six-inch wood stave-pipe was built and laid for a distance of a mile and a quarter from the intake to a new powerhouse, where a turbine water-wheel was installed. From there, the power is carried three miles to the mine over aluminum wire power line. This new hydro-electric plant, with the former unit, will give the company ample power for all purposes for many years to come, and will enable the 100-ton cyanide plant to be operated at capacity.

At present 1,000 feet is the lowest level at which work has been done, but, with the new power, this depth will be greatly exceeded. Mr. Sloan plans to sink a shaft to tap lower levels of the veins.

Col. Victor Spencer of Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. K. C. Allen and others, of Victoria, have just returned from a visit to the mine, on the occasion of the turning on of the power from the new hydro-electric plant. Operations of the company are highly satisfactory to the directors and management. Underground work is being carried on expeditiously. The tunnel faces are in good ore; the values and size of the vein have increased with depth. Gold is being produced and shipped each month.

It is expected that the company will go on a regular dividend-paying basis in March.

Two other highly important properties on the same mineralized belt as the Pioneer, are the Lorne, which is also much in the limelight at the present time, and the Wayside mine, the control of which has recently passed to Victoria interests, and where active operations are expected to be resumed in the very near future.

MEAT PRICES STILL SHOW DECREASES

No. 1 Steer Beef Down This Week; Pork and Lamb Also Less in Price

Egg Prices Swinging Back to Normal; Rain in South Affects Vegetables

A continued drop in the prices of meat is proving one of the outstanding features of the local market this week. No. 1 steer beef sirloin steak can now be bought retail as low as 30 cents a pound, though the best quality runs to 35 cents. Pot roasts, formerly 18 cents, now range from 15 to 18 cents, and rump roasts, formerly 25 cents, now range down to 20 cents.

Side pork has decreased in price from 25 to 22 cents a pound and shoulder roasts, formerly 18 to 25 cents, to-day cost 18 to 22 cents.

Beef	12½	21
Lamb	19	27
Hogs	15	21
Fowl	22-24	29

Egg prices are now swinging back to normal, with consumers taking advantage of the opportunity to buy one of the cheapest foods on the market. The prices now on B.C. fresh extras is 30 cents; on B.C. fresh first 28 cents; and on pullet extras 25 cents.

Wholesale vegetable prices on lettuce and celery especially are taking an upward turn on account of the heavy rains in California interfering with operations, but the retail market has not as yet been affected.

Orange prices are still remarkably low.

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Logan & Bryan)

New York, Feb. 17.—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Bureau says:

OUTLOOK UNCHANGED

"Neither the prices recorded in yesterday's session nor the information emanating from sources that I believe know what they are talking about when discussing either business or the market, warrants any change of the opinion voiced here regarding the immediate future outlook for the security prices in general. To definitely tag the hour of the day in which a market will execute a turning movement so that it is discernible to every one is difficult, particularly in a market such as we have seen for the past week or more, when advancing prices were being engineered by technical conditions. Nevertheless, if the rally has not definitely terminated, it is apparent that it is on its last legs. The institutional selling which has taken place in the past week has done nothing to discourage rallies, for it is natural that best obtainable prices be sought. On the other hand, there are already signs here and there that what institutional liquidation remains uncompleted is now being pressed somewhat on the market. Yesterday's close has an excellent chance of luring some public participation to-day, but I think you will find, as was the case Monday, that advances, in general, will be relatively moderate and non productive of profits.

"I do not expect a drastic decline when the market turns, but a gradual one which will evidence not only the weakening of the technical structure but the inability of the pools to close down the day with long balances in comfortable positions. The more pronounced weakness in the market will not be seen until such time as the true facts of both the market and business are fully known and thoroughly appreciated. What we have seen of late has been highly analoguous to what we saw a year ago. What followed such manoeuvers in 1930 we all know. Although I do not believe we are face to face with any such decline in security prices as we saw from April to December of last year, I do believe that we have close at hand a decline which will make it very uncomfortable for those long, and very profitable for those who use bulges in the leaders to establish short positions.

"I will not argue as to whether or not business made a bottom of relatively long duration last December, only the future can prove that. At the moment we are interested in what business has actually done since the start of the year and what it appears likely it will do for some time to come. There is virtually no information available for analysis regarding business, which would indicate that the improvement since the low point of last year has been satisfactory and there is plenty of information substantiating my contention that it is still unfavorable and that the present prices of securities are unjustified by current and immediate future prospective fundamental conditions."

NEW FIVE-YEAR PLAN FOR C.N.R.

Manion Says Hope Is to Pay All Interest to Public By 1936

Toronto, Feb. 17.—"Five-year-plan," by which it is intended in 1936 to meet all interest payments to the public out of that year's earnings, has been adopted by the new board of directors of the Canadian National Railways.

Addressing the Toronto Board of Trade Club yesterday evening, Hon. R. J. Manion, federal Minister of Railways and Canals, stated the board had enthusiastically adopted the proposal offered by himself.

The government, he indicated, would find it necessary to aid the Canadian National Railways for 1930 operations, and, while not receiving the interest on its own advances to the Canadian National Railways, would need to help the railway pay the interest due the public.

"Owing to the increases in capitalization, by reason of branch lines extension," he said, "the fixed charges are now $53,000,000 per annum—$1,000,000 a week—in interest to the public. That sum does not include the interest charges on amounts owing to the government.

GAINS IN FIVE YEARS

"Sir Henry Thornton called the proposal the five-year-plan," he said, "the hope being that in five years they would present me with a railway able to pay its own expenses, that is, its interest to the public."

Under present conditions, he said, the railway system, suffering from decreased traffic and increased mixed charges, was obliged to look rather carefully on expenditures of all kinds

Common Sense View

By A. C. LORING
President of the Pillsbury Flour Company

Build a wall around the United States and refuse to permit the interchange of goods on some equitable basis and you will stifle the activities and energies that are essential to our prosperity. We must not only be able to transport manufactured goods to other countries but we must also be willing to accept from them such commodities as they have to sell on a fair basis.

This not only will permit our farms and factories to maintain production at higher levels than if we were only on a domestic basis of operation, but it also will provide for the return of shipments from other nations, without which our steamship lines cannot be operated profitably.

In dealing with the tariff question, it is essential that full consideration be given to the necessities of other countries, as their governments, like our own, are endeavoring to safeguard in every way, the interests of their own people.

RAPS PLUMBERS FOR ATTACK ON LOCAL BY-LAW

Ald. Robert Smith Replies to Statements Made By Union to Esquimalt Council

Criticism of the letter from the United Association of Journeyman Plumbers and Steam-fitters local union No. 324 to the Esquimalt Council at its meeting on February 2, advising the municipal body against the acceptance of the plumbing by-law now in force in Victoria, was voiced by Ald. Robert Smith, sanitary and heating engineer in a communication to the council yesterday evening.

Mr. Smith explained that when the proposed by-law had been first submitted to the City Council, the plumbers in general had given it their support. They had maintained that some provincial by-law had been necessary for some time, Mr. Smith said.

When certain clauses had been altered to read "notwithstanding anything in this by-law contained nothing herein shall be construed to prevent any person, firm or corporation from replacing broken fixtures when such replacing does not unseal any sewer or waste, or from replacing tanks or bibs or repairing leaks in water pipes on the house side of any stop or waste pipe," the plumbers had withdrawn their support, the writer stated.

OLD BY-LAW OUT OF DATE

Mr. Smith also noted that the by-law which went into effect in Victoria twenty years ago had been highly commended by the plumbers, who maintained it had received warm praise from the leading trade organ of the time. He asked how many people would be satisfied to-day with the bathrooms they had installed twenty years ago.

Further, Mr. Smith stated, the plumbers said it was absolutely essential to have a competent plumber to carry on inspections. There was nothing in the new by-law to that effect, he added, saying it gave the qualifications of an inspector if one should be appointed at a later date, but did not ask any city or municipality to make any change in its present staff.

"In conclusion," Mr. Smith wrote, "I would like to add that the chief objection given to me by plumbers is that it (the by-law) eliminates certain pipes, and therefore labor. I maintain that it is the duty of every public official to reduce the price of any necessary commodity within the reach of every citizen so long as the efficiency is not impaired. The adoption of this by-law means a saving of about 10 per cent on new plumbing work when it is laid out in accordance with the regulations."

Mr. Smith added he had not written the letter to try to induce the Esquimalt Council to adopt the Victoria by-law, but to correct statements made in the letter from the local union No. 324.

The communication was referred to the municipal engineer.

WOULD HAVE BIG COMMERCE HEADS VISIT PROVINCE

That an attempt would be made to have the delegates to the International Chamber of Commerce Congress in Washington next May visit British Columbia following their sessions, was announced by P. B. Fowler, president of the local chamber, before the directors' meeting yesterday.

Mr. Fowler stated he had received word from the secretary of the congress that delegates would visit some parts of Canada following the congress. He had made an effort to have Brltih Columbia placed on the itinerary, he said.

Dealing with a Canadian delegate to the meeting, Mr. Fowler stated he had declined an invitation to accompany the Dominion's representative on the ground that it was more suitable to have eastern Canadians make the trip owing to their nearness to the convention city.

Committee Asks Borrowing For Public Works

A by-law for borrowing of money to cover new road and street work in the city will be brought before the City Council next Monday night by the public works committee, it was intimated by Alderman J. L. Mara, chairman, at yesterday evening's session of the council.

While not indicating what amount would be asked for in the by-lay, Alderman Mara said a programme of works would be laid down for the council's consideration. This is in accordance with the policy adopted by the committee at the start of the year when all capital road expenditures were deleted from the estimates in order to help keep the mill rate as low as possible. The sum of $30,000 was cut out on this account by the council.

QUESTIONS ASKED IN LEGISLATURE

With the list being added to daily, Liberals are adopting the policy they followed at the last session of seeking information on innumerable phases of government administration through scores of questions on the order papers. Some of the questions on which answers are awaited follow:

Has the loan of $60,000 by the Land Settlement Board to the Lister Waterworks District, reported incomplete by the minister in this House on February 5, 1930, yet been completed?

If so, what terms of repayment have been arranged?

Has the government entered into any arrangement for the reclamation, either in whole or in part, of the area known as the Kootenay Flats, either directly or through an agreement with any one? If by agreement, what are terms of agreement?

Is W. Sanford Evans employed in any capacity by the government

If so, in what capacity,

How much has he been paid to date?

Has he been paid in full?

What amount has Dr. W. H. Gaddes received as salary or emoluments since first entering the service of the government?

Was one Wm. Robson of Cranbrook dismissed from a position in the Employment Bureau?

If so, what was the reason for such dismissal?

Has the Male Minimum Wage Board granted any exemptions to employers under section 6 of the "Male Minimum Wage Act"?

Has the Male Minimum Wage Board instituted any inquiries as to conditions of employment in any occupation, without receiving any complaints, as provided under section 4 (2) of the "Male Minimum Wage Act" of 1929?

If so, in what cases?

With what results?

How many unemployed were there in the province as at January 1, 1929?

How many unemployed were there in the province as at January 1, 1931?

What is the total amount which will be received by the province, under legislation recently passed by the federal government, in the relief of unemployment? Is this amount contingent upon a contribution from the province?

If so, what is the province's proportion of the whole amount?

What is the total collected to February 1, under section 17 of the "Public Schools Act Amendment Act, 1930," permitting assessment of property outside school districts for school purposes?

How much money has been paid into Superannuation Fund?

How much money has been invested from money at the credit of the Superannuation Fund, and what is the total amount of securities now held in the treasury on account of this fund?

What amount has been collected as tax upon gasoline since the "Gasoline Tax Acts Amendment Act, 1930"?

What is the estimated total of current liabilities of the province, not including Treasury bills?

What is the total credit of these accounts?

Is there cash on hand or in bank to cover these credits?

Is there cash in bank or in the Treasury to cover all credit accounts in the Treasury Department?

What is the total of these credit accounts, and what is the total of cash held against these accounts?

Is there cash in bank or securities held to cover each amount?

What amounts of money have been borrowed by the government since January 1, 1930; from whom; term of loan; rate of interest; and sale price?

Were public tenders called in each case? If not, how much was borrowed without public tender?

What amount is owing to the Canadian Bank of Commerce for money borrowed on Treasury bills?

How much money is on deposit in the Treasury to the credit of the Liquor Control Board?

Is there cash in bank or in the Treasury to cover amount on deposit?

Does the Liquor Control Board keep a bank account under its own control and without the control of the Treasury? If so, in what bank, and what amount is at the credit of said account?

Have instructions been issued to road foremen regarding employment of single men and of veterans with partial pensions?

If so, what were such instructions?

GENERAL MOTORS MANAGERS WILL MEET HERE SOON

Service managers representing General Motors dealers in all parts of Victoria and district will assemble here on February 24 and 25 to attend special schools of instruction conducted by officials from the head offices and local zone offices of General Motors Products of Canada Limited.

General Motors service system will be explained at the schools in detail and a comprehensive talk on dealers' service to the car buying public will be given with reference to every phase of an efficiently operated service department.

LOAN PLAN FOR U.S. VETERANS

Washington, Feb. 17.—The House yesterday passed the Veterans' Loan Bill and to-day it was before the senate.

The measure authorizes loans up to fifty per cent of the face value of veterans' adjusted compensation certificates. The treasury estimates it would cost $1,720,000,000,

LOANS TO AID MANY PRAIRIE FARM OWNERS

President Beatty of C.P.R. Gives Views on New Agricultural Credits Corporation

Livestock Additions Will Increase Plains Stability, He Tells Winnipeg Audience

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Feb. 17.—Clearly outlined by its first sponsor, its objects defined, the federal government's $5,000,000 revolving loan fund plan to-day stood explained as an aid to independence to prairie farmers. In an address here yesterday evening E. W. Beatty, K.C., president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, detailed proposals in connection with the fund's organization and operation. His speech was made at a banquet of the Winnipeg Board of Trade on the fiftieth anniversary of the issuance of the charter of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Beatty plan of credits, proposed at London, Ont., and adopted by Premier R. B. Bennett, in his Regina speech December 30, "would improve conditions under which farm operations are carried on in those districts where its credits can be properly used," its leading proponent believed.

He favored adoption of the "Minnesota Plan" in some particulars.

STABILITY OF EARNINGS

The major suggestions were offered by the railway head for officials who will handle the loan fund. "The policy must be operated in such a way as not to impose a burden on the farmer in the matter of handling charges, interest, etc., but rather to provide him with a greater stability in earning power at the very minimum of cost. It must also insure the safety of the investment so the capital of the loan corporation is not impaired," he said.

Confident the plan would be a success, Mr. Beatty suggested, however, the advisability of "some conservatism in the extension of credit at the outset at least."

LOAN LIMITS

He thought it "might be advisable" to adopt a united minimum and maximum loan clause, similar to that of the Minnesota Plan. That would set loans at $200 to $1,000. "However,," he added, "I would not favor the granting of the maximum amount except under special circumstances."

Length of time for which the loans are made also might be adopted from the Minnesota Plan, the C.P.R. president said. Under that three-year repayment plan, the farmer would pay back 30 per cent of his loan after the first year, 30 per cent after the second, and the balance after the third year.

Mr. Beatty asserted the loan plan here woudl be operated under vastly different conditions than when it met with "amazing success" in Minnesota. "It will be well to remember," he said, "that their record in the matter of repayment of loans was achieved in the period when prices and other conditions were comparatively good; that they have a great advantage over this country in the matter of population and, therefore, of consumers, and that greater difficulty may be experienced under more adverse conditions."

NUMEROUS SMALL LOANS

"This," he added, "suggests the advisability of some conservatism in the extension of credit at the outset at least." Greater safety in the operation of the loan scheme would be achieved through numerous relatively small loans and, though he said it was not yet possible to estimate cost of managing the credit corporation, "it should be urged all possible avenues be explored with a view to establishing credit facilities at a rate of interest not to exceed six per cent." He stressed that the plan was not expected to "work miracles" for the farmers.

"The central idea of the plan should be to seek to develop in favorable communities on the basis of some diversity in livestock, one or two sows, twenty-five to 100 hens and, wherever possible, twenty to fity ewes per individual farm."

NEW ERA ON PRAIRIES

Indicating the chief purpose of the Dominion Agriculture Credit Association was to aid the prairies in turning to mixed farming from the exclusive raising of grain, Mr. Beatty said:

"The West is pre-eminently suited for the production of cereals, with wheat, on account of its importance in international trade, occupying the central position in this field. There is little thought but that wheat will continue as the premier product of Western Canada and that probably during your lifetime and mine we shall not see any diminution in its production, but rather an increase. The provision of credit facilities for the purchase of livestock is not designed to reduce the importance of this particular crop in the realm of agriculture, but rather to assist farmers to supplement their operations by including sufficient livestock production as a safeguard and as a permanent source of revenue.

"The above argument presents nothing new, but simply suggests the value of credit facilities in the development of more self-sustaining agriculture which demands the raising of livestock. Ample evidence is obtainable through figures which show the steady growth of livestock production in Western Canada, to indicate the soundness of this programme has already been recognized and adopted by a large number of western producers."

At another point in his speech Mr. Beatty said: "It should be made clear that the formation of an agricultural credit company is not for the purpose of attempting to meet or correct the unusual and somewhat severe conditions of the present day. It is a policy which can be made effective over a period of years and one which, in the view of many of our most outstanding agricultural experts, should go a long way toward promoting a greater degree of stability in the agriculture of the West. This is not a temporary expedient for the purpose of relief, but rather a permanent piece of machinery being introduced to the industry of agriculture.

CHARTER ISSUED

"With all this theory and principle in the background, we have caused to be incorporated the Dominion Agricultural Credit Corporation. Its capital is $5,000,000 and it will be subscribed by the railways, banks, trusts, mortgage and loan companies and large corporations which have extensive business interests in Western Canada. Its board of directors will be thoroughly representative business and agricultural leaders and its operations will be conducted in the West through directors and officers located here The work of formation of the company can now proceed, as soon as the requisite subscriptions are received, as the charter has been issued within the last few days. I am very confident that, in the hands of able and experienced men, it will be operated without loss to its owners and will be of great benefit to those farmers who are so situated and themselves of such a type as to make use of the facilities of the company with advantage."

WORK AUTHORIZED IN MUNICIPALITY

Esquimalt Council Sanctions Minor Improvements on Streets

Authorization of three items of public works and endorsation of work recently completed was given by the Esquimalt council to the municipal engineer at the council meeting yesterday evening.

Repairs will be made to Dunsmuir Road from Macaulay Street to Head Street. Macadamizing that part of the road will cost $140 and tarviating later will cost $25.

Tillicum Road near the Gorge Vale Golf Club will be improved at a cost of $35. The motion to have this work done met with opposition from Councillor A. Heald, who stated the club had not paid its taxes in full.

SMALL DITCH

A ditch will be constructed to carry away the water running off Grafton Street at a cost of $30.

Construction of a walk for Father Wood, done on a cost plus basis was ratified. The work was done for $100.

During the meeting yesterday evening the council referred a communication from J. Hensen, seeking a light on Victoria View Road to the fire and lights committee.

Offers to purchase lots, made by the Vancouver Island Realty Company, J. E. Bass and B. Lamerton were accepted.

Both the annual loan and tax sale lands sale by-laws passed their final readings.

Chinese New Year Commemoration Is Observed To-day

Reviving an ancient custom, hundreds of Chinese, far from their native land, are commemorating the opening of the Chinese New Year festival here to-day. The ceremonies will last for a week, during which much of the festive spirit observed in China will hold sway here.

Improvement Of Beaches Carried Out During Year

The Victoria-Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee spent the sum of $4,849.73 in improving and maintaining playgrounds and sports last year, according to a report submitted to the City Council yesterday evening.

Mount Douglas Park, where $1,391 was spent, had the largest share of development, while $876 was spent at Elk Lake. Island View Beach work cost $823, and Cadboro Bay $252. Cordova Bay required $440, Mount Tolmie $101 and Verdier Beach $174.

There was a decrease of about $200 in the amount of cash on hand at the beginning of the year as compared with last year.

When a Child is FEVERISH, CROSS, UPSET

When these symptons appear, give Baby a teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Add it to the first bottle of food in the morning. Older children should be given a tablespoonful in a glass of water. This will comfort the child—make his stomach and bowels easy. In five minutes he is comfortable, happy. It will sweep the bowels free of all sour, indigestible food. It opens the bowels in constipation, colds, children's ailments. Children take it readily because it is palatable, pleasant-tasting.

Learn its many uses for mother and child. Write for the interesting book, "Useful Information." Address The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont. It will be sent FREE.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over fifty years. (Advt.)

Murder At Bridge

by ANNE AUSTIN author of "THE BLACK PIGEON" "THE AVENGING PARROT" and "MURDER BACKSTAIRS"

©1930 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

"The way everybody put the very worst interpretation on everything, when a person gets murdered!" Miss Earle stormed. "If poor Nita had belonged to a rich family, like the girls here, they would have spent a million to hush up a scandal on her! . . . I've seen it done!" she added, darkly and venomously.

CHAPTER XLII

Bonnie Dundee's heart leaped, but he forced himself to go softly. "I suppose," he said casually, " a fashionable school like this has plenty of carefully hushed-up scandals—"

"I'll say it has!" Miss Earle retorted inelegantly, and with ghoulish satisfaction. "Money can do anything! It makes my blood simply boil when I think of how those Forsyte girls in Hamilton—so smug and snobbish in their hick town 'society'—must be running poor Nita down, now that she's dead and can't defend herself! . . . If the truth was only known about some of them—"

Dundee could almost have embraced the homely, life-soured spinster—she was making his task so easy for him.

"I've met them all, of course, since Mrs. Selim was murdered," he said deprecatingly, "and I must say they seem to be remarkably fine women and girls—"

"Oh, are they?" Miss Earle snorted. "Flora Hackett—Mrs. Tracey Miles she is now—didn't happen to tell you the nice little fuss she kicked up when she was here, did she? Oh, no! I guess not!"

"She looks," Dundee agreed, "like a girl who would have made things lively."

"I'll say so! Miss Pendleton nearly had nervous prostration!" Miss Earle plunged on, then fear blanched her face for a moment. "You know you've promised you'll never tell Miss Pendleton or Miss Macon that you talked to me!

"You can depend on it that I will protect you," Dundee assured her. "When did Flora Hackett kick up her little fuss?"

"Let's see. . . . Flora graduated in June, 1920," Miss Earle obliged, willingly. "So it must have been in 1919—yes, because she had one more year here. Of course, they let her come back! . . . Money! . . . She took the lead in our annual Easter play in 1919, and just because Serena Hart complimented her and told her she was almost as good as a professional—"

"Yes—Serena Hart," Miss Earle repeated proudly. "She was a Forsyte girl, too, and of course she did go into the chorus herself, after she graduated in—let's see—1917, because it was the second year after I'd come to work here—and Miss Pendleton nearly died, because she was afraid Forsyte's precious prestige would be lowered; but when Serena became a star everything was grand, of course, and Forsyte was proud to claim her. . . . Anyway, Serena comes to the Easter play every year she can, if she isn't in a Broadway play herself, of course, and so she saw Flora acting in the Easter play in 1919, and told her she was awfully good. She was, too, but not half the actress that little Penny Crain was, when she had the lead in the play four or five years ago."

Dundee's heart begged him to ask for more details of Penny's triumph; but his job demanded that he keep the now too-voluble Miss Earle to the business in hand.

"And Flora Hackett—" he prompted.

"Well, the next day after the play the Easter vacation began, you know, and Flora forged a letter from her father, giving her permission to spend the ten-days' Easter holiday with one of the girls who lived in Atlanta," Miss Earle continued, with great relish. "Well, sir, right in the middle of the holidays, here came her father and mother—they were both alive then—and asked for Flora! They wired the girl in Atlanta, and Flora wasn't there, and the Hacketts were nearly crazy. But as luck would have it, Mr. Hackett ran into a friend of theirs on Broadway, and this friend began to tease Mr. Hackett about his daughter's being a chorus girl!"

"Of course they nabbed her right out of the show, but that wasn't the worst of it!" Miss Earle went on dramatically and mysteriously. "They tried to hush it up, of course, but the word went through the school like wildfire that Flora wasn't only in the chorus, but that she was living with an actor she'd been writing fan letters to long before the Easter play went on!"

"Did you hear his name?" Dundee asked.

"No," Miss Earle acknowledged regretfully. "But I'll bet anything it was the truth! . . . Why, Flora Hackett was so man-crazy she flirted scandalously with every male teacher in school. The golf 'pro' we had then got so scared of her he quit his job!"

"I suppose," Dundee prompted craftily, "she wasn't any worse than some of the other Hamilton girls."

"We'ell," Miss Earle admitted reluctantly, "nothing ever came out on any of the others, but it looked mighty funny to me when Janet Raymond's mother came and took her out of school right in the middle of a term and hauled her off to Europe for a whole year! . . . And Janet looking as healthy as any other girl in the school, except that she was crying half the time, and smuggling special delivery letters in and out by one of the maids—"

"Did you tell Nita these stories and point out the pictures of the girls?" Dundee had to risk asking.

Miss Earle froze instantly. "Naturally she was interested in the school, and once when she said it always made her mad the way chorus girls were run down, I told her that in my opinion society girls were wore than actresses and—well, of course, I gave her some examples, a lot of them worse than anything I've told you about Flora Hackett and Janet Raymond. . . . I hope," she added viciously, "that Nita dropped a hint or two if Flora or Janet had the nerve to high-hat her when she was in Hamilton!"

"Perhaps she did," Dundee agreed softly. "By the way, how did Nita happen to get the job here of directing the Easter plays?"

"That's what the reporters wanted to know," Miss Earle smiled. "But Miss Pendleton wouldn't tell them, for fear Serena wouldn't like it, and maybe be drawn into the scandal, when everybody knows she's as straight as a string—"

"Did Serena Hart get her the job?" Dundee was amazed.

"Yes. . . . Wait, I'll show you the letter of recommendation she wrote for Nita to Miss Pendleton," Miss Earle offered eagerly. "Remember, now, you are not to tell on me!"

She went to a tall walnut filing cabinet, and quickly returned with a note, which she thrust into Dundee's willing hands. He read:

Dear Miss Pendleton: The bearer, Juanita Leigh, is rather badly in need of a job, and I have suggested that she apply to you for a chance to direct the Easter play. I have known Miss Leigh personally for ten years, and have the highest regard, both for her character and for her ability. Since you usually stage musical comedies, I think Miss Leigh, who has been a specialty dancer as well as an actress in musical comedy for about twelve years, would be admirably suited for the work. Knowing my love for Forsyte as you do, I do not have to assure you that I would suggest nothing which would be detrimental to the school's best interests. Fondly yours.

Serena Hart.

"She was wrong there, but I know it wasn't Nita's fault," Miss Earle, who had been looking over his shoulder, commented upon the last sentence of the letter.

"Is Miss Hart appearing in a play now?" Dundee asked.

"No, but she's rehearsing in one—'Temptation'—which will open at the Warburton Theatre next Monday night," the secretary answered. "At commencement Tuesday night, Serena told Miss Pendleton how awfully sorry she was about Nita, and gave me tickets for the opening. . . . You go to see her, but don't tell her I told you anything. . . . I know she's rehearsing at the theatre this afternoon, because she said she would be all week, and couldn't go to the boat to see Miss Pendleton and Miss Macon off for Europe."

* * *

"I will!" Dundee accepted the suggestion gratefully, as if it had not occurred to him. "But first I want you to come out to lunch with me. I'm sure you know of some nice tearoom or roadhouse in the neighborhood."

During the luncheon, which Miss Earle devoured avidly, without its interfering with her flow of reminiscences concerning the girls she hated, Dundee was able to learn nothing more to the detriment of Forsyte's Hamilton alumnae, but he did add considerably to his knowledge and pity of female human nature.

It was nearly 3 o'clock when he presented his card, with a message penciled upon its back, to the aged doorkeeper who drowsed in the alley which led to the stage entrance of the Warburton Theatre, just off Broadway near Times Square, and fifteen minutes later he was being received in the star's dressing-room by Serena Hart herself.

"You're working on poor Nita's murder?" she began without preamble, as she seated herself at her dressing table and indicated a decrepit chair for the detective. "I was wondering how much longer I could keep out of it. . . . Of course, you've been pumping that poor, foolish Gladys Earle. . . . Why girls who look like that are always called Gladys— God! I'm tired! We've been at it since 10 this morning, but thank the Lord we're through now for the day."

Dundee studied her with keen interest, and decided that, almost plain though she was, she was even more magnetic than when seen from the footlights. . . . Rather carelessly dressed, long brown hair rather tousled, her face very pale and haggard without the make-up which would give it radiance on Monday night, Serena Hart was yet one of the most attractive women Dundee had ever met — and one of the kindest, he felt suddenly sure. . . .

"When did I first meet Nita Leigh?" she repeated his question. "Let me think— Oh, yes! The first year after I went on the stage—1917. We were in the chorus together in 'Teasing Tilly'—a rotten show, by the way. The other girls of the chorus were awfully snooty to me, because I was that anathema, a 'society girl,' but Nita was a darling. She showed me the ropes, and we became quite intimate—around the theatre only, however, since my parents kept an awfully strict eye on me. The show was a great hit—ran on into 1918, till February or March, I believe."

"Then do you know, Miss Hart, whether Nita got married during the winter?" Dundee asked.

"Why, yes, she did!" Serena Hart answered, her brow clearing after a frown of concentration. "I can't remember exactly when, but it was before the show closed—certainly a few weeks before, because the poor child was a deserted bride days before the closing notice was posted."

"Deserted!" Dundee exclaimed. "Did you meet her husband, Miss Hart?"

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Tickle Stick

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily, feeling very sad, was hopping through the woods. The reason the kind, old rabbit gentleman was feeling sad was because two of his little bunny children in his hollow stump bungalow, had quarreled about an ear ribbon. They had pulled the cloth, dishes and all, off the breakfast table and there was a very sad time. Jingle and Jangle, the rabbit twins, were mostly to blame.

And when Uncle Wiggily heard the quarreling he just slid down the stair banister railing and hopped away to the woods without his breakfast. Oh, he was very sad! And then Jingle and Jangle stopped their quarrel and hopped on to recite their lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Stump School. But Uncle Wiggily was sadly hopping around in the woods.

Uncle Wiggily started with the stick.

"After school," Baby Bunty had said, "we will go to the woods and find Unkie Wig and tell him we're never going to be bad any more."

Now we must find out what happened to Mr. Longears.

At first, after reaching the woods, Uncle Wiggily just hopped around in a circle like playing Ring-Around-the-Rosie, only, you may be sure, the rabbit gentleman wasn't happy enough to play any games. He sat down on a log, after a while, and looked very unhappy.

"Dear me," thought Uncle Wiggily, "How can I make my little bunnies, especially Jingle and Jangle, stop quarreling and upsetting the table cloth? It makes me sad. I don't even want to have adventures when I think of what happened."

Just then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily heard a sort of adventure noise in the bushes behind him. Now if you have ever heard an adventure noise, even once, you will always know it when you hear it again.

But if you have never heard an adventure noise, there is not much use for me to tell you what it is like for, even if you heard it, you wouldn't know what it was. However, I will say that an adventure noise is something like patyswqatreycxabiliiski, though at times it may sound like mxzcsdteupotrewsaqyubgetkyu. And I have heard adventure noises that sounded like "WOOF!"

Anyhow, Uncle Wiggily heard an adventure sound in the bushes, and right away he said to himself:

"Well, I guess here comes the Bob Cat or some of the Bad Chaps." For many of the rabbit gentleman's adventures had to do with these Bad Chaps who so often chased him.

Uncle Wiggily got ready to run away, but, looking back at the bush, he saw coming out of it not the Bob Cat, the Wolf or the Fox, but a jolly old dog. And under his paw the dog carried a stick.

"Hello!" called Uncle Wiggily knowing he had nothing to fear from this dog. "What have you there under your paw?"

"A tickle stick," the dog barked, "is a stick for tickling little rabbit children that quarrel to make them stop quarreling and be happy."

"Do you mean I have to hit the rabbit children with that stick?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "I could never do that! Never!"

"No, and I wouldn't think of asking you to," went on the dog. "All you do is to point the tickle stick at the bunnies, or any other animals who are sad, unhappy or quarreling, and, all at once they feel so tickled that they laugh whether they want to or not. And of course, you know you can't quarrel if you laugh."

"Oh, yes, I know that," answered Mr. Longears. "Well," he went on with a sad little sign, "I wish I had a tickle stick to take home to my quarreling rabbit children. I don't know what to do about them."

"Ha! Ha! Ho! Ho! laughed Uncle Wiggily. "Oh, how tickled I feel!"

"Well, growled the dog, also with a jolly laugh, "I didn't point this stick at you to make you feel tickled, though that is always what happens. I want to give it to you."

"Give it to me?" cried Uncle Wiggily in surprise.

"Yes!" barked the kind dog, "I am going to give you this tickle stick to take home and try it on your quarreling rabbit children. See how it works."

"Thanks!" said Uncle Wiggily. "Thanks a lot! Now I feel better!" The dog went back behind the bush, and Uncle Wiggily started to hop to his hollow-stump bungalow with the tickle stick. And now we must see what happens next, as is often said in books. To-morrow night, if the breakfast orange will stop running under the gas stove to see if the little mouse has gone to sleep yet, the story will be about Uncle Wiggily and bad Baby Bunty.

Broadcast Headliners

An interesting variety of features will be heard from CFCT this evening from 6 o'clock onward. The first sixty minutes will bring the nightly "Sunset Hour" to the home of lovers of good music. The Slogan Contest will then follow, while an address on astronomy and "Black and Blue," two entertaining events, are scheduled for presentation over CFCT immediately following. At 7.15 o'clock tonight, Mr. W. E. Harper will present another of his interesting talks, which are given over the microphone of the local broadcaster on alternate Tuesday nights. Mr. Harper has chosen to address listeners on the subject of "Exploring the Upper Air." With the arrival of the half-hour, the many followers of "Black and Blue" should be on hand to enjoy another solid thirty minutes of laughter and music. These two comedians are regularly starred from CFCT, and their reputation as fun-makers and wise-crackers is rapidly spreading. CFCT's last programme for this evening will occupy the last hour, when a dance programme, in the form of a musical marathon will be broadcast.

CFCT is also on the air "all morning, every morning."

Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1931

Good and evil planetary aspects contend to-day, according to astrology. The wise will hold safe pursuits.

Much heated discussion of national problems is indicated under this sway, which makes for added interest in prohibition.

There is a fairly good sign for those who seek employment. The sway is supposed to stimulate big enterprises, especially those under government direction.

There is a sign presaging access of popularity for western governors and others in authority.

This should be a lucky day for signing contracts, especially those relating to stone or iron work.

Under this planetary government publishers certainly should profit, astrologers announce. Newspapers may expect large profits.

Changes in the characters of well-established periodicals is foretold. Newspapers will benefit greatly in the coming year, if the stars are rightly read.

Discussion of questions affecting the U.S. Navy is foretold, and the seers counsel wisdom in dealing with disarmament problems.

Again the seers who foretold another war in 1918 are calling attention to sinister aspects which should be regarded.

Astrologers seem to find in the skies evil omens that menace the peace of the world.

The later hours of this day should be fortunate for women. Men in business or in college probably will be exceedingly gallant and friendly.

Marriage engagements entered into at this time are subject to good planetary influences. Constancy is indicated.

The evening of this day is likely to be marked by dissensions in Congress as well as in the home circle.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year of vicissitudes. Friends may cause unexpected trouble and courtship may be disappointing.

Children born on this day probably will be fond of science and able to win success in that field. Many subjects of this sign are exceedingly romantic.

George Peabody, early philanthropist, was born on this day 1795.

Youthful Cad Who Would Marry One Girl and Use Her Money to Support Another — Can Two Spoiled Children Make a Go of Marriage? — Plump Girl's Chances

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young man twenty-three years old. There are two girls, both of whom I have reason to believe are in love with me and would marry me if I would propose to them. One of these girls is wealthy, but physically unattractive. The other is very beautiful, but, like myself, of only moderate means. Together they have all the things that I want in this world, but separately they are both lacking in the things that I consider necessary for true happiness. What I would like to know is this: Do you think, in view of the wide spread of the free love doctrine, that it would be right to marry the wealthy girl and keep the beautiful girl as a mistress? This would be acceptable to the good-looking girl as she believes, as I do, that in order to have true happiness nowadays you must have money. And I know that the girl with the money would not take action for divorce even if she found out about the other girl. This is the only solution that I can see for my trouble.

JERRY.

Answer—I suppose that going to work and getting the good things you crave by means of honest labor has not occurred to you. Yet it has been done, and is being done every day by men who went out and got the things they wanted themselves instead of grafting them off a woman.

The greatest fault that I have to find with the youth of to-day is that it wants the fatness of the earth, but it is not willing to earn it. It wants fine clothes and soft living and automobiles and good times, but it is not willing to work for them. It wants to get them some easy way instead of by the sweat of its brow.

That is why we have the temperamental sons and daughters who let their old mothers and fathers work and support them while they are trying to find an easy job with no work and big pay. That is why we have the gangsters and the racketeers. That is why we have girls who take what we euphemiously call "the easiest way" of getting chiffons and jewels. That is why we have the free-love unions of boys and girls who are not willing to pay the price of honest marriage.

It is only occasionally now that you see a poor boy who is laying the foundation of a fortune by hard work and attention to business and saving his pennies. Most boys are doing as little work as they can and spending their money on cars and night clubs and going in debt for luxuries they cannot afford. It is only rarely that you see a poor girl dress simply. Generally she is an understudy to Miss Millionbucks.

How these youngsters think they are going to get by and be prosperous citizens twenty or thirty years hence, nobody knows. For it is axiomatic that fortunes are made by work and thrift, and that if you spend and loaf while you are young you will be poor and needy when you are old.

Perhaps many other boys think as you do, that the easiest way to get a fortune is to marry it, but, alas, heiresses do not grow on every tree, nor are they to be had for the asking. Also, in the end there is no money that a man earns by such hard labor as that he marries for. For the woman with money has generally been taught by her astute father to keep a tight grip on her pocketbook, and it takes labor and finesse for her husband to jimmy his way into it.

Of course, a rich wife's money will buy you many of the things you desire, but there is one thing it will not get you and that is your self-respect. Always you will know yourself as that most contemptible of human beings—an able-bodied man who lives upon a woman. Believe me, Jerry, the man who sells himself to a woman he doesn't love for money makes a poor bargain.

As for your scheme to marry this loving, trusting, rich girl, and for you and the girl you love to live upon her money, that is absolutely the most dastardly and caddish proposition that I have ever heard of in all my life. To marry a woman for the sole purpose of using her money to support your lady love in luxury is the limit of human callousness, except that the girl goes it one better by being willing to accede to such a plan. You must both have a yellow streak in you a yard wide.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—My wife has gone home to her mother. We have been married about two and a half years and this is our third separation. We started out to scrapping about a week after the honeymoon was over and have continued off and on ever since. In the note my wife left behind when she moved she said that I had starved her affection. I believe the opposite is true. She has never shown much affection herself; she has been cold and indifferent. She has been working downtown and when she would come home after dinner she would bury her face in a book, or practice on the piano and pay no attention to me.

As I said, she has gone back to her mother and I am led to believe that the love for her mother is stronger than the love she holds for me, and I have about decided to have my parents come and live with me. Do you think for each of us to return to our parents would be the best solution of our marital difficulties?

JIMMY.

Answer—I certainly do if you intend to continue acting like two spoiled babies instead of an intelligent, grown-up man and woman. If you are going to get mad and cry and pout and run back home every time anything goes wrong, you need mother patience and adoration, and mother lack of justice and common sense, to overlook your faults. You can't expect a husband or a wife to do it.

What's the matter with you and your wife, Jimmy, is that you have never thought of marriage as a job? Something that you had undertaken and that you had to see through. Something that you had to put your heart and your back into if you were to make a go of it, and so you have never really tried to make a success of it.

Take your quarreling, for instance. You can stop that if you want to. I'll venture to say that you get along all right with your employers and your fellow workers and that the consensus of opinion among all your friends and acquaintances is that you are nice, amiable, easy-going people.

You don't feel called on to criticize other women and tell them that they haven't any taste in dress, and their new hats make them look as bald-headed as an eagle, and that they are bum cooks. Neither do you start an argument over every little trivial difference of opinion with other people. You may disagree with them, but you let it ride, and so there is no hot argument nor bitter words. It is only with your wife that you go to the mat over every subject, from politics to pie.

And it is just the same way with your wife. She doesn't correct the grammar and the pronunciation of other men and tell them that they are the world's worst pickers of neckties and that she has heard their stories a thousand times, etc. She saves those nice little wifely jabs for you.

Now why, in the name of heaven, can't a man and a woman, whose whole chance of happiness in life consists in getting along together, use as much forbearance and tact and jollying on each other as they do on strangers? They can if they want to.

Maybe you don't take much trouble to entertain your wife of an evening and that is why she has to take refuge in a book or at the piano. Hand her the line of conversation you used to when you were courting her and see if that won't make her sit up and ask for more. And she should have enough intelligence to know that husbands are like babies, they have to be noticed, and chucked under the chin and gooed over and told how wonderful they are, or else they are mighty apt to crawl away to some lady who is a husband-petter.

So my advice to you, Jimmy, is to go to see friend wife, and find out if she is willing to come back and make a real honest-to-goodness try at making marriage a success. If she isn't, and if she still intends to pack up her doll rags and go back to mother every time she gets peeved she had better stay there.

DOROTHY DIX.

* * * * * * *

DEAR MISS DIX—What chance has a girl in this day and age if she hasn't a schoolgirl figure? I am seventeen and plump. I try to diet, but if you have ever tried it, your know, how hard it is to do. Do you think I'll ever have a date, or get a husband if I don't get thin? I am very discouraged and blue.

MABEL.

Answer—Take heart, Mabel. According to the latest fashion advices from Paris curves are coming in again and the plump girl is going to be a knockout and have it all over the living skeleton. Anyway, I don't think men ever dared much for the rack of bones. They like a girl who is a good armful.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Soul" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday.

One of the scriptural texts contained in the lesson-sermon was "O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of His praise be heard: Which holdeth our soul in life and suffereth not our feet to be moved" (Psalms lxvi 8, 9).

Following the reading of the Bible texts, passages were also read from "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, one passage being the following: "Soul, or spirit, is God, unchangeable and eternal; and man co-exists with and reflects Soul, God, for man is God's image."

BUSINESS IS ON UP-TREND

So Says C. F. Earle on Return to Victoria From C.N.R. Meeting in Montreal

"Business conditions in Montreal and other centres of the east, while they have been slack all winter, are on the up-trend and before long will be almost back to normal," said C. F. Earle, general agent at Victoria for the Canadian National Railways, who returned to Victoria yesterday afternoon from Montreal, where he attended the annual meeting of C.N.R. passenger and freight agents.

"Business is improving all the time and travel is being well maintained for this time of the year," Mr. Earle said. "However, conditions for the coming tourist season are good and we look for a good movement of people from the east to the Pacific Coast."

The meetings which Mr. Earle attended were held in the Windsor Hotel at Montreal and were attended by the board of directors of the railway, Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways in the federal government, and Sir Henry Thornton, president of the line. A good deal of business was gone through, Mr. Earle said, and the delegates also found time to enjoy the winter sports on Mount Royal which were then in full progress.

All across the continent Mr. Earle found weather conditions unusual. Nowhere was it really cold, he said and at Biggar, in Saskatchewan, the passengers on the train were startled to see a couple playing tennis in bright sunny weather.

Mrs. Earle accompanied her husband to the east and returned with him yesterday.

H. A. Stuart, division freight agent for the Canadian National Railways at Victoria, also attended the meeting but returned last week after a flying visit, remaining only in Montreal for the actual business sessions of the convention.

Tour Party Will Visit B.C. Coast

A tour party from the University of Montreal will visit Victoria during this summer in the course of a tour of Canada, it was learned here to-day. This year the tour will include a trip to Alaska and the Yukon. The party, under the leadership of Augistin Frigon, director of technical education for the Province of Quebec and director of the Polytechnical Institute of the University of Montreal, will leave Montreal July 8 and will return July 30.

This will be the sixth tour party from the University of Montreal to come to Western Canada, and it will be the longest of any yet undertaken. A special Canadian Pacific train will be placed at the disposal of the party from Montreal to Vancouver and return. The party will come to Victoria on a steamer of the B.C. Coast Service and will travel to Alaska on the Princess Louise. From Skagway the party will travel inland to the interior of Alaska and the Yukon over White Pass and Yukon lines. Calls on this trip will also be made at Prince Rupert, Ketchikan, Juneau and Wrangell.

Return east will be commenced from Vancouver and the party will cross the Great Lakes from Fort William to Port Nicholl. En route through the Rockies the party will visit at Banff and Lake Louise.

Empress of Japan and President Taft Expected in Morning From Across Pacific

Shidzuoka Maru Will Arrive Saturday and President Pierce Will Sail to Orient

On Friday two of the largest liners in the North Pacific run will call here inbound from the Orient. So far no word has been received from the captains of the ships regarding the exact times of arrival here, but it is expected they will both be along in the morning. The ships are the Empress of Japan of the Canadian Pacific fleet, and the President Taft of the American Mail line.

It is hoped to get the Empress of Japan in first so that she may clear for Vancouver before the President Taft docks. The Taft will remain here until 2 o'clock in the afternoon before proceeding to Seattle. For this port the Taft has about 200 tons of general cargo, and a few passengers. The Japan has only a small list this voyage, there being forty-two passengers in the first class, twenty-two in second class, eighteen in third and 116 in steerage. Several passengers will leave the ship here.

On Saturday next a Japanese liner is due from the Orient, the Shidzuoka Maru of the N.Y.K. fleet, which will probably be along first thing in the morning. The Shidzuoka Maru will go to the Ogden Point piers and before proceeding to Seattle will leave passengers and cargo here. That afternoon the American Mail liner President Pierce will be here for two hours outbound to ports in Japan, China and the Philippine Islands.

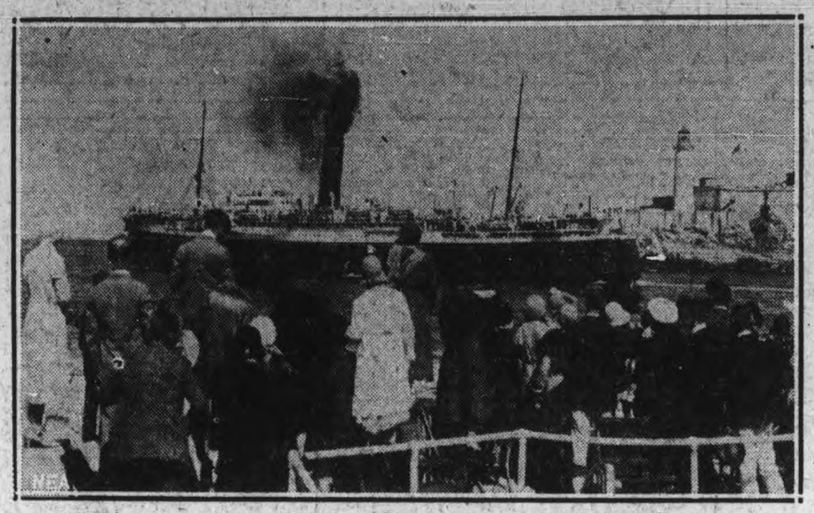
Bound for Victoria and Vancouver, the Canadian-Australasian motorliner Aorangi is now en route from Suva and Honolulu. She is coming from Sydney and Auckland. She will arrive at Honolulu Friday morning and will sail that evening for Victoria, being scheduled to arrive here Friday, February 27, although it is probable she will dock on Thursday afternoon. The liner Niagara, also in this route, is now en route from Honolulu to Suva, southbound from Victoria to Australia.

Strong Gale Did Not Delay Dorothy

The fierce gale which was blowing over Victoria yesterday evening did not delay the arrival here of the liner Dorothy Alexander from California ports and she docked on schedule time at 10 o'clock. Her docking was necessarily a little slower than usual, however, owing to the strong wind. She left for Seattle at midnight and backed out from Rithet piers into the teeth of one of the worst gales of the year.

Among the passengers aboard the Dorothy who disembarked here were: Mrs. E. A. Freeman, Miss Annie Henley, Miss Marion Henley, Miss W. Henley, J. T. Kay, I. V. Kniffen, Mrs. A. Kreger, George Lamb, Mrs. N. Pellam, Miss Ruth Parberry, Mrs. P. Playwright, Mrs. J. Ryan, Clark Woodside, W. Wright and F. M. Winterbottom.

PASSING FAR-FAMED MORRO CASTLE AT HAVANA



All that the residents of Havana saw of the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, was a view of their ship, the Oropesa, as she passed out of Havana recently on its way from Spain to South America. The ship was anchored in the harbor for several hours but the royal brothers did not disembark. The above picture shows the Oropesa steaming past famous Morro Castle, which guards the entrance to the harbor, as scores of people line the plaza.

DUTCH HARBOR TO GET WHARF

Important Port on Way From Victoria to Orient to Have $100,000 Dock

Seattle, Feb. 17.—Plans for the construction of a $100,000 wharf at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, one of the important way stations in the routes from Victoria and Seattle to Bering Sea and the Orient, have been completed, it was learned to-day. The steamship El Cedro has been chartered from James Griffiths and Sons and will begin loading materials for the new wharf about March 15.

Her cargo will include creosoted piling, lumber, oil, coal and other freight. The new wharf will be 360 feet long. The contract for its construction has been let to P. Manson and Son of Seattle.

The station of the Alaska Commercial Company at Dutch Harbor was established in 1868. It assembles supplies for the coastguard, for traders and for merchant ships. It has tanks for oil with a capacity of 60,000 barrels and space for 7,000 tons of coal.

The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

SHARK BEATEN OFF BY SWIMMER

Brisbane, Australia, Feb. 17.—Stanley Roser, an eighteen-year-old youth, beat off a shark which attacked him while he was swimming to-day. A man-eater bowled him over in the water with a furious rush, but in his struggle to escape Roser jammed a thumb in the shark's eye and it beat a retreat. Roser walked to a hospital, where doctors treated his wounds.

Two Japanese Teachers Tour Pacific Coast

After a voyage across the Pacific and a tour of the Pacific Coast as guests of the Osaka Shosen Kaisha, two Tokio school teachers, Miss Y. Takita and Miss Y. Tamura, will sail from Seattle for Japan February 28 aboard the steamship Africa Maru. They arrived January 23 in Vancouver on the Manila Maru and have visited Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles and the Yosemite Valley.

For several years the O.S.K. has been inviting teachers from the northwest to make trips to Japan and Japanese teachers to visit the United States, in an effort to promote a better understanding between the two countries. Five teachers from Seattle and five from Tacoma have visited the Nippon empire as guests of the O.S.K. Next year teachers from Osaka and Kobe will come to Seattle. One teacher from Seattle and one from Portland will make the trip to Japan this year.

TWO SHIPS TO BE ADDED TO LIBERA ROUTE

Liners Duchess D'Aosta and Timavo Will Shortly Enter Pacific Coast-Europe Run

The growing popularity of travel between the Pacific Coast and the Mediterranean is evident in the announcement by the Libera Line that two more new vessels of ultra-modern style will be added to this trade within the next month.

Several weeks ago, the California, with luxurious accommodation for 180 passengers, entered the service as the largest and finest liner regularly engaged from the Pacific Coast direct to Europe. The enthusiasm with which this vessel was received, has now encouraged the line to add the redesigned fourteen-knot steamers Duchessa D'Aosta and Timavo, which will carry fifty-nine passengers each, and will be operated in conjunction with the California. The popular motorships Feltre, Fella, Cellina and Rialto will also continue in operation, making a total of seven ships on the run.

Illustrations received from Europe reveal that the Duchessa D'Aosto and Timavo have been thoroughly rebuilt to meet the luxurious standards introduced by the California. The interior decorations of these three steamers are unique in every respect, and represents a departure from the conventional design followed in the average vessel. The Duchessa D'Aosta is scheduled to make her first appearance on the Pacific Coast next month, while the Timavo is due to arrive in May. The California will make her second visit in April.

The steamers will sail via Libertad, Panama Canal, for Gibraltar, Marseilles, Genoa, Leghorn and Naples. In addition to these ports the motorships include Venice and Trieste. All vessels in the fleet are equipped with large refrigerator space.

These additions will enable the line to offer twenty-one sailings from the Pacific Coast ports direct to the Mediterranean during the present year, according to schedule issued by the Empire Shipping Company Limited, British Columbia agents. The represents an increase of fifty per cent over 1930.

PLANES HAD ROUGH TRIP TO VICTORIA

Machines Forced Down Several Times on Mainland and in Crossing Gulf

Forced to battle with the elements up in the clouds on Sunday afternoon and yesterday morning a quartette of fliers had a hard time on the way over from Vancouver. Three planes left Vancouver but only two arrived here, the other being forced to return to Vancouver. The two planes were this morning at the Lansdowne airfield and the pilots hoped to get away this afternoon on the return to the mainland.

The three planes left Vancouver about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon with Victoria as the objective. In one of the planes was A. H. Wilson and his wife, and in the other which arrived here were W. McKinnon and Gordon McKenzie. Shortly after leaving Vancouver the planes ran into hail and wind and kept to the coast line, intending to go as far south as Blaine and then cross over to Vancouver Island. The weather became so bad, however, and the hail and wind so strong that the planes were brought down not far from Blaine. Customs officers were found and permission was given to spend the night at Blaine.

Yesterday morning the planes started out again for Victoria and ran into rough weather over the Gulf. One of them turned back to the mainland and according to word received here is now in Bellingham for minor repairs. Crossing the Gulf yesterday morning the plane carrying McKinnon and McKenzie was forced down at Roche Harbor on Orcas Island. It took off after a short stay there, however, and landed here yesterday afternoon.

SAN FRANCISCO SHIPPING

San Francisco, Feb. 17.—C. A. Ward, chief naval architect for Gibbs and Cox of New York and designer of the four new liners which the Panama Mail expects to put into commission between San Francisco and New York, arrived here yesterday for a conference with Edward T. Ford, president, and C. C. Mallory, general manager of the line.

Ward said the keel of the first liner will be laid early in July.

The four liners will represent an expenditure of $19,000,000. They will be twin screw vessels with nineteen knots speed and each will have accommodations for 200 first-class passengers.

SEATTLE SHIPPING

Seattle, Feb. 17.—Importance of travel and cargo to Europe is indicated by the new movement between the Pacific Coast schedule of the Libera Line for 1931, made public yesterday, which shows an increase of fifty per cent in sailings, compared with last year. Additional tonnage will enable the Libera Line to offer twenty-one sailings from Pacific Coast ports direct to the Mediterranean this year, representatives of the General Steamship Corporation, agent for the service said. Seven Libera ships are in the service.
